Frosh Activities Well-Planned

"First We Play, Then We Study"

Freshmen and other new student were initiated into the social life of our campus during the first week of school when the organizations on the Hill gave them a deep breath of Elizabethtown "atmosphere".

And Elizabethtown atmosphere in accordance with the purpose of the College as stated by its founders, has four phases—the spiritual, the social, the mental, and the physical.

To begin with, there was an informal get-acquainted social in the gym. On the following evening the students hiked the longest way to meadow near the Masonic Homes where they enjoyed an outdoor supper, a scavenger hunt followed, and the shortest way was chosen as the road home.

On Wednesday evening a Galilee Vesper Service down by the lake was conducted by Dr. H. K. Ober. Later there was a doggie roast and program in charge of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

With no more than the usual number of mishaps the student suffered another attack of roller skating at Mt. Gretna.

The Freshmen were introduced to club life on Friday night, when the various organizations, each in its distinctive way, showed their purposes and functions. Dr. Breidenstine, director of student activities presided.

Many Students Find Summer Employment

Several Ministerium Students Serve Summer Pastorates

Students of Elizabethtown College have been actively engaged in the performance of social and religious obligations in various communities during the past summer's vacation. A cursory glance at the activities of a number of the students evidences the desire of the students to be of service. Activities ranged from farm-work to camp and even summer pastorate work.

Miss Margaret Miller furthered her education at Duke University for six weeks. David Raffensberger and Roy Rudisill attended the summer session at Elizabethtown College.

Baseball held the attention of a few of our future big-leaguers. Roy Rudisill pitched successfully for the All-Lancaster nine. Harold Saylor played effectively for Conrads of York County Twilight League, and Rue Seagrist supported his home-town team, Halifax, by his efficient play.

Camps held the spotlight for a few of the students. Miss Margaret Miller enjoyed a few days work at Camp Kanestake, and M. Richard Shaull found enjoyment in active peace campaigning in New York State.

James Beahm, Charles Booz, an James Kiefer spent part of their summer's vacation in the demonstration of their ability as salesmen by selling aluminum ware.

Others found pastoral work an active religious service profitable. Elmer Q. Gleim served as summer pastor for eleven weeks in the Long Green Valley Church of the Brethren, in Maryland. Paul Hoffman spoke in prayer meetings and preached occasionally in the Christ Evangelical Church of York. Robert Adams and George Harting were busily engaged in their pastoral work in the Evangelical congregations.

President Schlosser Attends Inauguration

Elizabethtown College was among the 150 educational institutions and learned societies that were represented in Allentown, Pa., Oct. 1 and 2 for the academic program marking the inauguration of Dr. Levering Tyson as the fifth president of the college.

President R. W. Schlosser was the official representative of the college.

The inauguration centered about the contributions of the liberal arts college to American education and included a symposium at which professional leaders pointed to the things their callings expect of the smaller colleges.

Renovations

Due primarily to the efforts of President R. W. Schlosser and Professor J. Z. Herr, returning student were pleasantly surprised to find the long-promised campus renovations an actuality.

The men's dormitory has been completely equipped with new furniture, beds and walls, and the installation of two new shower-rooms. Memorial Hall and Alpha Hall have been equipped with shower rooms and new floors.

"She Stoops To Conquer"

Miller - Linton, Leads

October 22nd Selected As A Tentative Date For Senior Production

Miss Kate Harcastle, a daughter of an old English family, is admirably played by Mildred Miller. She and her cousins, Miss Neville, Grace Ernst, venture through the whirl of affairs finally to emerge as heroine in their respective plots.

It is well seasoned by the antic of Tony Lumpkin, "Jimmie" Beahr. He leads Marlow and Hastings into believing that the Harcastle home is a public inn and thus sets in stage for the lovers.

Sir Charles Marlow is the exact picture of an old English gentleman. The minor parts are excellently played.

Sir Charles Marlowe — William Scheaffer
Young Marlowe — James Linton
Harcastle — Paul Hoffman
Hastings — Luke Sauder
Tony Lumpkin — James Beahm
Mrs. Harcastle — Helen Myers
Miss Harcastle — Mildred Miller
Miss Neville — Grace Ernst

The managers are as follows:

Stage — Carl G. Herr
Costume — Mary Jane Williams
Property — Mary Ellen Stehman
Business — Richard Shaull

Changes In Office Personnel

Miss Leona Reinhold, 334 West High Street, Elizabethtown, has succeeded Mrs. L. F. Pfautz as head bookkeeper in the office of the treasurer.

Mrs. Pfautz is retiring after a period of fifteen years of service. Miss Reinhold is a former E-town student, and was employed for several years with the State Workmen's Insurance Fund at Harrisburg.

Miss Dorothy Metzler has also succeeded Miss Lois Brehm as secretary to the treasurer.

James Beahm Heads Student Association

More Extensive Social Program Planned By Senate

By James Beahm

From indications so far, it appears that we are to have another auspicious year. This year's Freshman Class seems to be "one of the best" that has ever entered E-town College. I have said "one of the best," because I did not choose to incriminate any other. Would you call that diplomacy?

But I was asked to make a statement, rather than to expound at length on the virtues of our verdant new comers. To me, the problem of the Senate is not one of government, primarily, (we leave that up to the Student Council) but rather ours is a social problem.

This year we are going to make an attempt at carrying out a more extensive social program, in co-operation with other organizations which we hope will make life on the campus "more abundant". We want each student to feel that he has part in the work of the Senate hereafter, we appreciate constructive criticism. We need your co-operation.

Linton Heads Senate

At the first meeting of the Student Senate, the following officers were elected: President, James Linton; Secretary, Esther Brandt, and Treasurer, Sam Jones.

Faculty Adds Six Members

Comm. Dept. Added

New Personalities From Distant Places Feature Faculty Staff

North, south, east and mid-west are represented by the six new faculty members on the Hill. The rich experiences of these personalities blending with the faculty group promises a colorful campus life.

Doctor Weller

Doctor Forrest Weller of the Sociology Department brings firsthand experience of Chicago life, after having worked as Research Assistant in the Department of Sociology at the University of Chicago from 1934 to 1937. He carried on studies of religious life in Chicago and studies of urban religious trends in America. For the same period Doctor Weller was Assistant Professor of Sociology at Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago.

In the line of educational attainments Doctor Weller received his A. B. degree, majoring in history and education, from Manchester College, North Manchester, Indiana, 1925; gained his A. M. degree in 1927 with "The Social Development of the Church of the Brethren"; and completed his residence requirement for his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago between 1932-34.

Before going to Chicago Doctor Weller was for four years Professor of Sociology and History at Mt. Morris College, Mt. Morris, Illinois.

Dr. Breidenstine

Dr. Aaron G. Breidenstine, Professor of Secondary Education, began teaching Science and Mathematics in the East Lampeter Township High School in 1927, the year he was graduated from Elizabethtown College. From 1929 until 1937 Dr. Breidenstine was principal at the same school.

Dr. Breidenstine received his Master's degree in Education in 1934 and his Doctor's degree in Education in 1936 from Temple University. His thesis: "The Educational Achievement of Pupils in Differentiated and Undifferentiated Groups" was published in the Journal of Experimental Education in September, 1936. Phi Delta Kappa of which Dr. Breidenstine is a member, awarded him a gold medal for this thesis.

Dr. Hill

Dr. Donald M. Hill, Professor of Mathematics and Physics received from Juniata College in 1929 the Bachelor of Science degree and from Rutgers University in 1935 the Doctor of Philosophy degree. At Rutgers he was Graduate Assistant of Physics. Before coming to Elizabethtown, he was Assistant Professor of Mathematics and Physics at Scranton-Keystone College. He did research on the physical properties of single crystals of mercury. He is a member of American Physical (See FACULTY, Page Two)

Editorial

To some of these '41'ers, this "coming to kollitch" is a new experience. To some, it is such an exhilarating experience that they feel like shouting "Mother, today I am a man!"

This benevolently-inclined scribe, feeling that the greenish cast of these "men" may get the best of them, offers some sage advice, which as is the way with all advice, most certainly will not be heeded. (We hope)

First or all, Don't observe any Freshman regulations. The Student Council is a friendly, peace-loving organization, having for its prime purpose the chastising of upperclassmen.

*****

Never make any condescensions to upper-classmen. Force them off the sidewalk at all times (just for the fun of it). And don't forget to precede them in and out of the dining room and class rooms. And above all, at the first opportunity slam a door in the face of a female faculty member. The expression on her face will be something to write home about.

*****

Don't bother carrying a handbook with you. No one else ever did it, so why should you?

*****

Don't waste the time or take the trouble to learn the Alma Mater. No one else knows it either.

*****

Don't sit at the foot of the table in the dining hall, if you can help it. After all, we're so glad to have you we'd be pleased of the opportunity to serve.

*****

Don't attend any Pep meetings. Why should you support any of the teams. After all, you hardly know them.

*****

Don't observe quiet hours on the dormitory. Too much studying is no good for the upper classmen. Do a noble deed and save them from themselves.

*****

*****

And, last of all, don't bother to study, yourself. You came to college to "get away from it all" . . . and besides, anyone who is suspected of trying to pass a course is ostracized and evicted.

*****

If you sincerely and earnestly try to follow the above suggestions, there is nothing in the world to prevent you from making a shining success of your college career.

*****

P. S. If you DON'T get along in college, don't say you weren't warned.

THESE WEEK ENDS

"Every week-end away from school means the loss of a link in school life."

At least that's what is stated in the Handbook. But any upper classmen can tell you that in the past it has been true on occasions only too rare. Some committee is usually assigned the task of arranging an adequate social program, but after a few months nobody knows the whereabouts of either the program or the committee.

This year the Student Senate is aiming to offer a varied calendar of events designed to help keep the students on the campus for the week end. The Senate's program must make its appeal stronger than that of outside attractions, but this is not impossible.

Let's not only work together in our classes, let's play and enjoy ourselves together when school is out.

Pencil Practice

You who think you have nothing to write on, did you ever think of writing on a piece of paper? It has infinite possibilities. There it lies, white and blank before you, awaiting the golden thoughts from the treasury of your mind. Fear not to share your hoard for that is the only way to receive interest on it. Many valuable gems of truth or poetry go to waste because you lack the energy to express it. What if your sentences are stilted, your opinions immature? Without practice they will always remain so. Bring your ideas out to the light and air, and if they are diseased, there is no better cure for them than criticism. Letting them fester within you only will aggravate the sore. Do not become discouraged if other people disagree with you. You have a right to your opinion nevertheless. If you are wrong, so much the better. Then you will learn. The man who is always right cannot be much of anything else. But trial and error, that's the way we grow. If we hesitate to launch forth from the harbor because the boat might spring a leak, we shall never become seasick, no, and neither shall we catch any fish.

*****

Do not be afraid to study. Few people ever hurt themselves by too close attention to their business or learning. But a well balanced education also has a physical side. "Endeavor to get daily outdoor exercise." One cannot imagine a mind without a body, but it is far worse to have a body without a mind. Above all, remain, or become, human. No one worldly pursuit is worthy of more than fifty per cent of your waking hours. Cultivate the noble art of being gracefully at ease.

FACULTY NOTES

On October 10, Dean Baugher will deliver several addresses in the First Church of the Brethren, York

Dr. Breidenstine Delivers Address At Convocation

Pres. Schlosser Welcomes Students

Contrary to previous custom the Annual Convocation Exercises were held this morning, September 16 instead of in the evening, as has been customary in the past.

Dr. Breidenstine delivered the principal address, speaking on the classification of students. He divided all college students into three general classes: the seekers after truth, the pure scientists; those who try to dissuade others—the iconoclasts; and the third group those who do try to overcome their environment.

Dr. Ralph W. Schlosser gave the official greeting to incoming students, old and new.

In his address President Schlosser outlined briefly the advantages of the small Christian college, comparing the university and the college.

TO ETOWNERS:

From time to time appeals are made to the alumni of all institutions.

There is nothing unusual about this letter. We are continuing the custom.

We feel that Etowners would like to keep in touch with their Alma Mater. The best way to do this is through the school newspaper. Have you ever felt that you would like to know how Elizabethtown College is progressing? What your classmates are doing. You can know this by reading the school newspaper.

We want you to subscribe to the Etownian for the coming school year. We need you. The present staff, as is usual with all staffs, intend to make the Etownian a bigger and better newspaper, if possible. You can help us. Simply fill out the blank at the bottom of this letter and attach $1.00 (Check or Money Order preferred.) Send money and subscription order to the Etownian and you will receive the Etownian regularly.

Thank you,

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

Within a very few days the sports populace of the country will be treated to one of the outstanding double features of the year—the World Series, featuring the two championship teams of big league baseball. . . . Either from his seat in the bleachers or from the side of his radio set, Johnny Phan is sure to be right in there rooting for his favorite to win a large-size cut of series swag. . . . New York's fence-damaging Yankees are all set on the American League side, but the Giants and the Cubs are brawling right down the stretch in the older loop, with their long home stay making the Grimm-Reapers our choice to cop the bunting.

Before the echoes of the Yankee bats have died out, good old Joe College will be getting out his racoon coat and tuning up his Rah! Rah! baritone to inaugurate the Pigskin Parade of 1937. . . . For weeks the coaches, both college and professional, have been putting their grid-iron thoroughbreds through their paces, and Football is looking forward to another boom season. . . . A prevue of the coming season was shown in the number of All-Star games between the amateurs and the money-boys, in which two doubtful questions were erased from many minds—(1) a well-organized and well-trained college All-Star team can trim even the most highly touted of professional outfits, and they don't need All-Americans, even though they may be named Kelley or Myers, to do it, either; (2) the boys seem to have no trouble doing their stuff in September, which confounds all this chatter about football being strictly a cold weather game.

Back to baseball, and it's locally this time, with a word about that fellow Roy Rudisill, who pitched himself into quite an enviable record at Lancaster this year. . . . Tossing for the All-Lancaster nine, Rudy at present writing had compiled nine victories against two defeats, one of which was in a fourteen inning game, and the latest a three-hit trick over the fast traveling Philadelphia Stars. . . . What with Rudy still in the fold, and Tam Baugher returning to strengthen the outfield, a highly profitable season can be anticipated . . . once it rolls around.

Here's a tip for the boys who like to pick their football winners—Pitt to go through the season undefeated, and to take their Rose Bowl rivals by two touchdowns. . . . And for tennis—Don Budge to turn from the ranks of the simon pure before long, and cash in on all that greatest player publicity. . . . As for track, Jesse Owens will have to look out for his laurels after young Barney Ewell graduates at Lancaster this winter. . . . Any university would welcome Barney, who has already approached some of the fastest times of Owens and other top-notchers.

Juniors Trounce Soph - Senior Combine

Undefeated for two years, the Juniors captured the initial inter-class diamond match from a strong combination of Sophs and Seniors. "Chick" Baugher, pitching on the losing end, held the Juniors hitless until Gleim hit a long triple in the sixth inning. Not having sufficient support Baugher was forced to yield the game.

Neither teams being very efficient in the art of ball playing proved to make the game close and interesting. The Juniors, not in usual form, couldn't seem to hit the ball often enough or hard enough, but taking advantage of a few chances they managed to emerge the victor. Pitcher Gleim found himself in several pinches but managed to keep the opponents score to one run earned by "Herb" Lefever's hit to right field, scoring "Red" Meyer. Gleim, although having comparatively poor support, pitched well and succeeded in striking out ten Combiners, and allowing only four hits.

Baseball enthusiasts find the season fast fading and are eager to play as many games as possible.

Juniors Annex Baseball Series

Take Championship For Three Consecutive Years

Wednesday, Sept. 29.—The annual Intra-Mural baseball season came to a close with the Junior team emerging the victor. Undefeated for the two previous years, the strong Junior team controlled the field from the beginning to the end of this year's season, seizing four exciting frays.

Running second in line is the strong combination of Sophomores and Seniors which gave the Juniors the most trouble. Excellent weather each afternoon gave an increasing interest to the popular sport. Six interesting ball games were played during the week.

As they stand at the close of the season:

	Won	Lost	P.C.
Juniors	4	0	1.000
Sophs. & Seniors	2	2	.500
Freshmen	0	4	.000

Playing heads-up ball, the Juniors never left up in their stride and gained the honor of being undefeated for three years of intramural ball. The yearlings showed very limited prospects for the future squad. Having very little experience and unity they fell in defeat with no wins. The strong Combiners did not have sufficient strength to overtake the Juniors in two hard-fought battles.

Each game had its own thrilling parts and the players had their good and bad moments. The fastest and most interesting game of the series was the game which gave the Combiners the opportunity to tie the Juniors for first place. On Wednesday, an excellent baseball day, all the enthusiasts gathered to participate in or witness the championship game. "Flash" Rudisill, not having any previous workout for his team, stepped on the mound to open the game for the Juniors with Saylor on the receiving end. Dale Smith, a transfer student from Catawba who held the Frosh hitless, took control for the Combiners.

The contender did not give Rudy any trouble and only secured two clean safeties, with Espenshade hitting both. "Dudy" had an easy time of it, and had good support. The contender's chances for a score in the third inning were cut short by a snappy double play from Jones to Baugher to Gleim. Their only run was secured by Lefever in the fifth when "Giggie" Espenshade clouted one of his timely doubles.

Siberian Singers To Appear Here Oct. 26

On October 26, Professor E. G. Meyer announced, the Siberian Singers, nationally-known Russian Men's Chorus will make their second appearance on the Elizabethtown campus.

Dale Smith, although a bit wild kept his head and manged to gain nine strike outs. With several errors on the part of his teammates, and six clean hits on the part of the Juniors, the Juniors built up their score to five runs.

With the season ended for this fall the bats, balls, and gloves will be put away until spring practise starts, when arms and hands will again be sore.

Baseball Outlook Promising For Next Spring

Three Varsity Players Absent. Prospects of Good Material Bright.

Although the 1937 baseball season is not yet over, talk already abounds on the Hill as to the diamond outlook for next spring.

Last year's edition of the Galloping Ghosts enjoyed one of the best seasons in the history of the school, losing only one game in a schedule of ten. Only three of the 1936 regulars are absent from the campus this year, so that Coach Herr will have plenty of seasoned veterans on hand. Captain Shelly Miller, first baseman, and outfielders Bud Weaver and Garth Gochnauer are the missing members, and there will be numerous candidates ready to qualify for their posts.

In the few fall games which have been held at Elizabethtown to date, about half a dozen of the incoming boys have shown up well, although they will all need more seasoning in the various departments of the game before they can hope to fill the shoes of the veterans. Among the new prospects are: Dale Smith, Sophomore infielder; Stan Disney, right-handed hurler from Elizabethtown; Curtis Day, southpaw flinger; Emery Stauffer, second baseman; Ross Coulson, outfielder; and Chas. "Dixie" Walker, peppery catcher.

The veteran fly-chaser Tam Baugher, has also returned to school this term, and may prove a big help in strengthening the outer garden. Roy Rudisill will profit from his pitching experience of the past summer, and the rest of the vets are back and already showing form a-field.

Debaters Select Question

Professor Saylor and Carl Herr Attend Meeting of Debate
Asso. of Penna. Colleges

The annual meeting of the Debating Association of Pennsylvania Colleges, to which Elizabethtown College has been recently admitted, was held at the Penn Harris Hotel in Harrisburg, Saturday, October 3.

The college representatives were Professor Guy R. Saylor, Advisor; and Carl G. Herr, Student Manager of Debate.

The question selected for the colleges of Pennsylvania to debate during the coming year is:

"Resolved: That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes."

Other questions that were considered, and which are likely to be debated during the coming debating season are:

1. "Resolved: That Secretary Hull's policy of reciprocal trade agreements should be extended to include the principal nations of the world."
2. "Resolved: That the Pennsylvania Legislature should be empowered to levy a graduated income tax."
3. "Resolved: That heart balm suits involving a monetary consideration should be outlawed by the Courts of Pennsylvania."

Approximately sixty-five representatives from twenty-two colleges were present at the meeting. The new officers of the Association, elected at the meeting are: Professor Burrowes, Grove City College—president; Professor Guy R. Saylor, Elizabethtown College—Vice President; Professor Mays, Juniata College—Secretary-treasurer.

Etonian To Be Lithographed

New Offset Method To Be Used In Printing of '38-'39 Etonian

Roy Pfaltzgraff, Business Manager of the Junior-Senior Etonian, in a special interview, stated that a new method of printing will be used in the producing of this year's Etonian, in an effort to cut the prohibitive costs of engraving.

Offset lithography will replace the old method of letter press printing from engravings in an effort to cut costs and yet maintain a high standard of quality.

Mr. Pfaltzgraff also stated that the photographing of students will be begun the forepart of next week. Bishop's Studio, Elizabethtown, has been awarded the photography contract. As yet the printing contract has not been let.

Siberian Singers

Singers 1st Lyceum Attraction

Nationally-Known Russian
lege Auditorium Tuesday

On the evening of October 26, Elizabethtown College will have the honor of having on its campus the internationally famous male vocal ensemble, the Siberian Singers. These ten remarkable Russians will open the college's current Lyceum Course with a concert of Russian folk songs and church music presented in their inimitable, unaccompanied style.

The Siberian Singers have, for many years, held an enviable position in the world of music. Wherever they have gone, they have received the highest admiration and esteem of their audiences. Music critics everywhere have acclaimed them for their precision of attack, sensitive musicianship, remarkable interpretation and exquisite blending of tones. Though each member of the ensemble is an excellent soloist in his own right, their voices blend into one grand harmony with the precision and smoothness of an organ. The sensitiveness and sympathy of their interpretation is a revelation and an inspiration. In addition they possess a remarkable range which extends from contra-G to treble-E, a well-nigh impossible feat for any vocal group.

During the first part of their concert, they will be attired in their Moscow Cathedral robes and will sing a group of melodies and chants of the Russian church. This group of selections will include such outstanding Russian masterpieces as "Divine Praise" by Bortniansky, "Hallelujah", an old church chant, an "dCredo" by Gretchaninoff. The second part of the program will consist of national and folk songs of Old Russia, during which the ensemble will wear Russian peasant costumes. Included in this group of numbers will be "The Prisoner's Song" and a "Melody of Gypsy Songs", both of which are traditional airs. The Siberian Singers will bring their concert to a fitting close with that universally known and universally loved Russian folk song, "Dark Eyes".

Throughout the program the Siberian Singers will be led by their competent conductor, Nicholas Vasilieff, who, though yet young in years, has already distinguished himself as a musician of outstanding ability and ambition.

Brethren Church To Hold Reception

Dr. H. K. Ober Honored

A reception will be held for Dr. H. K. Ober on October 20, at 8:00 P. M. at the Brethren Church. The program is as follows:

Benediction—Dr. R. W. Schlosser

Volunteers Hold Consecration Service

Deputation Team Gives Program At Church Of The Brethren In Bareville

The Student Volunteers held their consecration service on Wednesday evening, October 6, in the social room. Rev. Moore from Lititz gave an address after which all those wishing to join the club lighted a piece of wood given them from the flames of a larger campfire.

On Sunday, October 17, a deputation team consisting of a quartet composed of James Buffenmeyer, Paul Cassel, Floy Myer, and Leah Godfrey, and a speaker, Elmer Gleim, gave a program at the Church of the Brethren in Bareville and Akron.

On October 24, another team consisting of Floy Meyer, Peggy Miller, Luke Ebersole, and Charles Booz as a quartette will render several selections and Peggy Curry will give a few readings at the Church of the Brethren in Hunsdale and Mechanicsburg. Luke Ebersole will also speak at these places.

Other deputation teams are planning programs for other occasions, but these have not as yet, been definitely arranged.

Sigma Zeta Organizes

October 19, the Theta Chapter of the Sigma Zeta organized for 1937-38. In observance of its sexennial the club views the inauguration of two definite projects, the construction of a permanent micro projector and an unabridged collection of animals from Eastern Pennsylvania. The projector will be similar to the one used in the Chapter's demonstration on Club Night during the fore-part of the semester.

Shortly, club members will contact all Sophomores who have a major interest in either Science or Mathematics. For a person to be eligible to membership he must have completed upward of twelve hours of either of the two aforementioned fields, and must maintain an average of 81 percent in all sciences and at least 75 percent in all other subjects.

This year the Society functions under a new adviser—Doctor Howell, who is replacing Professor Shortess.

"Pop" Kelchner To Address Y.M.C.A. Nov. 1

bethtown Will Join With Y In Meeting

Charles "Pop" Kelchner, famous scout for the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League, and an active Y. M. C. A. head in Lebanon County, will address a group of students comprised of the Hi-Y of Elizabethtown High School, the Tri-Hi-Y of Patton Trade Industrial School, and the Y. M. C. A. of the Elizabethtown College in the College Chapel on Monday evening, November 1st.

Mr. Kelchner comes to Elizabethtown with a wealth of information on varied subjects. He will address the group on the problem: "Can One Play Sunday Baseball and Yet Be a Christian?" This is a very pertinent problem and one which Mr. Kelchner can very capably answer.

"Pop" Kelchner will be one on a list of prominent speakers that the "Y" will use in their programs this year.

Kappa Chapter Of Zeta Sigma Pi Meets

Seven Students Invited to Membership of Sociological Fraternity On Hill, International Relations Group Gets Under Way

The Kappa Chapter of Zeta Sigma Pi, sociological fraternity, met for the first time during the new school year on the evening of October 5, under the leadership of Carl Herr, president.

Seven students were invited to become members in the organization: Esther Brandt, Helen Myers, Robert Adams, James Beahm, Elmer Gleim, James Linton, and Roy Rudisill. Dr. A. G. Breidenstine was also asked to join in the activities of the Chapter.

The International Relations Group—an auxiliary of Zeta Sigma Pi under the advisership of Professor Lavinia C. Wenger has also begun to function. This group is supplied with a number of books by the Carnegie Foundation for Peace, each year, and each book is discussed and reported on at one of the regular meetings, correlating the program with that of Zeta Sigma Pi.

Faculty Fetes Student Body Sept. 30th

Harpist and Stringed Trio Entertain Large Number of Faculty and Students

On the evening of September 30, the faculty entertained the student body at a formal reception in the gymnasium. About two hundred faculty and students were present.

During the evening musical selections were rendered by Miss Doris Gorrecht, Mr. Philip Royer, and Mr. Reindoller. Miss Gorrecht, of Mt. Joy, who has studied at the Peabody Institute and at the Institute of Musical Art in New York, entertained the guests with selections on the harp. Violin music was furnished by Mr. Philip Royer, director of the orchestra and instructor in violin, at West Maryland College, and Mr. Reindoller, a student at West Maryland College. The accompanist was Mrs. Gerald Brickett, of Maryland, a former student at Peabody.

The faculty members directly responsible for the arrangement of the reception were Professor Guy R. Saylor, chairman of the arrangement committee, Miss Rebekah Sheaffer, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Professor J. Z. Herr, chairman of the refreshment committee.

Dr. Weller Speaks

Monday evening, October 18, Dr. Weller spoke before an interested group of approximately eighty students and faculty members on the subject, "Choosing a Life Companion."

Dr. Weller answered a large number of problems in the minds of the students relative to contacting a companion of the opposite sex, courting and its liberties and restraints, and building for a successful married life.

Following Dr. Weller's talk, the student group was given an opportunity to discuss any problem which might concern him, or at least, his neighbor.

The meeting was closed after the Y. W. C. A. had served refreshments.

Editorial

The question is often popped at us: "What is our editorial policy?" Our customary reply is that we have not as yet, formulated one. And so we haven't. And lest it be taken for granted that our policy is one of knocking, we would like to defend ourselves.

The easiest thing to do in this world, we believe, is to knock. We do not wish to follow the path of least resistance and only knock, but inevitably, when the time comes to write an editorial, we find ourselves all primed to knock someone or something. And this time is no exception. We would like to knock about conditions in the dining hall.

LATENESS

The breakfast bell, for some people, rings anywhere from 7:05 to 7:20 a. m. It is excusable for a person to be late once in a great while, but some few students are "regulars".

"Time is money" and if we once learn the virtues of punctuality the chances are we would carry it on in all our relationships, social and business. We are not suggesting any such drastic measures as closing the dining room door three minutes after the last bell has rung, etc. All we ask is that we show a reasonable awareness of the scheduled times for meals.

SEATING CHANGES

Our next knock concerns the seating in the dining hall. Several years ago, in the December 19, 1934 issue of the ETOWNIAN was printed a cross-section of student opinion with reference to this particular question. It seems that things weren't satisfactory then, and as there has been no change we are of the opinion that that opinion would still hold.

The question asked was: "Do you think it would be advisable to change the seating arrangement in the college dining room more often? Why?"

All replies printed were in the affirmative. One of the first was: "My opinion is that it would be well to change the seating arrangement in the college dining room oftener. Under the present plan some students never get at the same table during an entire year. If we were to change tables every week it would remove the monotony of being at one table so long, and it would also permit every boarding student to meet every other boarding student at the dining table . . . ."

Although we do not like to admit it, there always have been and always will be "good" and "bad" tables. We, who are at a "good" table do not care to have the breaking-up date come too soon, but we must remember that others do not feel as we do.

Another of the answers to this question: "The dining room is one of the many places on the campus where we have social contact with fellow students. For many of us, the dining room is the only place in which we have to associate with others on the campus. If, however, we remain at an appointed table for five or six weeks with several people at the table who have been at former tables with us we cannot have the privilege of associating with all the students who eat in the dining room. Then, too, if we are placed at a table in the corner with our face to the wall we greatly appreciate getting back to the crowd again . . . . And how true that is!

There are many interesting persons on the campus we would like to meet, but due to the fact that our courses do not coincide we are denied that privilege because of a faulty seating arrangement.

We fully realize the task of diplomatically arranging approximately 130 students in the dining hall is no small task.

That is, it is no small task for one person.

Instead of having one person work out the seating arrangement (entirely too much to ask of one person, to our way of thinking) it would be no trouble at all to have a responsible group of seniors do this, and organize a Dining Room Committee. They would have the benefit of four year's experience in the dining hall, and should know what it is all about.

What do you think about it?

The Tug O' War

The day is cold, and the students
Flock to Placida's shore,
With a bevy of eager professors
And children in joyful uproar.

I see the Sophs and Freshmen.
The victors—who can tell?
And a feeling of weakness comes o'er me
That my soul cannot dispel—

A feeling of weakness and trembling
That is half akin to fear;
For the icy and muddy water
Seems to be very near.

Come, Sophs, for your class is cheering;
(With joyfulness seize the rope:
The Freshmen are planning to duck
you;
In strength is your only hope.

Not as when you were Freshmen,
Not as in days last year,
When with eager hearts you battled
But the cost of the fight was dear;

For like sons of ancient warriors
Your rivals with power overcame,
You waded the surging billows—
But today must bring you fame!

Pull, with the strength of the mighty!
Heave, with the power of the brave!

And add to the hunger for conquest
The fear of the chilling wave.

And the lake shall be filled with Freshmen,
And the class that has lost the day

Will hang their heads in their sor-
And silently steal away.

—Grace Wenger.

Library--

The College Library desires to recognize the following donations: Miss Marguerite S. Garrett '30, instructor in Commercial Studies in the Lancaster West End Junior High School, presented a copy of Bell and Powleson, Auditing.

Professor Neal Bowman, Head of the Department of Advertising and President of the General Alumni Association of Temple University, presented a copy of Advertising Principles of which he is the author.

The Buhl Foundation of Pittsburgh, presented a copy of Pittsburgh, the story of a City, by Leiland D. Baldwin. The book is one of a series relating western Pennsylvania history written under the direction of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Society, sponsored jointly by the Buhl Foundation, the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania and the University of Pittsburgh.

Accessioning and cataloging of the bound magazines for the first semester were recently completed at the College Library. 52 volumes were made available.

Magazines listed for the first time are: Wilson Bulletin, Rotarian, Educational Screen, (Occupations, Bulletin of the Association of American Colleges, Journal of English and German Philology, American Journal of Science, Journal of Business, Journal of Business Education, Printer's Ink, American Historical Review.

Cards giving call number and dates covered by each magazine have been filed in the catalog.

Student organizations at the University of North Carolina have banned the hectic "big apple".

Some said the floor on which most student dances are held was too frail to withstand the stomping.

But the chief reason seemed to be, as one boy expressed it: "The students are just getting fed up on the big apple."

Analysis Precedes Synthesis

By John Glass

I have been asked to write an article for this Etownian. Since my articles have usually been of a somewhat bizzare and argumentative nature I can see why they should substitute for a column. However, although argumentation is a very fine form of recreation it is a most inefficient method of settling a controversy. This time I would merely like to present a little story for your consideration. And this is the story of a criticized chemist:

Once upon a time, on the sun-kissed and mosquito bitten shores of some European sea, a fisherman reached down in the mud and brought up a shellfish. The inside of the shell, he found, was covered with a beautiful purple hue.

Many years later some one took some of these shell fish and transferred the color to cloth and thus arose the Imperial Purple of Antiquity, which was naturally monopolized by the Kings.

Many more years later a poor and insignificant chemist pinched his pennies and purchased some of this dye. Now the dye seller was curious and wanted to know what he proposed to do with this expensive dye. "Come and see," said the chemist, and they went to his laboratory. There, to his horror and disgust, the dyeseller saw the chemist take the precious dye, put it in various test tubes and flasks, pour acids and bases on it, heat it, and grind it with chemicals until the beautiful dye was a repulsive and evil smelling mass.

Recovering himself, the dyeseller angrily demanded the why of such willful and destructive action. "My friend," replied the chemist, "Analysis precedes synthesis. Some day I shall make this dye. Then everyone will be able to possess it."

The dyeseller looked pityingly at the chemist and walked out.

But the experimenting continued. Evil fumes arose, like the smoke from a furnace, to heaven. Explosions occurred and the ash heap was covered with broken bottles, disfigured flasks, and horrible remnants of the disintegrated dye.

Then one day a shriek was heard from the laboratory and the chemist rushed out the door waving a shred of cloth. "I have it! I have it!" he shouted, "I have synthesized the purple dye." The people examine the cloth and saw the faded purple tinge upon it. Then they returned to their homes. The chemist returned to the laboratory.

After many more days he emerged bearing a piece of cloth of a purple hue the like of which had never been seen before.

The people gazed in wonder and admired the cloth. "Now" said the chemist, "all can wear purple". And it was indeed true. Not long after, even the street cleaners daughter was dancing to school clothed in Imperial Purple.

The chemist was almost forgotten except by the dyeseller who depreciated his accomplishment in every way possible.

He denounced his dye as a mere imitation of the genuine article and many people prided themselves in possessing the original purple instead of an insignificant compound called dibromo indigo. The chemist was not disturbed by this criticism. "It is true my dye is not the same," he said, "since it is made and purified chemically it does not contain the impurities which are always present in the natural product."

However, most people were not interested in these minor details. The dye appealed to them and they were satisfied.

And so it was that after many more years when the chemist brought out another and more beautiful synthetic purple it was accepted without question. All the old struggle was forgotten. The dependence of synthesis upon analysis was established.

To prevent you from thinking this is merely a fairly tale I am going to explain it so you will be sure to get the point.

The purple dye is truth, love, morals, Christianity or whatever you are pleased to call it. The chemist is our thinking people today. The laboratory is the world. The analysis is the flux our purple dye is experiencing today. The dye seller is those calamity howlers who look to the past. The synthesis is the moral product which will result and be available to all. The proverb "Analysis precedes synthesis" is found in Hebrew 9:22. The certainty of the outcome is promised in Matthew 5:5.

What part will you play?

Y. W. C. A. Holds First Meeting

On Monday evening, October 4, the Y. W. C. A. held its first meeting in charge of the president, Peggy Miller, who explained to the Freshmen and others wishing to join the purpose, code, etc., of the Club.

Mrs. Howell, who addressed the meeting, told the group about the Y. W. C. A. work during the college days. Plans for various hikes during the fall season were discussed after which refreshments were served.

ALONG THE Sport Trail

With the deflation of the National League champion New York Giants, the supreme command of the American League Yankees over the baseball situation of the nation has become more visible than ever . . . Small wonder that the Yanks rule the roost, with Colonel Ruppert expending millions of brewery dollars to buy the best of everything and to attach strings to every youngster who looks like good raw material for the Yankee hopper . . . Baseball men had better get together and see what can be done about making the American League race the nip and tuck campaign of past years, before the Yankee monopoly gets beyond control.

The 1937 gridiron season started early to provide thrills for the customers, with mighty Minnesota being tossed for a loss her first time out by Nebraska, the same team that was held to a tie later against Oklahoma, and Cornell throwing the Big Red hat back into the ring as a contender for championship laurels, only to lose to under-rated Syracuse . . . Great teams like S. M. U., Penn, Minnesota, and Texas Christian have had their day and, for one year, at least, a brand new crop of breadwinners steps to the fore . . . Ohio State University presents a novelty among bigtime football teams—a powerful juggernaut without a single outstanding star, with Coach Dutch Schmidt putting together well-timed aeriels, superb blocking, and tricky reverses to mold a winning combination.

The biggest headache of the year was without doubt the one suffered by Coach Marty Brill, of LaSalle College, when a substitute got up from the bench and dashed afield to tackle an opposing back . . . Must have been a case of crossed signals . . . And speaking of signals, that brings to mind a recent incident in English Literature class . . . "Joe" Heckler was trying to spell the name of a character in Beowulf, and Miss Sheaffer said he sounded as though he were calling football signals instead.

Philadelphia is fast becoming the home of cellar dwellers, with both the big league baseball clubs hanging in or near the basement slot, while the Philly Eagles in the National Pro Loop have won exactly one game since entering big league competition several years ago . . . They took that single contest a few weeks ago when they upset Brooklyn, 14 to 7.

When the New York Yankees announced the unconditional release of Tony Lazzeri, on October 14, it marked the end of a great playing career and possibly the beginning of a managerial career equally as brilliant . . . At this writing Tony had not yet received a big league managing post, but several clubs had indicated that they were considering the Italian boilermaker . . . As a star infielder in the long Pacific Coast season quite a few years back, Lazzeri poled out 67 home runs in one season . . . His best circuit hammering in the big leagues was done last year in Shibe Park, Philadelphia, when he hit seven homers in three days.

The advance guard along the basketball trail has it that the cage game this year will be minus the center jump . . . For years the center jump occupied a vital spot in the playing of basketball, but recent experiments in the west have proved that its elimination will give the basketekers more actual playing time, and also give the game back to the little fellow.

Another innovation in sports which has come out of the west is that of six-man football, which was adopted by small high schools and colleges . . . The game is played on practically the same line as the original game, although a few variations are necessary . . . It would be wise for local schools to look into this new sport, which might even go over well out here on the Hill.

Fifteen Enter Tennis Tourney

Fifteen "racketeers" entered the annual men's fall tennis tournament. Some matches are not finished and the champion is not yet crowned. Cold weather is hurrying the tournament along and the final match is to take place on or before October 23. "Tom" Garber managed to reach the finals in the one division but his opponent is not yet known.

The entries were as follows: Garber, King, Sauder, Speidel, Risser, Booz, Beahm, Coulson, Keller, Day, Oberholtzer, Meyer, Martin, Rishel, and Linton.

Last year the crown was won by Dave Schlosser, the No. 1 man of the team and the "38" squad will miss him greatly. There are a few yearlings who may make a bid for the future squad and we can look forward to a good season.

Athletic Association Meets

On Monday, October 18, the Athletic Association held its first meeting to elect officers, managers, and cheerleaders for the present year.

The meeting, well attended by the Freshmen, was in charge of the president, Luke Sauder. An orderly election was held, with all officers nominated, the cheerleaders given a trial, and the list of managers to be voted upon. The results of the election were as follows:

Practice Teachers Placed

Twelve practice teachers in the secondary education department have been placed as follows: Mount Joy—James Beahm, Luke Sauder; Middletown—Rue Seagrist, James Linton, David Raffensperger; Maytown—Jane Williams, Grace Ernst, Carl Herr; Elizabethtown—John Glass, Roy Rudisill, Helen Myers, Landis Eby.

Professor Mervin Brandt, principal of the Mount Joy High School, has asked to have a test survey conducted in his schools. The Tests and Measurements Class is now making plans for conducting and tabulating these tests, which will be given early the next semester. This class will be entirely responsible for the work. The students will give the tests, correct them, and interpret the scores.

WPA TO PRESENT TWO NEW RADIO PROGRAMS

The Radio Division of the WPA Federal Theatre Project will present Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Tish" in a series of thirteen weekly broadcasts over the full network of the Columbia Broadcasting System every Thursday from 10:00 to 10:30 P. M. beginning October 14.

Miss Rinehart has donated the use of her book for this broadcast.

Dr. James Truslow Adams has donated the radio rights to his best seller, "Epic of America," to the WPA Federal Theatre's Radio Division.

"Epic of America" will be broadcast from 8:00 to 8:30 P. M. Sunday evenings over the full network of the Mutual Broadcasting System. The first program of the thirteen week series is tentatively set for November 7.

Rev. Corbin Addresses YM

The Rev. Mr. Corbin, pastor of the Hershey Presbyterian Church and graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, presented an inspirational message on "The Place of Christ on a College Campus" in the first regular Y. M. C. A. meeting of the year, held Monday night, Oct. 11.

Rev. Corbin, in quoting from Albert Schweitzer stated that "Our task as Christian men is not to explain all the problems; but our task is to bring ourselves into right relationship with God and with His Son Jesus Christ." The speaker further enlarged this thought by stressing the greater strength of personality over any principle which men may choose to follow.

Further, the speaker emphasized the timelessness and the racelessness of Christ. "Christ is just as real today on the fourth floor of an Elizabethtown College dormitory as He was to the people of simple and rugged faith in Galilee," Rev. Corbin said.

Attend Franklin Institute Chemical Show and Lecture

It was the privilege of several of Elizabethtown's budding scientists to attend a Chemistry Show on the evening of October 8, in the Hershey Industrial School Auditorium. The show was put on by the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia and sponsored by the Hershey Civic Club.

Before an audience of 500 Industrial School students and a few visitors, Professor Bruce, with the help of his efficient assistant, both of the Franklin Institute, performed a series of experiments touching nearly every branch of everyday and industrial chemistry. Most notable were the demonstrations with liquid air, coal tar dyes and coal tar perfumes. During the course of the program a motion picture was shown which discussed the manufacture and behavior of modern steel alloys. After "manufacturing" a small bottle of highly scented perfume before the eagerly sniffing audience, Professor Bruce gave a colorful demonstration of "cold light". A mixture of several impossible named substances when poured together produced a glowing liquid which could be handled like water. Completely mystified, the E-town chemists could come to no other conclusion than that the trick was done with mirrors.

Though the show was more of a popular than technical nature it proved instructive as well as entertaining.

The many anecdotes which punctuated Prof. Bruce's lecture added a humorous touch to the program. E-town's representatives were fortunate in having the opportunity of hearing a lecture on one of our most important sciences.

"Y" Luminary

CHARLES R. SCOTT

Y. M. C. A.

The Student Department of the State Y. M. C. A. will present the "Larry" program and Charles R. Scott in the Auditorium, Saturday, October 23, at 8 p. m.

For more than thirty years Charles R. Scott was State Secretary of Boys Work in the Y. M. C. A. for New Jersey. He was a friend of Larry, and largely responsible for the publication of his unusual book, now in its thirteenth edition.

Charles R. Scott is one who knew "Larry" intimately. His lecture will give youth an opportunity to see and hear a dramatically illustrated program interpreting the Christian life philosophy.

Admission will be free.

Wellesley Students Take Unique Examination

Wellesley, Mass.—(ACP)—Socrates' classic admonition, "Know thyself" is being taken seriously by Wellesley College. Young women who entered the school for the first time this fall were given four tests arranged to make them review their own attributes and consult their own experience.

Two of the tests have been used since 1932; two were given for the first time this fall. Following are some of the controversial statements and questions, from the alternatives of which the students are asked to indicate a personal preference, included in one of the tests:

"Because of the aggressive and self-assertive nature of man the abolition of war is an illusory ideal. Yes. No.

"If you were a university professor and had the necessary ability, would you prefer to teach (a) poetry; (b) chemistry and physics?"

The test is designed to show the relative emphasis the students place on theoretical economic, esthetic, social, political and religious value.

The other test is a "Personality Inventory" which asks the student if she blushes easily, makes new friends easily, finds it difficult to get rid of salesmen, is troubled with the idea that people on the street are watching her. The resulting answers indicate any tendencies toward developed neuroses and psychoses.

Excavation

During the wee, nocturnal hours of October twelfth, a Freshman girl, hearing a clatter of machinery outside her window, exclaimed:

"Gee whiz, I never knew the trains made so much noise."

Her terrified roommate, positive that a truck was being driven thru the hall, insisted on locking the door. But morning light revealed the cause of the disturbance—under cover of night a dirt-digger had crawled into position beside Memorial Hall. Excitement ran high. Was this an archeological expedition, a search for lost treasure, or a W. P. A. project?

To the relief of Expression Classes and the chagrin of Chapel speakers, the machine started and prolonged a continual clatter outside Memorial Hall. When at last it moved to another sphere of action, the only visible result was a large hole, surrounded by park benches, for the safety of moonlight strollers.

Unofficial reports say that this is the beginning of enlarging the boiler room. More heat in winter will be a boon to students who in former years had to go to bed early for the sake of warmth.

They say the excavation is something to look into.

Dr. Baugher Attends Services

Dr. Baugher attended on the afternoons of October 14 and 15 the Sesquicentennial exercises held at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa.

On Sunday, October 17, he delivered an address on the occasion of a Rally Day service in St. Paul's Reformed Church, at Manheim.

Dr. Baugher will also speak at the District Young Peoples' Conference on the afternoon and evening of October 23, at the United Brethren Church in the historic town of Ephrata.

On Nov. 18, Dean Baugher will attend the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Association for Adult Education, which will convene in the Forum of the Education Building at Pennsylvania's capitol city, Harrisburg. This two-day conference will consist of many interesting features.

Dr. Baugher will have many more engagements during this college year.

Seniors Score Triumph Playing To Capacity Audience, October 18th

Class of '41 Production Is Received Favorably; Miller-Linton Star

In its presentation of Oliver Goldsmith's comedy, "She Stoops To Conquer," the Senior Class scored a marked triumph before a crowd of approximately six hundred people on the evening of October 18.

Ideal weather on the night of the play—contrary to usual custom—coupled with an extensive advertising program served to bring the unprecedentedly large audience to the doors of the Alumni Gymnasium.

Starting with material that was "raw," to say the least, Miss Sheaffer must be commended for building up a cast which performed so splendidly.

Miss Mildred Miller, as the artful would-be-barmaid, played to perfection the role of Miss Harcastle, who, during the course of the play was besieged by the dauntless wooing of the emboldened Marlowe, played by James Linton. Miss Miller was also student director, assistant to Miss Sheaffer.

James Beahm, in the part of the bumptious Tony Lumpkin, gumbled up the "woiks" handily when he intentionally misdirected Young Marlowe and Hastings (Luke Sauder) to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harcastle (Helen Myers and Paul Hoffman) instead of sending them to the Village Inn.

During the changing of scenery between acts two and three the audience was entertained by Mr. William Linton, tenor, who has broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting Company hookups. Mr. Linton was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Meyer.

Large Crowd Hears Singers

Prominent Speaker And Curtis Institute Program Subse- quent Lyceum Course Feat- ures

By James Martin

The current Lyceum course got off to an excellent start on October 26, when the Siberian Singers, famous Russian vocal ensemble, gave a concert of Russian folk and church music. A satisfied audience of approximately 600 persons filled the Auditorium-Gymnasium to capacity.

With the Siberian Singers' concert in the past, there remain two more numbers for presentation in the Lyceum course this year. The first of these will be a notable speaker who though having been contacted, has not yet given his final consent, and consequently cannot be definitely announced. The last number will be a group of three artists from the Curtis Institute of Philadelphia, a soprano, a flutist, and a pianist. In past years the artists representing the Curtis Institute have always given thoroughly enjoyable and inspiring concerts, and we know that this year will be no exception.

NOTICE!

All persons interested in forming an Astronomy and Amateur Telescope Making Club on the campus contact either Dr. Hill or Albert Bzura. Details will be discussed at first meeting.

Convention Date Set For I. N. A.

Lehigh Brown and White To Be Host To College News- paper Men

Delegates from the leading college newspapers in the Middle Atlantic states will gather on November 12 and 13, at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pa., for the annual fall convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association.

The two-day get together will give college journalists a chance to thresh out problems of mutual interest as well as offering opportunities to profit by experiences of other college newspaper men.

Three round table sessions will be held on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning, November 12 and 13, in Packard Laboratory, Lehigh University. The round tables will be devoted to editorial, news and business problems and discussion will follow each talk.

Lanc. Teachers Hold Institute

Elementary and Secondary Prac- tice Teachers Attend Con- vention

The Eighty-Third session of the Lancaster County Teachers' Institute was held in the Auditorium of Manheim Township High School, Neffsville, Pa., on October 28 and 29.

The Thursday speakers were Dr. H. S. Zeimer, Lancaster County Medical Director, whose speech was centered around the importance of the mental and physical development of the school child over the Three R's. Dr. Frank W. Wright gave his discussion, "The Three Types of Teachers." The most prominent personality of the day was Dr. Robert MacGowan, who, in an interesting and delightful way, explained, "The Creed of the Flag," another outstanding topic presented by Dr. MacGowan was, "Educating the Educator."

On Friday morning Dr. Samuel D. Rosen lectured on, "Conditions in Soviet Russia." Dr. Frank W. Wright gave a discourse on, "Democracy's Great Investment."

In the afternoon, Dr. Samuel D. Rosen had as his subject, "Economic Ills and Panaceas." "Around the World in Fifty Minutes," by Dr. Henry H. Crane concluded the program for institute of this year.

The sessions were attended by Elizabethtown College Secondary and Practice Teachers and proved to be inspirational as well as educational.

Welfare Drive

Twelve students responded to Dean Baugher's call to participate in soliciting funds in the Welfare Drive in Elizabethtown. The actual solicitation of funds will be carried on during the week of November 8.

Mr. Levi C. Hershey, Elizabethtown Chairman of the Lancaster County Unit of the National Welfare Drive, states that the Lancaster County quota is approximately eighty-one cents per capita, making a total quota of $282,346 needed—10 per cent. more than was subscribed to last year.

Y.W. Conducts Tea Room

After the "Larry" program on Saturday, October 23, the Y. W. C. A. sponsored a Tea Room in Alpha Hall, catering to the students and townspeople who had gathered to hear Mr. Charles R. Scott discourse on the Christian philosophy life of "Larry."

Refreshments were enjoyed in a delightful atmosphere created by autumn foliage, candles, and other decorations. This attempt on the part of Miss Lois Brehm '39 and Marion Bardell '39, enhanced the appearance of the Social Room and class rooms where tables were located.

The Y. W. C. A. under the leadership of Margaret Miller '38, doubtless has other worthwhile ideas in mind, but no definite plans have been made as yet.

Choir Gets Under Way

Various Regional Churches Signify Desire To Hear Holy Program

The A Cappella Choir is diligently at work in its quiet way and, although it has caused scarcely a ripple in campus activities to date, it is accomplishing great things. This group of forty-five students blends its voices twice weekly, under the direction of Prof. E. G. Meyer, into one of the best-balanced choirs to represent Elizabethtown College in recent years.

The theme of the choir programs this year will be "Lord, Speak To Me That I May Speak". These programs, consisting of fourteen choir numbers and one number apiece by the women's and men's octette, will be presented in many churches of this district during the second semester. Secretary Floy Myer informs us that to date Marietta, Denver, East Petersburg, Lebanon, Elizabethtown, and Westminster, Maryland, have signified their desire to have the choir give its program in their churches. We wish the choir success in its work and expect it to live up to the high standard that choirs in previous years have set.

Founder's Day November 12

Dr. Linn Bowman, Department of Welfare Principal Speaker

President R. W. Schlosser announced that final plans have been completed for the annual Founder's Day Program, to be held Friday evening, November 12, at 8 P. M. The services of Dr. Linn Bowman, Department of Welfare, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have been obtained. Dr. Bowman will be the principal speaker of the evening.

The program in its entirety is as follows:

Hymn—"Our God Our Help In Ages Past"

Introductory Remarks—President R. W. Schlosser

Male Quartette—"Song of the Vikings"—(Loomis)

Address—Dr. Linn Bowman

Piano Solo—"Moonlight Sonata, (First Movement)"—Marie Oberholtzer

Sock & Buskin Selects Members

Upperclassmen Try Out For Membership In Dramatic Organization

Five would-be Thespians of the upper classes tried out for membership in the Sock and Buskin, campus dramatic organization in the Chapel on Thursday evening, November 4.

Paul Hoffman, '38, James Linton, '38, Harold Saylor, '39, Garland Hoover, '39, and Beverly Noll, special student, have been granted entrance, subject to initiation requirements.

Miss Noll has been given the standing of Associate Member. Messrs. Saylor and Hoover before final acceptance is made, will take part in several one-act plays as a further try-out. Messrs. Hoffman and Linton, because of their stellar work in the Senior play, and of exceptional ability in preliminary try out, have been voted in as members in full standing.

This year the Sock and Buskin inaugurates the "Junior Sock and Buskin". The purpose of this subsidiary organization will be to place Freshmen and Sophomores who are deemed not quite ready for membership in the Sock and Buskin.

Miss Martin Addresses Volunteers

Reed Organ Purchased By Stu- dent Organization

Monday evening, October 25, the Student Volunteers held a meeting in the Chapel, in charge of the president, Richard Shaull. Miss Martha Martin spoke on the subject "Workers with God."

Miss Martin stated that there are now eighteen former Student Volunteers of this college on the foreign field. There are also many others who are engaged in some other kind of Christian service at home.

The organ, which was bought by the Student Volunteers to be used at their meetings and also at prayer meeting, was used for the first time. An invitation was given to all those wishing to join the Student Volunteers to do so in the next few weeks.

Freshman Party

According to vagrant rumor, the Class of '41 will hold their traditional Freshman party on Choose-day, November ??, in the Gymnasium. Robert Spiedel, president, predicts a large turnout of students to enjoy the interesting program which is being arranged by various committees.

According to Earl Smith of Red Lion, Chairman of the Refreshments Committee, all guests can expect "real eats". Smith urges every greenie who has not done so to pay his party fee before Thursday, November 11.

The Program Committee, under the leadership of Phyllis Thompson, Masonic Homes, has been faithfully at work for the past month planning the details of the entertainment program. Other members of the committee are: Anna Price, Allegra Royer, Robert Keller, and Ernest Lefever.

Annual Convention of Pa. State Education Asso. To Be Held At John Harris H.S., Nov. 19-20

On November 19 and 20, in the John Harris High School, Harrisburg, will be held the Twelfth Annual Convention of the Southern Convention District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, a report from Doctor A. C. Baugher, who is President of the Association, indicated.

The main purpose of the convention will be a Round Table discussion on the Final Comprehensive Examination as a Means of Improving College Teaching. The discussion will be led by Dr. J. O. Creaker, Professor, College Education, New York University.

The Round Table will consist of representatives from each of the colleges in the area: Gettysburg, Dr. T. L. Cline; Shippensburg, Dr. Emerson H. Loucks; Wilson, Dr. E. Grace White; Dickinson, Dr. C. W. Prettyman; Lebanon Valley, Dr. E. H. Stevenson; Elizabethtown, Prof. G. R. Saylor; Franklin and Marshall, Dr. H. H. Beck; Millersville, Prof. S. B. Stayer.

Dr. Harold E. B. Speight, from Swarthmore College, will summarize the discussion at the conclusion of the Round Table.

Some questions pertinent to the subject are:

1. Who prepares the questions in the Comprehensive Examinations? The instructor, the departmental staff, or some See EDUCATION—Page 3

Students Enjoy Hallowe'en Frolic

Guests Entertained By Amateur Play Group

The ghosts entertained the faculty and students in the Gymnasium on Friday evening, October 29. Mr. and Mrs. Spook, more commonly known as Dick Shaull and Mil Miller received the guests in their oyster-furnished apartment.

Early guests had their fortunes told, free of charge, by four famous prophetesses: Madame Helena Palm-reader, Madam Graeca Cauldron-searcher, Madam Beatrix Teacup-stirrer and Madam Marivelle Crystal-gazer.

Of all the attractive costumes, those judged prettiest were worn by Ruth Heinaman, Jeanette Barnes. Those last guessed were Myrtle Hess and Marian Herr, disguised as "Pa'an Ma". A vicious-looking hobo who defied all guessing finally unmasked, revealing "himself" to be Martha Velter. To her was given the prize for the ugliest costume. The reward for the most unique costume went to the Oberholtzers, dressed in the clothing of China.

During the evening Hallowe'en games were played. The guests were entertained by a shadow play, coached by Paul Cassel. The cast was composed of Paul Cassel, Sam Jones, Helen Duder, Garland Hoover and Nathan Meyer.

Editorial

This may not be exactly "cricket", but we feel that all this putrid publicity given to Mr. and Mrs. David Windsor in our newspapers and periodicals is nauseating to any self-respecting, honest-to-goodness American citizen.

Just why should we—who have decried nobility in all forms—be transported into fits of joy at the mere prospect of the visitation of these two people to our shores. How shall we profit? Will it make us any better? Decidedly not!

When we go to the extremes of creating "Wallis blue", "Windsor blue", "Simpsonstyle", etc., because of the fact that a man and woman have been united in wedlock, it is high time we sought out the services of a psychoanalyst.

And speaking of extremes, what could be more ridiculous than creating a shrine of the former part-time home of Mrs. Windsor? We usually associate historical shrines with important and pertinent developments of our country. Yet, here we have dedicated the modest, unpretentious dwelling place of this former American citizen as a sight-seeing spot for all morons who care to pay the admission price.

This "shrine" has been publicized, not by intelligent, progressive, democratic Americans, but by an illiterate, ignorant, self-styled "Curator."

However, heaping invectives on the persons responsible for this outrage to American decency will not help any. The people who gobble up this cheap and disgusting type of exploitation should be educated.

Barnum was right.

Just as another appreciative student, we would like to express our thanks to the person or persons responsible for the presentation of the Chapel program on Tuesday morning last. We feel that not one person present failed to be interested, nor failed to grasp the meaning of the program.

It is our honest opinion that if all Chapel programs were planned and presented equally as well, attendance would increase.

Novel Program In Chapel

Services Honoring Our Nation Given During Chapel Period

On Tuesday morning, November 2, the student body enjoyed a special program arranged by Miss Sheaffer and given at the regular Chapel devotional period. After a trumpet solo by Mildred Snodgrass '41, scripture responses were given by Ruth Siebert '40 and Miriam Kline '40. They also rendered the two poems, "America's Prosperity" by Van Dyke, and "My Country". Carl Herr '38 recited "The Christian Patriot's Creed." Musical selections were rendered by a quartette composed of Mary Moore '38, Orpha Frantz '40, Robert Eshleman '39, and Mark Weaver '41. The program concluded with a hymn by the student body after which Dr. Schlosser pronounced the benediction.

Getting Out A Paper

Getting out a paper is no picnic: If we print jokes, folks say we are silly;

If we don't they say we are too serious.

If we publish original matter, they say we lack variety;

If we publish things from other papers, we are too lazy to write.

If we stay on the job, we ought to be out rustling news;

If we are out rustling news, we are not attending to business in our own department.

If we don't print contributions, we don't show the proper appreciation.

If we do print them, somebody calls them junk.

Like as not, someone will say we swiped this from an exchange;

So we did!!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

One of the mistaken impressions we are apt to have regarding the Oriental mixup is that the Japanese started the war. By briefly mentioning a few of the events which took place I would like to show you that it was really started by the Chinese, and not the Japs.

The war commenced on July 7, when a division of Sung Chih Yuou's 29th route army started firing on a group of Japanese soldiers as the latter maneuvered near Peiping's ancient Marco Polo Bridge. A day later the Japs formally launched a campaign to punish the Chinese offenders; in Peiping, meanwhile, Chinese and Japanese diplomats tried to settle the incident with words. The Japanese made four demands. First—that the 29th army be moved south of the Peiping Tientsin area; second—that the guilty soldiers be punished; third—that further anti-Japanese activities be suppressed and fourth—that Sung help to fight Chinese Reds in the west. Local Chinese leaders were divided, some urged immediate war upon Japan, while others favored compromise. About the time an agreement was reached events took an unexpected turn.

From far off Nanking came a declaration from Chian Kai Shek that Japanese interference in North China would no longer be tolerated; furthermore, the 29th army would not be withdrawn, no demands such as those submitted would be accepted, and any attempt to force an agreement would be met with armed resistance.

Utterly exasperated at such outrageous conduct, the Japanese warlords decided there was nothing left for them to do but settle the mess after their own fashion. But before their clumsy war machine could get started, Sung's 29th army played havoc with scattered Jap garrisons at Peiping and Tientsin. Once in motion, the invincible Nipponese steam roller crushed Chinese defenses at three fronts, and within two months the Japanese possessions of China's last northern provinces became a fact.

As for the Shanghai trouble, that, too, was more the result of Chinese provocation. It started when embittered Shanghai police murdered three Japanese sailors near the Lunghua airport; Jap marines hastening to the scene, found determined defenders already entrenched around Chapei, the Chinese port of the city.

At this uncompromising attitude enraged Jap naval officers declared vengeance. Then they commenced the vicious attack on Shanghai which has shocked and horrified the world. Half the city has been destroyed, thousands of innocents have been slaughtered by bombs, and a serious international mixup has arisen that gets worse daily.

Thanks to Chinese resistance, half of Japan's fighting men are now engaged in a desperate attempt to save the glory and honor of the Empire of the Rising Sun. Perhaps the Tokyo war office may have anticipated some sore of a campaign in the north, but they had certainly never planned on huge scale warfare that would involve three quarters of their entire war machine.

Of course a war between Japan and China was inevitable so that the question of who fired the first shots is really unimportant. We can lay the main causes of the war to Japan and we can condemn Japan for her conduct since it has started, but as for actually beginning the fight, we must give China the credit.

Yours truly,
Henry Oberholtzer

"Y" Conference

The Fall session of the Y Student-Faculty Conference will be held from December 3 to 5, at Gettysburg College.

Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, a nationally known speaker, author and leader, whose philosophy of religious thinking and living has inspired the lives of thousands, will center his discussions about the central theme "Sharing Christ". The professional, social, industrial, and international phases will be discussed in reference to "Sharing Christ".

Harry C. Gintzer, State Student secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Harrisburg, urges that plans for delegations to this co-educational conference be arranged early.

Ponies Permissible

Chapel Hill, N. C.—(ACP)—"Ponies", used furtively by generations of schoolboys have taken the mantle of respectability.

Interlinear translations of language texts is part of a new method of teaching language advanced by Dr. Meno Spann, Iowa State University German professor. It is outlined in a book, "Interlinear German Reader" and has been approved by the board of governors of the University of North Carolina Press where it is being printed. Most of the board are faculty members.

The reader has printed below each line of German a literal translation.

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

The first indication of the winter sports season came with the inauguration of the hockey season at Hershey . . . . Although the B'ars are not "big leaguers", they draw a full house every time, and are fast making the Chocolatetown Central Pennsylvania's leading sports center during the cold weather.

With each week-end, Yale's Captain Clint Frank shines brighter as the outstanding star among the college backs . . . . As a passer, broken field runner, and field general, Frank seems to have no peer, and he is the spar-plug that has kept Eli's attack clicking so smoothly for the past two years.

Larry Kelley, the wound-up wingman of last season's Yale eleven, backed out of his pro job with the Boston Shamrocks in a hurry . . . . His alibi was poor health, but it's a good bet that Loquacious Larry got a line on the professional game, and decided that college football was his game, after all . . . . As a coach, the All-American end is doing all-right . . . . His Peddie Prep School gridsters were undefeated in their first four games.

Along the West Coast, the Golden Bears of California are rolling, and at this writing, with three games remaining on their schedule, they look like a sure thing for the Rose Bowl spectacle on New Year' Day . . . . The Bears have 3 teams that work as perfect units, with the first-string seldom playing more than 30 minutes of any game . . . . They have probably the best running attack in the country, and operate on the theory that the best defense is a strong offense.

Every week the argument in favor of having the goal-posts on the goal-line becomes stronger . . . . With ten yeards separating the posts and the goal-line, college kickers seldom try for field goals outside the twenty-yard mark . . . . While in the fast set, lads like Jack Manders, Dutch Clark, and Tillie Manton continue to decide games for their teams by means of their automatic toes . . . . Surely there would be fewer ties if the college rule-makers would put the goal-posts back where they belong.

War Admiral has returned to the races . . . . The flashy son of Man O' War is fast becoming a great handicap winner, and will no doubt be a heavy fall-book favorite for the $100,000 New Year's Day classic at Santa Anita . . . . As a three-year old, the Admiral was tops, and he shows no signs of dropping his form in the harder handicap distances.

Football fans who turned out to witness the Dickinson College-American University game at Carlisle on October 30 were disappointed . . . . Although the Red Devils won an overwhelming victory, the highly touted girl extra-point kicker of the Americans failed to see action, as her team was held scoreless . . . . Well, it's time that the fair sex break into football, for that is the only major sport they have not taken over so far.

Coach Herr Sends Out Call For Basketball Men; Practice Begun

Former Varsity Squad Is Depleted; Frosh Well-Represented

By Paul Cassel

Basketball practice has begun in earnest on the Hill, with no dearth of material presenting itself in response to the call for basketball men.

Coach Herr, when questioned as to his opinion of material thus far presenting itself, remarked, "Merely average—at least not more than average."

The material, as Coach Herr puts it, is only "average" with only five of last year's squad in the line-up for this season. This includes members of last year's varsity squad, as well as the J. V's.

The Freshman class has responded nobly to Coach Herr's call for men. Ten members of the class of '41 are exhibiting their ability and form in the hopes of attaining a berth on the squad—even if only on the bench. Competition is keen.

Roy Rudisill, captain of this year's quintet, did not care to give his outlook on the season, saying, "It's too early in the season to say anything—except that we are going to work hard."

All in all, things look promising. Let's look forward to a great season.

The band at the University of Illinois owns 9 tons of tunes arranged by Sousa. At least 2,889 band arrangements, formerly belonging to John Philip Sousa, are in the possession of the band. They weigh more than 18,000 pounds.

Soccer Squad Organized

Games May Be Scheduled With Blue Ridge and Western Maryland

Coach Ira Herr has recently organized an "intercollegiate" soccer squad. He is developing a promising squad of mainly inexperienced soccer players.

On Friday evening, October 29, the squad journeyed to Cornwall High School, where they fought their initial contest. The collegiates played good soccer against the speedy Cornwall team, but lost the fray by a score of 3-7.

Coach Herr anticipates adding to the list of opponents such teams as Blue Ridge and Western Maryland. The team will again play Cornwall on the college field on November 15.

Kelchner Addresses Y

On Monday evening Charles (Pop) Kelchner of Lebanon, addressed a joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. in the Chapel, on the subject "The Christian Race," basing his remarks on Heb. 12:1.

Mr. Kelchner is very well fitted to give such a speech, for besides being prominent in Y. M. C. A. work he is a scout of the St. Louis Cardinals and takes an active interest in all athletics.

"I am a great believer in the body," he stated, giving as his reason that the mental and spiritual functions depend largely on the body.

As for Sunday baseball, Mr. Kelchner did not attempt to answer the question for anyone but himself, "I could not play Sunday baseball." He was just as definite in his stand against tobacco and alcoholic drinks.

Intramural Debating To Be Inaugurated On Hill

Professor Saylor Discloses Plans For Student Participation In Debating

In order to satisfy the growing interest in debating and the continued demand for forensic experience, Professor Saylor, Coach of varsity debating, will inaugurate a system of intra-mural debating for the coming season.

This is a new program for the Hill, and one in which all those who are interested in debating can enter.

Within the near future a meeting will be held and all students desiring to enter into debating are invited to attend. The program will consist of active public experience in speaking. The debates will be given in the Chapel and open to the student body as an audience. The question for intra-mural debating has not yet been decided.

Those students best profiting from the intra-mural system will be given an opportunity to debate inter-collegiately on the varsity teams.

Dean A. C. Eyer, Organist in Selinsgrove; the book was published by Johann Wyeth in Harrisburg in 1818.

Soon after the opening of the year the College Library added the most recent edition of Webster's New International Dictionary, published by G. & C. Merriam Co., Springfield, Mass.

This edition contains 600,000 entries, an increase of 150,000 over its predecessor. It is an epochal book, marking the culmination of more than a century of continuous experience in dictionary editing and publishing. Every feature of the Merriam-Webster Dictionaries has been developed to new heights of usefulness. Like every edition among its predecessors it establishes newer and higher standards in size of vocabulary, in pronunciation, in etymology, in definitions, in synonyms and antonyms, in pictorial illustrations and in arrangement of subject matter.

Dr. Schlosser on October 24, delivered two sermon lectures at the Kleinfeltersville Evangelical Church

Tuesday, October 26 and Wednesday, October 27, several faculty members attended the District Meeting of Southern Pennsylvania, one of the districts sharing the ownership of the College. The meeting was held in the Marsh Creek Church, near Gettysburg.

*****

President R. W. Schlosser attended the Commemoration Day exercises held at F. & M. College, Lancaster, on October 15 and delivered an address to college presidents of the eastern part of the state in the evening. On Sunday, October 17, Dr. Schlosser delivered the Rally Day address at the Colonial Park United Brethren Church.

*****

Dean Baugher and Dr. Breidenstine attended a symposium at Muhlenberg College, at Allentown, at which time the topic What Professions Expect of Liberal Arts Colleges was discussed.

*****

The bulletin "Our Cities", sponsored by the United States Government, has recently been published by the National Resources Committee. Dr. Forest Weller took an active part in the preparation of this book and wrote several of the articles.

*****

On Sunday morning, October 31, Dr. Weller preached a sermon on Temperance in the Brethren Church in Lititz. His main line of thought was: People are intemperate when they lose their sense of direction. In the evening he led the young people in their worship service.

*****

President Schlosser, Dean Baugher, Dr. Briedenstine, and Professor Wenger attended a meeting of the Association of Liberal Arts Colleges, State Teachers Colleges, and other accredited teacher educating institutions of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, held in the Council Chamber of the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg, November 4 and 5. The main line of thought of the meeting was on "Standards for Teacher Education in Pennsylvania."

*****

Dr. Baugher has been asked to represent the Eastern region of the Church of the Brethren in a meeting of the United Stewardship Council of the Major Protestant Denominations, in a meeting to be held in Philadelphia, on November 22 and 23. The general theme will be on stewardship education.

8. How can the final comprehensive examination be kept from a mere "final rehearsal"?

Learn About Insurance

Tuesday evening, the Commercial Club had the privilege of being addressed by Mr. John M. Miller, of Lititz, on the subject of Insurance.

Mr. Miller spoke of the advantages and disadvantages of standard life insurance policies, annuities, and accident and fire insurance. Responding to numerous questions submitted by members of the Club, Mr. Miller's discussion was entertaining as well as instructive.

Sophomores Entertain Freshmen At Party In Gym, Nov. 18th

Sophs Do Away With Traditional Crashing Of Freshmen Social

Friday night, November 18, the great affair that had for the past two or three weeks been the "secret" of the campus broke loose. In spite of all hearsay, the Freshmen were really in on the secret, and the oft put off get-together was called for last Friday evening.

This was one Freshman party that didn't leave the Sophomores with strained muscles caused in an attempt to crash the party. All the clubs and other "weepons" that the frosh had provided themselves with, were to no avail.

The Sophomores, contrary to usual custom, made their entrance into the gymnasium when the Frosh were in full swing, bringing their own eats with them, and some for the freshmen besides. According to some Frosh, they really enjoyed the hot chocolate the class of '40 saw fit to provide, and were indeed grateful.

Program Well Planned

It was a rapidly-moving succession of joy, hilarity, dismal disparity (for seven) and exultation, for three and a half hours as the evening wore on.

Many smiles burst into rollicsome laughter at Perry Hull's impersonation of Mae West, Mildred Snodgrass' mimicry of a faculty member, Robert Posey's "Crosbian" rendition of the Alma Mater, Lloyd Bentz's campaign speech, or Margaret Ruth's and Earl Smith's combined 1937 conception of the balcony scene from Romeo and Juliet.

No cartoonist could have pictured "life's darkest moment" with more heartfelt sympathy than the scene presented by seven ill-starred male tyros when "kissed" by seven girl pranksters.

All in all, it was a great time, and in the words of one freshman, "It was a great fight, Mom, (puff, puff) but we won."

Grad Discusses Peace Action Plans

The program of the Student Peace Service was explained to a group of interested students at 12:30 p. m., on Monday, November 21, in the Social Room by Donald Royer '37.

The program is based upon a colorful discussion outline and off-campus action. Two tangible points of issue to be considered and acted upon are the recent Army Mobilization Plan and the Ludlow Referendum Bill.

Eleven more field secretaries are spread throughout the country contacting approximately 350 campuses. Mr. Royer is contacting twenty-two campuses in Central and Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The Student Peace Service after January 1, 1938, will be working under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee with headquarters in Philadelphia.

Library

The library recently passed the 10,800 mark in accessions with the addition of departmental requisitions. 30 volumes were added and catalogued by using Library of Congress cards. Before the close of the fiscal year the number of accessions will be well over the 11,000 mark.

New System In Choosing Delegates

The Y. M. C. A. has recently adopted a very democratic system by which it chooses delegates to conferences and conventions. At a recent cabinet meeting it was decided that a paper should be posted upon which should be written the names of all those who would be interested in attending the "Y" Conference to be held at Gettysburg from December 3 to 5. At some time previous to the convention the men student body will elect five individuals to represent Elizabethtown College.

This method of election is aimed to give the men student body a voice in the choice of delegates. Previously delegates were chosen by the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

Concert Series Attracts Students

Ten Concerts Featured In Community Series

Some of the musical-minded students of our campus have availed themselves of an excellent opportunity in the field of music by purchasing tickets to the Community Concert Series. These tickets admit them to ten concerts of the best music by the best artists, the concerts being held in Lancaster, Lebanon and York.

Four concerts have already been given. Iso Briselli, Russian violinist, and the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe have appeared at York; the Gordon String Quartet, leading exponent of chamber music, pleased at Lancaster; and the Ionian Singers, a male quartet, rendered, at Lebanon, one of the most amazing recitals this writer has ever had the privilege of hearing. Not only are all of these persons exceptionally fine musicians, but interesting and gracious personalities as well, as many of our autograph fiends have discovered. See CONCERT, Page Three

Students Attend Conference

The Elizabethtown College Student Volunteers organization was represented at the United Student Volunteer Conference at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa., by twenty-four students. Other colleges represented were Bridgewater, McPherson, North Manchester, and Bethany Biblical Seminary.

Rev. Minor M. Myers, missionary to India; Rev. H. Spenser Minnich, assistant secretary to the General Mission Board; Rev. Wm. Beahm, missionary to Africa; and Rev. Leland Brubaker, director of Young People's Work, comprise the roster of speakers for the conference.

The purpose of United Student Volunteer Conferences is to deepen the spiritual life of the Volunteers, and to increase the knowledge of the missionary enterprise.

The President of the United Student Volunteers is Rev. John Grimsley, of Juniata College, and the vice president is Rev. James H. Beahm, of Elizabethtown College.

Rev. Lewis S. Knepper, Juniata College, was the director of the conference.

Students Photographed

During the past two weeks students have been photographed for the Etownian. Practically all the Seniors and Juniors have already had pictures taken, and some have received proofs.

To present a pleasing effect, men are requested to wear dark coats, white shirts, and dark ties. Drapes will be used on the women.

A charge of one dollar is made for each sitting. This money will be credited toward the purchase price of pictures.

Alumni Council Hold Session

Schedule For Visiting Day Is Approved

The Fall session of the Alumni Council was a dinner meeting in the college dining room on the evening of Founder's Day. The full membership of the Council was present.

The schedule for the annual Visiting Day was approved. President R. W. Schlosser delivered the address at the afternoon program. Norman F. Reber '30, will be the speaker at the Fellowship Dinner. Musical numbers by returning alumni will be presented during the afternoon and also at the Dinner. The evening attractions are two basketball contests. Both the Women's team and the Varsity will stack up against Pharmacy and Science. Both games promise to be hard fought with the result in doubt until the final whistle. The date chosen is Saturday, February 19.

The schedule for Alumni Day, May 28, was outlined with a forenoon session of the Council, an afternoon baseball game, business session at four o'clock and the Alumni Dinner in the evening.

R. K. Eby '26, and Walter W. Eshelman '30, were approved as nominees for Alumni Trustee, the election to be held in connection with the mail ballot in May.

A number of student loans were approved.

Organ Concert Scheduled

Electric Organ To Be Used In Concert By Germani

Students of Elizabethtown College interested in music will soon have the opportunity to hear one of the world's greatest musicians play on one of the world's most modern instruments—the Electric Organ.

Ferdinand Germani, the well-known pianist and director, who discarded his piano and baton for the new instrument, will present a concert in the Forum of the State Education Building in Harrisburg, on Monday evening, December 3.

The concert is being sponsored by the Under-privileged Children's Committee of the Harrisburg Kiwanis Club and all profit will go for the work being carried on in the interests of hundreds of children in this area.

Such musical authorities as Stokowski, Toscanini, and Damrosch have acclaimed the electric organ as one of the most worthwhile contributions to the world of music.

Germani was one of the first musicians to become interested in the electric organ. Like Stokowski he foresaw the possibilities which electricity offered for the development of music in general.

Tickets for the above concert are now on sale at the J. H. Troup Music House, 15 South Market Square, Harrisburg, Pa. Mail orders will be accepted. The price of reserved seat tickets will be $1.50, $1.00 and 75 cents.

L. Bowman Addresses Founder's Day Group In Chapel, Nov. 12th

Noted Speaker At Convention

Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, competent speaker and writer from Philadelphia, will give two addresses to the Intercollegiate Student-Faculty Conference of Eastern Pennsylvania to be held at Gettysburg from December 3 to 5. Dr. Newton will address the group Friday evening on the subject, "What Have We To Share?" Again, on Saturday morning, Dr. Newton will speak about "The How And When of Sharing."

The program roster will include other speakers of prominence. Among these will be Dr. H. W. A. Hanson, President of Gettysburg College; Mr. Charles P. Wuertemberger, General Manager of Conroy-Prugh Company, Pittsburgh; and Mr. M. J. Lee Bausher, Headquarters executive and international trade contact, Bausher Knitting Mills, Reading.

Miss Rebekah Sheaffer, Dean of Women of Elizabethtown College, will lead a discussion group Saturday morning on the subject, "Men and Women Relationships."

Delegates Attend INA Convention

Business Mgr. and Editor Represent Etownian In Conclave Held At Lehigh

Delegates from the leading college newspapers of the Middle Atlantic States convened at Lehigh University, November 12 and 13, for the annual fall convention of the Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Association. The Lehigh University "Brown and White" acted as the host paper.

Carl G. Herr, Business Manager of the Etownian, and Albert F. Bzura, Editor-in-Chief, attended the convention, leaving for Bethlehem Friday morning.

The two-day get-together gave budding journalists an opportunity to work out problems of mutual interest, as well as presenting opportunities to profit by the experiences of practicing journalists. See CONVENTION, Page Four

Hold Initiation Rites, Nov. 16

Tuesday evening, November 16, the Sock and Buskin held their formal initiation ceremonies at the home of Miss Sheaffer, Faculty Advisor and Coach, in Bareville.

Paul Hoffman '38, and James Linton '38, were granted membership. Miss Beverly Noll was accepted as an Associate Member, due to the fact she is a graduate of another college, and participated in aramatic work there.

Garland Hoover '38, and Harold Saylor '39, will participate in one act plays before they will hold full membership.

Advancing to full membership from last year's conditional are Grace Ernst '38, Helen Myers '38, Evelyn Duerst '38 and Lois Brehm '39.

Mildred Miller '38, president, is now coaching the one act play, "Art and Mrs. Palmer" which the Junior Sock and Buskin will present to the Sock and Buskin club in the near future.

At the next regular meeting Miss Noll will lead a discussion on the subject of theatrical make-up.

Dr. Bowman Speaks At Ceremonies; President Schlosser, Historian

On the evening of November 12, Dr. Linn Bowman, Restoration Director of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, addressed students, alumni and friends of the college in the annual Founder's Day exercises commemorating the founding of the college.

Preceding Dr. Bowman in the program, President Schlosser briefly outlined the history of the College, and gave four phases of Christian education, or objectives of a Christian college. These are: to develop a citizenship conscience, to develop respect and appreciation for the home, to prepare the student for what he is best fitted by nature to do, and to develop an appreciation of the beautiful.

Some interesting facts mentioned by President Schlosser are that the college now has a total of over nine hundred alumni and that eighty per cent. of the graduates are in the teaching profession.

In the principal address of the evening, Dr. Bowman stated that the average age of the criminal today is twenty-six as compared to forty-six fifty years ago. The average education of the criminal group is below the fifth grade level.

E-town students were reminded of the responsibility concomitant with their advantages, for education is one of the greatest anti-criminal influences in modern society. The Christian influence is almost equally important. Dr. Bowman has found that practically all who get into crime first break connections with the Sunday School and the Church. "You can't be under Christian influence and get into crime at the same time."

Dr. Bowman also emphasized the necessity of a good background as a preventive serum, in moral and religious education.

Speaking on the causes of crime, Dr. Bowman gave economic limitation as the chief factor in making the American criminal of today. This is the day of dress, extravagance, and amusements. Modern flaming youth, by self denial, must master his economic crises. "Sacrifice will never be a dead virtue."

Another cause of crime rests in the failure to remember that one is his brother's keeper. You don't own your own life. You must so regulate your life that it will render the most good to the people about you.

Present Program

Sunday evening, November 21, the Hummel Street Church of the Brethren in Harrisburg, observed a Family Night. Elmer Q. Gleim preached on the theme, "Habits in the Home."

A quartet composed of Orpha Frantz, Mary Velter, Charles Booz, James Buffenmyer rendered three songs relative to the occasion. Miss Ruth Rishel gave a reading on "We Are All Here."

This program was designed to have the young people present a challenge to the adults to a return to religious life in the home.

New Boiler

The boiler room beneath Memorial Hall has recently been enlarged to give space for an additional one thousand dollar boiler. The addition is aimed to give Alpha Hall and Memorial Hall a more efficient heating system. To date there are two furnaces and one boiler.

THANKSGIVING

In the natural course of events, Elizabethtown College will celebrate the Thanksgiving holidays.

In order to set any student right who thinks he has nothing to be thankful for, we would like to point out just a few "events" that should make the heart of almost any one happy to overflowing and offer thanksgiving.

The first thing we should all be thankful for is the receipt of our report cards. When we take this documentary evidence of our excellent school record home with us, it should be a cinch to convince the "Governor" that we really deserve an increase in allowance, so that the social side of our education will not be neglected. The presentation of this report at the right time should be a most convincing argument in opening up the purse strings wide. Any student should be able to do this.

Secondly, the much discussed "reg'lations one two 'neight" will be lifted at the close of the holidays. To many, this will be the most joyful event of all—something that they have been looking forward to. This should mean the launching of a new social order on the campus.

Then, too, the holidays should provide a breathing spell in which to catch up on sleep, food, and other processes inadequately provided for in dormitory life.

SOCIAL ROOM ETIQUETTE

Several years ago the students of Elizabethtown College organized a Social Room Committee. Out of the work of this Committee grew the beautifully appointed Social Room as we have it today. The furniture purchased for this room was of the best. No expense was spared in making this room comfortable and attractive.

Our beef is concerned with the condition of several pieces of furniture in the room.

Time and time again we have been asked to "stay off the arms of the chairs". Yet, seemingly, no attention is paid to these requests, which, anyone will admit, are entirely within reason. As a result, the condition of a few of the chairs is deplorable; with some, the arms are almost ready to drop off from sheer weariness from supporting the weight of students who persist in violating this rule.

For the sake of economy, as well as for the sake of appearances, let's keep off the arms of chairs and davenport in the Social Room.

THE AWFUL TRUTH

Verily, verily—stark realism is stalking the Elizabethtown College Campus.

No, no one is producing "Tobacco Road" or any other modern play; neither has the library acquired copies of "Gone With The Wind" or "An American Tragedy".

The realism we have reference to has to do with the proofs of pictures of students who have been "mugged" for the ETOWNIAN.

Without mentioning any names, several students can be seen walking around with "blood in their eye" and more than one has been overheard muttering to himself, after examination of the "pitchers".

"It's the truth that hurts!"

Idiosyncrasies and Irrelevancies

Contributions to this column will be welcome. All contributions must be signed and placed on the desk of the Editor, Room 247.

A victim of circumstances—On Monday he came to class unprepared because he slept on Sunday afternoon because he ate too much for Sunday dinner because he was terribly hungry because he missed breakfast because he slept too long because he studied so much on Saturday night because the professors assigned so much work on Friday. Why? Because they thought he had a whole week end and nothing else to do.

Thanksgiving

Let us give thanks
 To the Lord, the Giver of life,
 For the intangible realities;
 For the infinite joys of living,
 For strength, health, happiness,
 And all that ennoble the soul;
 For friends to help and be helped by,
 For home, and the peace and the love that abide there;
 For sunshine warming our hearts,
 And wind to dry our tears,
 The rain to refresh the earth and blot out the sin-stains.

May our gratitude be sincere and right from the heart.
 Not alone by words of praise,
 But also by deeds of service
 In our lives from day to day,
 For evermore,
 Let us give thanks.

—Haroun.

The Ideal Boy

1. He pays the bills.
2. He's not so good-looking.
3. He pays the bills.
4. He doesn't dance so well.
5. He pays the bills.

—The Comenian.

We presume, then, that the Ideal Girl—

1. Doesn't eat much.
2. Is not too good looking.
3. Doesn't eat much.
4. Is not too good a dancer.
5. Doesn't eat much.

SPIRIT OF THANKSGIVING

The fundamental spirit which the Thanksgiving season should convey is a spirit of God-consciousness. Our forefathers of Plymouth Colony would not accept physical comfort or luxury without thanking the God of comfort and luxury. They realized that the deer which Massasoit shot, and the fowl which the Pilgrim hunters brought from the forests, were given by God. They recognize that God made provision for them by placing these bounties in the forests for their use.

In our era we are often ungrateful because we lack a consciousness of the presence and providence of God. Our forefathers knew what we, their posterity, are prone to forget: That every blessing comes to us in this divine world because we folk are the living children of the living God. He creates and we cooperate in his creation. We plant and He waters. He teaches the winds to blow and the rivers to flow, and we use the wind for the mainsail and the waters for our turbines.

*****

Thanksgiving should inspire us to give God pre-eminence. In Virgil (Eclogue III) the leading singer in a musical contest begins with a recognition of his supreme deity: "With Jove I begin; all things are full of Jove."

To be receiving bountifully without a grateful response for the blessings is to reveal a soul that is mean. Ingratitude is base.

To form the habit of gratitude, on the other hand, is to expand the soul. The Psalmist in his notes of thanksgiving is always at his best. To be ever conscious of the Giver behind the gift, to realize that all blessings, material, as well as spiritual, have their source in the thought and care of a provident Father, must necessarily direct the thought from the seen to the unseen and eternal realities. Thus in the very act of Thanksgiving the spiritual asserts its ascendancy.

Certain circumstances in experience recalls to my mind the appreciative spirit of David the Psalmist, as he reviews his adversities: "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?" These words were born out of adverse circumstances. The response is: "I will offer to thee the sacrifice of thanksgiving, and will call upon the name of the Lord." David teaches us that appreciation should be shown for the values of adversities.

Finally, God should be recognized as the One who prevents the destroying influence of destructive forces. We should be thankful for that evil which did not happen to us. For example, are we thankful that we were not killed as we walked along the street yesterday?

Thankfulness for the existence of God, for the material and spiritual provisions of God, or the adversities, and for the "unoccurred evil" should draw forth a true spirit at this season of the year.

Student Forum

(The Etownian is not responsible for articles printed in this column. Students desiring to express opinions should place contributions on the press desk in Room 247).

My Dear Mr. Editor:

There seems to be some grumbling going on among the student body—especially the brainy sector of the campus, better known as the seniors. There seems to be several seniors on the campus who do not approve of the Sophomore's actions toward the freshmen last Friday evening. Of course we can account for that. Just because their gluttonous appetites were not satisfied they vomit and spew their anger to the student body and call us yellow.

If you want the attitude which should be conveyed to the student body, ask any freshman who was at the party. One came to me the next day and said, "You Sophomores really deserve credit; that was the most sportsmanlike act I've seen on this campus." So, there remains instead of a feud, a friendly spirit between the two classes.

Of course we don't care much what these complainers said because they happen to be the chronic spewers on the campus.

As the vitriol is almost all gone from my pen, I do hope these bilious war clouds part and let the sun show us in our true light.

Signed,

"Indignant Sophomore"

Dear Editor:

Do you realize Freshmen regulations have about reached their termination? And I have been wondering, WHAT regulations will be lifted? The regulations this year have been so inconspicuous, microscopic, and minute, that it would take the powerful lens of an ultramicroscope to detect them.

Why doesn't E-town install some regulations that would mean something? Something that the students would look back upon—after being out of college for some years—with a feeling of nostalgia. This is not uncommon in other institutions.

School spirit on our campus is very dormant, and I think some vital regulations would help to establish this feeling, beginning when we are freshmen, which would continue throughout our college career.

If you have ever had the pleasure of walking past or of being on the F. & M. campus, you will see students walking around wearing dinks, a large green bow tie, and black socks. These emblems aside from distinguishing the freshmen from the upper classmen, help to instill the proper spirit of respect in the minds of freshmen. In other words, they serve to take cocky high school seniors down a peg or two, where they belong.

Do you think it would be too rude a thing, or that it would break down the bonds of conservatism too much, to establish such regulations on our campus? Some proposed regulations to fit the Elizabethtown Campus are: (1) dinks for freshmen; (2) bow ties; (3) black socks; (4) forcing freshmen to use the right hand walk leading to Alpha Hall, etc.

Perhaps these remarks are out of place, but I am sure they express the opinion of quite a few upper classmen.

Yours truly,

X. Y. Z.

Dear Editor:

A certain affair occurred on this campus recently which, in my estimation, and the estimation of numerous fellow students, does not measure up to college calibre. Speaking specifically, I have reference to the manner in which the Sophomores treated the occasion of the freshman party.

What is this college coming to when the Sophomores have to be bribed not to molest the freshmen?

When we come to the point where we can not have any class rivalry between the Sophomores and the freshmen—a tradition common to all schools of higher learning—it is a sad state of affairs. One thing that makes for school spirit is the traditional rivalry between the two lower classes. School spirit can not and will not exist in an atmosphere where there is no differentiation between upper classmen and lower classmen.

One of the primary lessons to be learned in college is that freshmen should respect the upper classmen. As we all know, we have several students on the campus—freshmen and sophomores alike—who are sadly neglecting in this characteristic. This is due, I believe, because we have fallen into the habit of not putting the freshmen, when they are freshmen, into their place. I would be glad to hear just why this has not been done.

Yours truly,

"Irate Upperclassman"

ALONG THE Sport Trail

The first item that catches one's eye in glancing over local football is the excellent toeing record of Lebanon Valley's ace half-back, Tony Rozman . . . . Tony has eased no less than six field goals over the bar this season, and on three occasions his boot provided the winning margin for the Flying Dutchmen . . . . This is another evidence that the rule-makers should return the goal-posts to the goal-line . . . . With a help like that, the Steelton product might rival the great automatic kicking of Jack Manders or Tillie Manton.

The Diplomats of F. & M. have a great plunger and a polished, nerveless kicker in Sam Roeder, the Junior fullback . . . . It's boys like Rozman and Roeder who are putting the foot back in football . . . . This boy Roeder is considered one of the best running backs in the East besides his punting ability, and he is aided greatly by Jim Flowers, a hard running Sophomore halfback . . . . Next year the Diplomats continue to broaden their schedule when they meet Army, and with the A-1 material, plus a number of seasoned upper-classmen, the Holman clan should make a good showing against larger schools.

From observing early basketball sessions, we can see that the elimination of the center-jump after field goals has speeded the game up to its swiftest tempo . . . . The Blue and Gray basketballers of the Hill are minus five of last year's varsity, but there are some seasoned cagers left, and Coach Herr can and will come out with a streamlined edition that will make all rivals sit up and take notice.

Undefeated Lafayette is returning to big-time fame . . . . and why not, with "Hooks" Mylin, whom the big-town sports writers are referring to as "miracle man", at the helm? Mylin, once an F. & M. luminary, had a great career at Bucknell . . . . His 1935 Bison team met Catholic U. in Miami's Orange Bowl classic . . . . An Ephrata boy, George Klieck, is now substitute fullback with Bucknell . . . . too bad George just missed "Doc" Mylin's treatments.

In an earlier chapter we picked Pittsburgh to go through its season undefeated and to play in the Rose Bowl, but advance reports from Pasadena reveal that the Rose Bowl authorities are not thinking any too kindly on the powerful Panthers to oppose their western choice . . . . The Sutherland mob packs a little too much dynamite for any of the coast representatives . . . . They play by far and wide the toughest schedule in the country, but apparently more is required of a team than being the cream of the crop . . . . Well, it would be too bad for mighty California to get jolted too roughly; Alabama or Fordham will do the job just about right anyway.

Speaking of perfect records, "Lone Star" Dietz has a crew at Albright that boasts of an undefeated record marred only by a tie with Ursinus, which can be a top defensive team at times . . . . We haven't heard any mention made of the Reading squad's impressive record, although it really bears mention . . . . Albright's star halfback, Dick Riffle, made the Little All-America last year, and is having another great season, being placed on the third All-East team.

Local boys make good—last year's line star of Franklin and Marshall, Woody Sponaugle and Bernie Santaniello are pros now . . . . Sponaugle, one of the best line backer-uppers ever to grace a Pennsylvania greenward, has been switched to an end position on the Allentown team . . . . Notice that Temple's Pop Warner and Columbia's Lou Little (soon to move to Penn), two coaches who know, have tipped off the Rules Committee to limit football defense next year . . . . They claim that defense is growing too fast in comparison with the opening up of offensive tactics . . . . And incidentally someone ought to tip off yours truly to stop rambling and hold his peace for a while.

Etown Cagers Face Hardest Schedule In Many Years

By Dave Brandt

Coach Ira Herr on Friday officially announced the Elizabethtown College basketball schedule for the coming season. Eighteen contests are on the slate for the Blue and Gray passers, including games with four new teams, Bucknell University, Blue Ridge, Wilson Teachers of Washington D. C., and Upsala. Of the eighteen games, ten are at home and eight away.

The hardest battle of the year shapes up as early as December 13, when the Hillians will journey to Lewisburg to stack up against the rugged Bucknell dribblers. However, none of the other games are breathers, for the hardest schedule in years is on tap. The big games at home will, of course, be the Juniata encounter on January 15, and the Susquehanna clash on February 1. The season opens with Maryland at home, on December 10.

Five members of last year's varsity will be missing and quite a few new faces will probably be seen when the Galloping Ghosts sport their brand new livery on the local floor against Maryland. From last year's varsity remain "Long Luke" Sauder, Sam Jones, Johnny Espen-shade, Roy Rudisill, and Merle Heckler. Around these men the attack will be built. The Freshman class offers few possibilities, although Ross Coulson, Stan Disney, and Bob Keller have shown some promise.

Coach Herr declared that the Ghosts, "will give them all a run for their money." Pointing out the small size of E-town in comparison with rival schools, he said, "We have one of the hardest schedules in this vicinity in all sports, but we always keep in the running. Our athletic teams certainly have proved worthy in the past few years and we hope to continue to do so."

Building Courts

Three new tennis courts are being built along the northern end of the Campus. The proposed plan is to make the courts of the lawn type.

According to Coach Ira Herr, these additional tennis courts will be ready for use at the beginning of the 1938 tennis season.

Aside from giving additional beauty to our campus, the proposed courts will fill a much needed demand for more room. After completion, there will be a total of seven courts—three lawn and four clay.

Concert

Concerts of great interest and worth still in the future are the following: Rose Bampton, Metropolitan Opera soprano; Sigrid Onegin, Norwegian contralto; Lotte Lehmann, German soprano and recognized master of the German Lied; Harold Bauer, masterful American pianist; and Jose Iturbi, Spanish pianist, noted especially for his marvelously clear and ringing touch.

Soccer Team Earns Victory

The newly initiated soccer team overcame their inexperience by defeating a strong Mount Joy High School team last Monday. The final score being 4-3.

The fray gained interest when Mount Joy scored the first point early in the opening period, and E-town taking the lead in the second. Leister and Kulp succeeded in coursing the ball through the goal in the first and second periods respectively. To increase the interest, Mount Joy forged ahead by one point in the third quarter only to fall in defeat in the fourth on points scored by Tom Garber and Meyer.

Crider, playing center forward for the high school, managed to push over two of their three points, with Kretzing booting the other.

National Education Week Is Celebrated

Dr. Gerald Whitney Speaks On Horace Mann Day

"The number of young people growing up and facing unemployment and who probably are not going to secure employment as readily as in the past gives education a larger problem today than ever before," declared Dr. Gerald Whitney, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, former professor at the University of Pittsburgh, in an address to the student body in connection with the celebration of Horace Mann Day, in National Education Week.

"If it be true," Dr. Whitney further stated, "that the longer we prolong the growth—the better the individual, here we have a splendid opportunity to do this. We must prolong the period of growth of the youth of today."

"Young people must go to school until they are 18 years of age, instead of 16; if a student is through with high school before he is 18 years old, and has not found employment, then he will be forced to continue going to school until he has reached the age of 18."

To carry through this plan requires money. In an effort to bring this plan into action, sixty million dollars will be distributed to the school districts from sources other than local. The trend, as Dr. Whitney pointed out, is to tap more sources of taxes other than real estate—40 per cent of which bears 85 per cent of the cost of education. "More taxes on intangibles than on tangibles" is the cry of educators, believing that more than one-half of the support of the public schools should come from the State.

In pointing out the background of public school education, Dr. Whitney stated that public school administration is neither national, state, or local, but rather a function of all three. The local board is not supreme and is only an agency of the state. If the State changes its mind then, perforce, the local board must change its mind also.

Another startling statement made was that crime costs the United States citizen ten times what he pays for education. "Hence our desire to cut down crime by improving the prolongation of the growth period of our youth of today," said Dr. Whitney.

According to Dr. Whitney, the past year has been a boom year for the passing of state legislation with reference to education. Some of the most important laws passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature in an effort to improve the education field were:

1. Attendance laws.
2. Tuition laws.
3. Obligatory testing of hearing of school children on the part of the State.
4. Special county supervision.
5. Better provisions for medical attention in fourth class school districts.
6. Special bills which increase the lines along vocational training.
7. Teacher tenure law.
8. Increasing the minimum salary of teachers from $800 to $1000.
9. Sabbatical leave law.

In closing his address Dr. Whitney said, "Let us not be satisfied that our educational status of the past has been sufficient. Education really means remaking an individual from day to day. Let us see if we can not in some substantial way continue to improve the means of education."

Anti-Syphilis Campaign Launched

The representatives of the student newspapers also resolved to organize an anti-syphilis campaign.

Phyllip S. Broughton, informational representative of the United States Public Health Service, addressed the general session after the round table discussions. One of the significant statements made was that the "rate in colleges is small, perhaps the smallest of any group surveyed to date."

Dr. Neal Carothers, dean of the College of Business Administration at Lehigh, was the guest speaker at the banquet held Saturday evening at the Hotel Bethlehem. He defined the journalistic profession as one in which an individual could achieve brilliant, satisfying success and in which there were the largest chances of failure.

Testing Children

The Mount Joy Elementary Schools, with W. E. Nitrauer as Supervising Principal and Mervin Brandt at Principal, have requested that Elizabethtown College make a survey of the elementary students. This survey will include a testing of intelligence and also of achievement.

The purpose of the survey is to determine the educational age, the educational quotient, and the accomplishment ratio of the children of the Mount Joy schools. The educational age answers the question, Is the child as old, or older, or just old enough for the grade in which he is now placed? The educational aims, to discover whether or not the child has made progress educationally which is comparable to his chronological age. The accomplishment ratio determines whether or not the child uses all of his 'mental Horse Power'. From these discoveries various relationships will finally be shown by a correlation technique.

Students who will study in Educational Measurements under the instruction of Dr. Breidenstine will administer the test, and interpret the results.

The tests in intelligence were given Tuesday and Thursday, November 16 and 18 respectively. The tests in achievement will be made during the second semester of the college year.

After interpretations have been made, three bound typewritten copies will be presented to the Mt. Joy School authorities.

Returns From Preaching Tour

Dr. R. W. Schlosser has recently returned from a preaching mission in the State of Virginia, sponsored by the National Preaching Mission of the United States.

The State of Virginia chose the Sunday week following Thanksgiving, up until December 5, to have Dr. Schlosser conduct preaching missions in the leading cities and in the rural communities, as well as in the colleges of the State.

Dr. Schlosser preached to the student bodies of Bridgewater College, Harrisonburg State Teachers College, Eastern Mennonite School and Shenandoah College during the day, addressing the students in their regular chapel services, and also speaking in the evening to large audiences of Brethren Church members. Dr. Schlosser also spoke to the student body of Bridgewater High School.

The nature of Dr. Schlosser's themes were chiefly on the doctrines of the Church and their relation to the program of Christian living. "A man's life is more or less determined by what he believes. His philosophy of life is very much dependent upon what he believes", was one of the most challenging statements made.

After January first, Dr. Schlosser will take the field, calling upon Alumni and Churches of the Brethren for the purpose of raising approximately ten thousand dollars toward the improvement program on the campus. During the past few months considerable improvements have already been made: All the dormitories have been refurnished and renovated, a new boiler has been installed and the last of the campus drives has been macadamized.

Sopranos To Be Heard On Series

The present lull in the Community Concert presentations gives us an opportunity to glean a few facts about the concerts to be given in January. These concerts will be: Lotte Lehmann, at Lancaster, on January 24, and Rose Bampton on January 27, at Lebanon.

Miss Lehmann, German Soprano, holds an enviable position in music. She is universally considered the acme of perfection in that colorful field of song, the German Lied. We may look forward to hearing Schubert and Brahms sung as we never heard them sung before.

Miss Bampton, Metropolitan Opera soprano, has a most unique and unusual record. Following her period of training at Curtis Institute, she entered the Metropolitan Opera Company's roster as a contralto. Serving in this capacity for a number of years, she became mezzo-soprano. Recently she has completed her remarkable metamorphosis by entering the select group of Metropolitan sopranos.

Those interested in comparing musicians within their particular fields may be thankful for this coincidence which brings to us two superb sopranos within a period of three days.

Receive Yearbooks

Through the courtesy of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace the library recently received a number of yearbooks issued annually by the Endowment. Each volume contains a record of the various activities of the Endowment to create a mind for international peace. The recent addition of yearbooks completes the library file from 1924 to the present date.

DR. R. W. SCHLOSSER

Children To Be Feted Tuesday

Tuesday evening, December 21st, the Y. M. C. A. of Elizabethtown College will hold their yearly Christmas party for the benefit of the grade school children of Elizabethtown, in the "Y" Rooms in the men's dormitory.

The purpose of this annual feting of the poorer children of the town is to provide a Christmas spirit which otherwise would be lacking.

The program will consist of entertainment through song and story telling, and will be followed by refreshments. The climax of the evening will be the presentation of gifts to each child by a student who will have the role of Santa Claus.

This annual party has been looked forward to by the children of the town, and has always proved successful and has been received with enthusiasm.

Mr. Roy Rudisill, president of the Y. M. C. A., has appointed the following committees to arrange the party: Decoration, Elmer Gleim, Harrisburg; Transportation, Norman Baugher, Hershey; Program, Richard Shaul, Richland; Gifts, Carl Herr, Elizabethtown.

Etownian Joins Anti-Syphilis Campaign; Wasserman Test In Health Examinations Is Advocated

The ETOWNIAN, together with many other college newspapers of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, has joined in a nation-wide drive against syphilis. Following is the resolution passed at the above convention:

Whereas, college students recognize the problem of syphilis an unnecessary and dangerous plague, and

Whereas, we, as college students recognize the problem as one of solution, to a large degree, through education, and

Whereas, we know that the disease can be arrested, prevented, and removed as a major enemy, and

Whereas, we feel that we, as college editors, are in a position to promote the national campaign in a field little touched, and

Whereas, institutions in our association have proven the practicability and success of campaigns of this nature, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association set up machinery to carry the fight against syphilis into the institutions comprising its membership to bring the problem to the attention of the student bodies through the newspapers.

Wasserman Tests Recommended

The editors propose to combat this social disease by educating college students against syphilis—placing

Rounds Out Decade of Service

To most of the college faculty and students it may not be known, though, nevertheless, it is true, that Dr. A. C. Baugher has just rounded out a decade of service as Dean of Instruction of the College. During this period the Dean has applied himself with wholehearted devotion to his prescribed duties; not only has he introduced a fine consultation service, but he has also installed a modern college filing system.

Firm, cordial, considerate, just, the Dean has magnified his office during the past ten years. If the advances made may be taken as a barometer, the progress to be made during the next decade will outstrip that of the preceding.

Xmas Banquet On Monday

Monday evening, December 20, the Annual Christmas Banquet will be held in the college dining hall at 6 p. m.

Miss Mildred Miller, Chairman of the Program Committee, has arranged an interesting program to entertain the students before they leave for Christmas recess, beginning Wednesday noon, and ending at 10 a. m. on January 4.

The well known Christmas play, "Why The Chimes Rang", will again be presented in the auditorium immediately after the banquet. James Beahm, will play the part of Hoyer, the Big rother; Miss Eva Gonder, will be the Little Brother, Steen; Richard Shaul, will be cast in the role of Bartel, the Uncle; and Miss Helen Myers, will be the Old Woman. Miss Mary Moore will portray the Spirit of Christmas in the worship program.

Professor Forrest Weller, professor of Sociology, will be the toastmaster. No speakers have been engaged, as all speaking will be extemporaneous.

Bible Institute To Be Held On Campus In January

DR. A. C. BAUGHER

S. & B. Entertains In Chapel

A felt need for a return to religious drama incited the Sock and Buskin dramatic club to render a unique Chapel program on Thursday, December 2. The Church was pictured to the student body as the Church Universal, the Church Militant, the Church Eternal, and the Church Triumphant. The Cross, held by the Church, transformed Ignorance to Enlightenment, Social Injustice to Social Justice, Universal Wickedness to a Universal Spirituality, and Despondency to a life of Faith.

Miss Beverly Noll symbolized the Church; Miss Mildred Miller represented a Bible Scholar; Miss Helen Myers, Miss Lois Brehm, James Beahm, and Sam Jones represented Universal Wickedness, Ignorance, Despondency, and Social Injustice, respectively. Miss Helen Duder and Miss Evelyn Duerst were nerals.

38th Annual Bible In- stitute Plans Complete; Dr. Horne, Speaker

The 38th Annual Bible Institute at Elizabethtown College will begin on Sunday, January 23, and will continue for one week. The most outstanding lecturer at the Institute will be Dr. Herman H. Horne, professor of History of Education and History of Philosophy at New York University. Dr. Horne, who is well known because of his books on education, philosophy, and religion, will be on our campus on Friday, January 28. The themes of his lectures will be, "The Challenge of the Church Today" and "The Old Church and the New State."

According to present plans, the Institute will begin with a program in the Church of the Brethren, Washington Street, on Sunday, January 23. At this service, Minor Myers, a missionary to China, will be the speaker.

The theme for discussion at 9.30 a. m., every morning during the following week, is "The Church in Her Relation to: Peace among Nations, Economic Problems, Temperance, Our Home Life, Our Rural Life, Personal Christian Living." These lectures are in charge of Rev. F. S. Carper, Palmyra; Dr. Forrest Weller, Dr. R. W. Schlosser, Dr. A. C. Baugher, Dr. A. G. Breidenstine, and Rev. M. J. Weaver. At 10.30 a. m. each morning, Dr. Floyd Mallot will conduct a book study of Ecclesiastes.

In the afternoon session, Minor Myers will lecture on "The Challenge of the Church to Our Youth". Dr. Rufus Bowman will speak on Saturday afternoon and evening on "The Challenge of the Ministry" and "Jesus Stands Supreme". Dr. Bowman is president of the Bethany Biblical Seminary.

Group conferences, to be held at 2:45 p. m., will be led by Dr. H. K. Ober, Dr. Floyd Mallot, Elizabeth Oberholtzer, Dr. Rufus Bowman, and Florence Gibbel.

In the evening program, Minor Myers and Elizabeth Oberholtzer will discuss, "The Mission Field". The evening sermons will be delivered by Minor Myers, Floyd Mallot. (See INSTITUTE, Page 4)

Dr. Ober Speaks

Monday evening, December 6, Dr. H. K. Ober spoke at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Y. M. C. A. in the Y rooms.

In his talk, Dr. Ober stressed his belief that between a stimulus and response there is an adjustment. In the Christain's life this adjustment is the Holy Spirit, and determines the response given to the stimulus.

Dr. Ober also stated that before we can have others accept our ideals we must instill in them the desire for the ideal. We cannot force anyone to accept an ideal, only in getting an individual to want an ideal can we get him to live a Christian life.

Hold Pep Meeting

The second "pep meeting" of the season was held on Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m., in the Gymnasium. At the assembly four Freshman cheer leaders, Florence Getz, Betty Forney, Marguerite Hoover, and Allegra Royer, together with the two Sophomore hold-overs, Margaret Curry and Maurice Rishel introduced six new yells, contrived by the upperclassmen with four-ply yearling support. At the conclusion of the meeting the varsity, wearing its 1937-38 regalia for the first time, put in its appearance.

Editorial

The subject of syphilis is one of the greatest questions of today. Formerly, it was a question of treatment, but now it is a question of prevention, of eradication, of the protection of the well against the contamination of the sick. It is a question of public health, and as such we are bound to meet it.

At the recent convention of the members of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, all the college papers present pledged themselves to the enlightening of the public on all questions of public health.

What is proposed is to give the existing boards of health the same power over syphilis that they now possess over cholera, smallpox, and yellow fever. They now have the power of ferreting out these diseases and they should have the same power of searching out the abode of syphilis and of seeking to prevent it; of sending its victims to hospitals for treatment.

Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General, United States Public Health Service, in an address delivered at the Eighty-eighth Annual Session of the American Medical Association, says, "I would include syphilis in the great family of contagious or communicable diseases and make it subject to the same laws and regulations that we already possess for their management . . . . ."

"Shall it be said that we, the representatives of the medical profession of a great nation will longer let the people remain in ignorance of the dangers that surround them? WE must boldly proclaim the truth and scatter it broadcast over the length and breadth of the land."

In keeping with this policy, the United States Public Health Service enlisted the aid of the member papers of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association to fight this dread disease by disseminating information relative to its control.

We know the cause of syphilis. We know how it spreads. We know how the individual can avoid the risk of infection. With the dark field we can diagnose the disease promptly as soon as it is infectious. We have an accurate method of recognizing the disease in all except the first few weeks and in its later less active stages.

More important than these scientific weapons is another more recent one: an aroused public sentiment. If the public can be aroused to slough off the veil of ignorance and shame relative to this disease, and come to think of it in the light of any other contagious, communicable disease, the battle is half over. But until this reversal of thought comes about, syphilis will continue to strike down its staggering total of human lives; will continue to cause innumerable cases of insanity; will continue to cause blindness in those children of infected parents, who have escaped the fate of death at birth.

Within the past year the sentiment of organized medicine has been expressed in an editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association: "The conquest of syphilis is the next great objective in public health . . . . The history of medical progress shows instance after instance in which the combined efforts of physicians, public health officials, educators and the public, syphilis can be conquered next."

Idiosyncrasies and Irrelevancies

Contributions to this column will be welcome. All contributions must be signed and placed on the desk of the Editor, Room 247.

We feel that those students who displayed their school spirit to the extent of carrying placards exhorting the basketball team to "Beat Maryland" should be commended.

We hear that one of the great scientific minds of the campus could not figure out a way to extricate himself from a wastebasket on the second floor of Fairview.

Imagine Austin Ruth's embarrassment upon writing to an old sweetheart and learning that she has become a Mrs.

A casual visit to Room 310 proves that the students in the men's dormitory really enjoy the "comforts of home".

See if you can figure this one out. I can't.
"What's Susie's last name?"
"Susie who?"

Overheard: "I'm getting out of school just what I paid for it, and I didn't pay my bill yet."

The following bit of verse was occasioned by we know not what:
Don't you cry
You'll be in the soup bowl
By and by.

Rudisill has turned "pitcher salesman" for a photographic firm in York. This is no ad, but he promises mercy in all cases.

Harding: Is it true your dad is a trustee?
Stouffer: Yes.
Harding: What's his name?
Stouffer: Stouffer.
Harding: Oh!

There is, reputedly, a Senior on the campus who marked a multiple choice test as a true and false test and still made a passing grade.

Several members of the Spanish class, after noting Smith's Spanish translations, wonder what mark he'll receive for Latin.

Oscar Wise (in rook game): "According to the law of averages we ought to win a game anytime now—that is if Roosevelt hasn't had it repealed."

Kohler: Isn't there a law or something in the Handbook against the serving of prehistoric monsters in the dining room?
(Ed. It all depends upon which way you look at it.)

The Seniors seem to be making this column with a bang. We have just heard of one who spent considerable time in looking for a book in the Library, from which he had been instructed to read. Later on, he discovered that it was his textbook he had been searching for.

Some girls acquire keys, some rings, but one enterprising damsel on this campus has a knack for acquiring cars—particularly a "yaller Buick roadster".

Someone ought to bring it to Dr. Musick's attention that the author of "Believe It or Not" is Robert Ripley, and not Robert Riley.

Grace Ernst: I read that all great women are dead.
Jabes Beahm: I wish you were great.

Student Forum

(The Etownian is not responsible for articles printed in this column. Students desiring to express opinions should place contributions on the press desk in Room 247).

Dear Editor:

Below are a few lines I hope you might print. They may prove of value to some people on our campus.

To The Men:

Gentlemen, did it ever occur to you that every Sunday nite and sometimes through the week, you spend someone's hard earned money on some foolish, fickle dame.

Now, to you who have some masculine features about yourselves why don't you wake up to the facts? You spend your money on these so called "Beauties" for what? For nothing that gives back either a quarter or a fifty-cent piece. Do you realize that those women get allowances as well as you do?

Have they ever spent money on you? Of course not! They think that you'll be a sucker and play the game the way they want it played. That is—you give, they take.

Why don't you work this date business on a fifty-fifty basis. If you pay this weekend, let her pay the next. If you try this, you'll discover in no time at all that your wallet does not go flat nearly as quick as it did when you paid the bill each and every time.

Let's try it fellows. If we all do this, then they can't squawk.

To The Women:

Ladies, just a little friendly advice. Do you care for that man? If you do, and want to hold him, then give him a break. Don't make the poor boy sacrifice all his own pleasures, just for the sake of being with you one evening in the week. Why not pay the bill sometimes? You'll make him just as quickly that way, if not quicker, than by the old method of "You Chase Me".

So, just pretend it's Leap Year again and give the poor fellows a break. I can promise you that you won't be called gold diggers in the bull sessions held down in Fairview, then.

Get your man and hold him, by chipping in on your share of the expenses.

Signed,
"It's the Scotch in Me"

DECLARATION FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE

EDITOR OF THE ETOWNIAN.

Dear Sir:

When in the course of the first semester it becomes necessary for the third floor tenants of Faire View Apartments to dissolve the social bands which have connected them to another and to assume among the powers of the dormitory the separate and equal rite of blissful submergence to which the laws of nature and our 118.75 entitle us, a descent respect to our fellow sufferers requires that they should declare the causes which impeded their attention on December thoid.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are—existence, tranquillity after Day is done, and the persute of repose in the drowsy arms of Morpheus; that to secure these rites student consels are instituted among students, deriving there tyrannical powers from the consent of the governed.

But when a long train of water-throwing and other abuses (Day after Day) persuing invariably the same person and reducing him to utter sleeplessness, it is their privilege to seek rewenge and pervide new guards for there future sekurity.

Such has been the peyshunt sufference of these freshman martirs, but it apertes the student cownsul was like the Anshunt Mariner—"he stoppeth one of three."

Signed,
A Sandwich Man Syphatizer.

"ABE" says--

A NEW WORLD CHRISTMAS

As the Wise Men saw His star in the East, peoples everywhere, rich and poor, highly placed or lowly, have been searching the sky for the breaking of a new day on their civilization. A great mass of people have searched the dome of the sky for the luminaries of the ages, and have discovered the "dayspring from on high, and thus their lives have been filled with a new peace, a new joy, a new light.

Let all the world at this season awaken to a cognizance of the new era which Christ has ushered in. Before Christ a great number of years came the age of Power, or the age of the strong man. In that era Nimrod was the hero after the world's heart. In the second stage, Power is pushed back a step or two, and Intellect comes to the front. The great man is the intellectual man. In that era Homer is the favorite among the populace.

Christianity inaugurated a new era in history; it points the world, not to Nimrod or Homer, but to a Child—not to Power, or Genius, but to Goodness. The great man must henceforth be the good man.

Dr. Joseph Fort Newton, of Philadelphia, a number of years ago, said: "Christmas is the theology of a civilization yet to be. Like the early Christians, we must live in an air of expectancy, as of something immense impending, of a profound change to take place. For us there have been two divisions of time, before and after Christ; and so we reckon our days. But a new division may yet be marked, to which the second period is leading, as the first led to the second." We share the thought that the world dare not be content in its present era of nationalism, materialism, and force. We must rise to a higher life, the life of Goodness. Once this is achieved we shall have a new world Christmas.

We won't vouch for the accuracy of this story, but we'll print it anyhow.

It seems that one of the new Romance language teachers—not mentioning any names—was so confused by the size of the Library that she had to ask the assistance of the Librarian to direct her to the exit.

Dr. Musick: (In Commercial Law Class) An agent is a person who sits quietly between two persons and gently takes the hand of one and the hand of another and clasps them firmly together, and then silently disappears.

Disney: You can't fool me. That's Dan Cupid.

Chick Baugher, on the Sock and Buskin Chapel program for the sole purpose of pronouncing the benediction, was beaten to the punch by Dean Baugher. Too many Baughers?

Soliloquy

Sometimes I wake up from my reveries
And ask myself, "What are you doing now?"
This question takes me rather unawares;
I scratch my head, and wrinkle up my brow,
Pretend to think—but what's the use of that?
For thinking never helped me anyhow
At such a time, to make up an excuse,
And so I say, with a respectful bow,
"I'm sorry, sir, I'm in the same old groove,
But if someone would show me why and how—"
I look to where my questioner had been
To find that I'd dropped off to sleep again!

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

Basketball is more and more becoming one of the outstanding sports in the nation. For many it is and has been the national pastime for years. Now professional matchmakers have taken it over and with their master touch have made it profitable for colleges to specialize considerably on the cage sport.

Up in New York a young man named Ned Irish caught Madison Square Garden's golden boxing throne as it toppled and by his magical touch transformed it into a glittering seat of promotional autocracy for college basketball. Due to the efforts of this Tex Rickard of Basketball, the game has expanded until all big-time schools are vying with each other for the opportunity to place their team in one of Irish's large-scale cage doubleheaders. After putting basketball on a solid basis in New York, Irish has branched out, and is promoting collegiate twin bills in other prominent sports localities.

The Hershey Sports Arena will be the scene of an early 1938 double-header featuring Franklin and Marshall vs. St. Joseph, and Gettysburg against Southern Methodist. Getting around to the point, we believe that the Galloping Ghosts would make a lovely picture aboard the big-time basketball bandwagon. Steps are being made in the right direction, for Bucknell is already on the local schedule, while highly touted St. Joseph, of Philadelphia, one of the nation's prize quintets, has made overtures to Elizabethtown for a game.

While a school like St. Joseph is entirely too large-scale for Elizabethtown NOW, it would be altogether possible for this school to soon join in the pace-setters and become a pioneer in advanced basketball, since we have already received recognition from a school with the reputation of St. Joe.

Ned Irish's influence is a paying one, and the schools that operate under his wing advance in color, cash, and influence upon future students. Surely a school that does not feature football on its athletic roster would have three jumps on its rival institutions once it got started. All this would require a broadening of the present athletic policy, but the expense need not be much greater, and in a short span of time, the Blue and Gray colors of Elizabethtown College COULD be flying among the double-header crowds at Hershey, which is a convenient locale for local colleges that give basketball the build-up it deserves.

For seventeen years the sporting populace of this nation labored under the illusion that Brick Mueller's 70-yard pass, thrown in the 1921 Robe Bowl game, was the super-ultimate in pigskin projectory . . . . But, in the final game of the present football season, a young negro halfback, named Kenny Washington, of UCLA, cocked his mighty right arm and hurled a record-shattering touchdown pass that eclipsed Mueller's toss by a half dozen yards . . . . A truly great achievement that caused Washington, who is only a sophomore, to be listed in football's Hall of Fame.

Strong Defense Nets Ghosts Initial Victory, Dec. 10

By David L. Brandt

Operating on the theory that the best offense is a good defense, the Blue and Gray-clad warriors of Elizabethtown College smothered a smooth-working Maryland State Teachers combination on the local floor, Friday night, 32 to 25.

The invading Southerners built up an early 8 to 1 lead before the entrance of veterans Roy Rudisill and Luke Sauder into the Ghosts' line up steadied the homesters, and they went to work to build up a 15 to 14 lead at half-time. A thrilling and spectacular second half wound up in a 24-24 stalemate, but E-town turned on the heat in a five minute extra session to walk away with the decision.

Coach Herr introduced three new varsity men into his starting lineup. Freshman Stan Disney was at center, with Jim Linton and Freshman Ross Coulson filling the guard posts. All of these men saw much action throughout the tilt, with Disney playing the entire time.

The scoring parade was well divided, with Rudy Rudisill tallying twice from the field in the extra canto to steal high honors with 7 points while the blonde war horse, Chick Baugher, besides playing a smashing floor game, also tallied 7 times tossing three free throws plus a deuce of field goals.

The Teachers presented a fast clicking outfit from the very first whistle, and with Bennett and Austerlitz pacing the mad tempo, they made things look very bad indeed for the local collegians. E-town then called time out, and after Rudisill and Sauder replaced Jones and Linton, they began to go places. A series of foul tosses enlarged the Blue and Gray score, and finally they began to hit the cords from the field. Sam Jones and Linton entered the game later, Linton coming in when rookie Coulson hurt his leg, and both hit their stride, with Jones breaking up enemy passes continually and several times breaking into the open to score on solo dashes.

In continuing to break up the Maryland plays, the Galloping Ghosts payed their rivals to a standstill in the second half, and when Chick Baugher's charity flip knotted the count with but 13 seconds of play remaining, they really hit the victory trail. There was nothing to the extra period, and the game ended with the Alumni-Gymnasium in an uproar as jubilant Elizabethtown students anticipating a great season, cheered wildly.

J. V.'s Defeat H. S.

The Junior Varsity encountered and defeated a strong Elizabethtown High School quintet on Monday night in the college gymnasium. The score read 28 to 26 when the final whistle blew.

Last Friday the J. V.'s defeated the same team at the high school but with greater ease and by the wider score of 24 to 14. With a greater determination, the younger high school students tried to flatten the opposition in the second game, and produced a very noble attempt, although they were both out-weighted and hampered by the larger floor. They led the scoring throughout the game, until the last two minutes.

The J. V.'s expected a pushover and to their embarrassment, found themselves trailing at the half, and had to put a greater effort into their scoring in the following period. Fortunately, the collegians managed to save further embarrassment and took the lead from their exhausted opponents when less than two minutes of the final period remained.

Entering the game when Galen Jones fouled out Bob Keller, a yearling, rang up six much needed points, to tie Harold Saylor for high scoring honors. Stan Disney, a promising freshman, tallied five points to place third.

Peace Group Will Meet

Dr. Baugher And Rev. Miller Conduct Panel Discussion

The newly formed Peace Group on the Elizabethtown campus will hold its initial meeting Thursday, December 16. The feature of this program will be a panel discussion on "Objectives and Purposes of a Peace Organization on Elizabethtown College's Campus." Rev. L. C. T. Miller, pastor of the local Reformed Church, Dr. A. C. Baugher, Dean, and Donald Royer, '37, divisional secretary of the Student Peace Service, will lead the discussion. Rev. Miller and Dr. Baugher sponsored the Emergency Peace Campaign unit which carried on an effective program in this community last summer. Donald Royer, a graduate of Elizabethtown, is now devoting his full time to peace work among college groups, as a secretary of the S. P. C. under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee. He has furthered the Peace movement in twenty-two colleges and universities in the East.

The climax of Elizabethtown's Peace Program will be the Student Peace Service Conference, which has been tentatively scheduled for February. This meeting will be attended by representatives and leaders from all nearby colleges, and, it is hoped, by many of our own students.

The Student Peace Service, a division of the National Council for the Prevention of War, carries on a nation wide peace program in more than four hundred colleges and universities. Closely allied to this organization is the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, which sponsors International Relations Groups on practically every college campus in the United States. Through the efforts of Mrs. Wenger an International Relations Club was started on this campus last fall. Since that time the Carnegie Endowment has provided the group with numerous books and pamphlets with which to carry on its study of Work Problems and Conditions. These books are in the college library, and are available to students at all times.

It is hoped that through panel discussions, open forums, and International Relations Club meetings, student interest and attention will be drawn to the vital problems of peace and war which confront college youth today. Both the Peace and International Relations Groups furnish a splendid opportunity for real study and action on these questions to every student on the campus.

Prizes for Safety Essay

In its drive to popularize public safe-driving habits the C. I. T. Safety Foundation of New York City, sponsored by the Commercial Investment Trust Corporation, gives annual awards to newspaper men, radio and motion picture artists, and to teachers and students.

Prizes of five hundred, two hundred and fifty, one hundred, and two hundred dollars each, are open to college students in any senior college or university in the United States.

These awards will be given for the best original theses of not more than 5000 words on the subject of traffic safety.

Manuscripts must be submitted to the C. I. T. Safety Foundation not later than June 30, 1938.

Does anyone know why there has been such an unusual number of "Happy Birthday's To You" extended to students who are not celebrating their birthdays?

Taking Graduate Work

Professor Ezra Wenger, former professor of Sociology at Elizabethtown College, is now taking graduate work at New York University.

Professor Wenger is now completing his course requirements and tool subjects for his Ph. D. degree in the field of Sociology. He expects to complete these courses by the end of the first semester. During the second semester he will devote his time to completion of his Doctor's dissertation.

Preaching

In the coming year, Dr. Schlosser will also direct the entire program of student solicitation for Elizabethtown College. During his absence, Dr. A. C. Baugher, Dean of Instruction, and Professor J. Z. Herr, Treasurer and Business Manager, will assume the routine duties left by Dr. Schlosser.

Dr. Schlosser will also attend the regular meeting of the General Education Board and the meeting of the Association of American Colleges to be held in Chicago during the second and third weeks of January.

Essay

The New History Society offers three prizes to the people of the United States and its outlying territories and possessions for the three best papers of not more than 2,000 words on the subject: "How can Cultural Values of Racial Minorities in the United States and its Outlying Possessions and Territories be adjusted and harmonized?"

The prizes will be as follows: First, three hundred dollars; second, two hundred dollars; third, one hundred dollars.

The competition opens on November 15, 1937, and closes March 15, 1938.

Collegiate Review

They have clever frosh at Indiana University.

The tough lieutenant was addressing his men after the first long grind around the parade ground. "All those who feel unable to march around again step forward."

All the lads except one freshie stepped ahead. The "looiie" looked at him and commented, "Well, I'm glad I have one man that likes to march."

"Say, lieutenant, I'm so plum tuckered I can't even take that step forward," came the weak voice from the rear.

112 Attend Practice Teachers' Banquet, Jan. 6

The celebration of the Practice Teacher's Banquet in the college dining room on the evening of January 6th marked the close of month's of hard work on the part of the secondary and elementary prospective teachers. Approximately 112 people were present at the get-together.

Dr. Paul Cressman, of the State Department of Public Instruction, was the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Cressman's theme was based on "The Adjusting of Education to Youth's Needs," saying that we should teach just those things in school which students will need later on in life, rather than those things which are of scholastic value only.

At the banquet an honoring of guests was conducted. David Raffensperger '38, honored Superintendent Feeser and Mrs. Feeser, of the Middletown Schools; Grace Ernst '38, honored J. Waide Bingham, principal of the Maytown schools; James Linton '38, honored Mr. T. H. Ebersole, principal of the Elizabethtown schools. Professor Lavinia Wenger honored the rural school boards that cooperated in the practice teaching program.

During the course of the banquet Coach Ira Herr and Mrs. Herr were presented with wedding gifts. A presentation speech was made by Landis Eby '38 and the gifts were presented by Luke Sauder '38.

The chairmen of the various committees, under the direction of Professor Wenger and Dr. Breidenstine, who helped to make the banquet successful, were: David Raffensperger '38, program; Landis Eby '38, decorations; Luke Sauder '38, menu; Grace Ernst '38, reception; Jane Williams '38, invitations; and Paul Hoffman '38, exhibits.

Students See Historic Pageant

By Elmer Gleim

In commemoration of the establishment of the Ordinance of 1787, the Northwest Territory Celebration Commission presented a pageant entitled "Freedom of the March" in the Hershey High School auditorium on January 5.

A troupe of approximately twenty-five students chosen from various colleges and universities in a number of the New England States are making a journey from Massachusetts to Marietta, Ohio. These students, whenever facilities permit, render a pageant demonstrating events which preceded and immediately followed the Ordinance of 1787.

Some of the most vivid events which "portrayed in living and speaking pictures some of the most vivid events in the formative period of the nation's history" were presented. Some of the events portrayed were: The Albany Convention, 1754; Drafting the Newburgh Petition, 1783; Treaty of Port McIntosh, 1785; Meeting of the Continental Congress, 1787; and the First American Colony, established 1788.

Professor Lavinia Wenger, Dorothy Shearer, a former student, Marion Bardell, Ruth Rishel, Elmer Gleim, and Paul Shenk attended the pageant.

Trustees Convene

At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees on the Hill, it was decided to discontinue the annual competitive examinations and scholarship awards. At the above meeting a budget, as well as a curriculum, was discussed and adopted for the academic year 1938-1939.

At the meeting the following officers were elected: President, Dr. H. K. Ober, Elizabethtown; Vice-President, J. E. Trimmer, Carlisle; Secretary, F. S. Carper, Palmyra; Treasurer, J. Z. Herr, Elizabethtown. All the committees, with the exception of the financial committee, are the same as last year.

C. E. Grapes, of Chambersburg, Pa., is the newly-elected trustee from the district of Southern Pennsylvania.

Ministerium Reorganizes

The newly organized Ministerium, under the capable leadership of Elmer Gleim, recently elected president, is again beginning to make its presence felt on the Elizabethtown campus.

In a recent interview, Rev. Gleim stated: "The ministerium shall have a two-fold purpose: 1—To sustain the dignity of the ministry on the college campus; 2—To keep ministers in the ministry rather than allowing some other profession to attract them."

At the recent re-organization meeting held on January 5, Rev. William Neff was chosen secretary of the organization, and it was further decided that each member shall be given a place on the Chapel program for speaking, after which speech a meeting of the Ministerium will be held to discuss the subject of homiletics, keeping in mind the construction and the subject material and the delivery of the talk in the Chapel service.

The Ministerium will render a program in the Elizabethtown Church of the Brethren preceding the main services of the opening of the Bible Institute on January 23.

Choir Schedule Near Completion

The Elizabethtown College A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Professor E. G. Meyer, is about to start another series of programs in churches of nearby districts. The programs this year are based on the theme "Lord, Speak To Me That I May Speak."

The churches to be visited are as follows: Elizabethtown (Brethren) Lebanon, East Petersburg, Palmyra, Lancaster, Westminster, Md., Marietta, York, Bunkertown, Mifflintown, Denver, and Elizabethtown (Reformed). The dates for these programs will be set in the very near future after all requests for desired dates are in. The first public appearance of the choir will be in the Auditorium-Gymnasium on January 30, in connection with the Bible Institute. The entire program, however, will not be given at this time.

Pep Meeting In Square

Thursday evening, at 7:45, the student body en masse assembled in the Elizabethtown Square for a rousing pep meeting for the Juniata College basketball game tomorrow evening. Maurice Rishel '40, gave a short talk to the gathering explaining the reasons for the meeting.

At 4 p. m. in the Alumni Gymnasium a short sketch showing the downfall of the Juniata Indians was presented. Miss Harvey, Professor of Romance Languages, and Professor Rose, librarian, also gave short and interesting speeches.

"We want the Juniata Indians beaten before they step off their campus," explained Mr. Rishel.

"Learn About Picture Making"

A discussion and demonstration of modern photography and printing was given by Dr. Hill, at the regular monthly meeting of the Sigma Zeta, held on Tuesday evening, January 11.

John Glass '38, delivered a short talk on the history of photography. Dr. Hill, Professor of Sciences, lectured on and demonstrated the process of printing pictures, and gave an interesting demonstration on the enlargement process. After the demonstrations, Dr. Hill also exhibited many of the pictures he has developed and enlarged.

Grads Disappear In China

No trace has been found of two loyal Etown Alumni, who disappeared in Shansi Province more than a month ago, as reported by two United States Military officers.

Alva C. Harsh '34, and his wife, Mary (Hykes) Harsh '28, have not been heard from since December 2. On that day they were seen in Shan Yang just before the town was attacked by the Chinese. They had just begun their second year of missionary service in China under the auspices of the Church of the Brethren.

This sad and untimely disappearance was investigated by Major Truman M. Martin of the 15th Infantry, United States Army; Captain Samuel Griffiths, United States Marine Attache; H. Tnaka, Japanese consul at Tientsin and a Japanese military police sergeant. They left Peiping December 31 and returned a week later with the report.

Receives German Sets

Through the kindness and interest of Miss Gladys Harvey of the college faculty, the Library has recently received a fine collection of German books. The donation is made by her father, the Rev. J. C. Harvey, a retired Presbyterian minister residing near Doylestown. The donation includes a 14 volume set of Schiller bound in 7; it is edited by Dr. Philip Witkop, in collaboration with Dr. Eugene Kuehnemann of the University of Breslau who delivered lectures in America during the Goethe centennial in 1932. Included also is a 30 volume set of Goethe bound in 15 and edited by Richard Mueller-Frienfels.

Both sets are published by the Volksverband der Buecherfreunde Berlin.

Distinguished Visitor At Juniata Game

According to a recent notice from one of our former students, Woodrow Schlosser, the Elizabethtown Campus will be honored on the evening of the Juniata game by the presence of Count Desiderio Roman Vega, of Nicaragua.

Count Vega is a student at Hahnemann Medical School, and gets his title through the recent death of his father.

Xmas Banquet Enjoyed By Many

By Beatrice Myers

The Christmas banquet, held in the college dining room on the evening of December 21, with its setting typifying the night "while shepherds watched their flocks" is now but a fond memory of creamed duck, apple pie a la mode, and Professor Weller's stories.

Professor Weller, ably filling the post of toastmaster, managed to mingle congenial, good humor with the assimilation of the holiday fare.

Somewhere between the salad and the pie a quartet composed of James Linton '38, Charles Booz '39, Luke Ebersole '40, and James Buffenmyer '41, sang "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen." This was followed by Nathan Meyer, who made "Old Scrooge" live again. A female trio, composed of Margaret Miller '38, Orpha Frantz '40, and Mary Velter '40, also sang "Jolly Old Saint Nicholas." The banqueteers were also favored by a solo on the flute, by Tom Garber '40. Mrs. Howell brought to an end the lighter part of the program with her talk on the symbols which make Christmas real.

The more serious and pretentious part of the Christmas program took place in the gymnasium immediately after the banquet, where the traditional play, "Why The Chimes Rang" was presented. James Beahm '38, Richard Shaull '38, Helen Myers '38, and Evelyn Gonder '41, played the principal parts. In the second scene of the play, taking place in a cathedral, Mary Moore '38, represented the Angel; Miriam (See XMAS, Page 4)

Kiddies Entertained

A holiday spirit permeated the fourth floor of Fairview Apartments for approximately ninety minutes on the evening of December 21, as a result of the Christmas Party given to twenty deserving town youngsters by the Y. M. C. A.

The children were culled from the town's most deserving through the cooperation of Professor Ebersole, principal of the high school, and several grade school teachers. During the party, President R. W. Schlosser, Dr. Breidenstine, and Professor Saylor delivered short talks. A quartette composed of Luke Ebersole, Charles Booz, James Linton, and Dr. Breidenstine rendered two selections.

Topping off the proceedings, each child was presented with a serviceable gift through the courtesy of the Santa Claus secured by the "Y" for the evening.

The committees, appointed by President Rudisill, were: Transportation, Richard Shaull; Decoration, Elmer Gleim; Refreshments, Robert Eshleman; and Program, N. Baugher and L. Ebersole.

Touching on Bible Study, the Mission Field, the Work of the Ministry, the Young People, World Problems, and the Sunday School, the thirty-eighth Annual Bible Institute at Elizabethtown College will swing into session with morning services at the Church of the Brethren, Sunday morning, January 23. The closing address by Dr. Rufus Bowman will take place in the same church, one week later, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Although the Bible Institute is held primarily for Ministers, teachers, and lay workers, it is hoped that churches and Sunday Schools will make it possible for as many persons as possible to attend this year's institute. Since the expense of sending representatives is small, a large number of churches should avail themselves of the opportunity to listen to the lectures and sermons, and take part in the discussion meetings.

Noted Speakers

The speaker's roster, now complete, contains such noted speakers as Dr. Rufus Bowman, President, Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, Illinois; Dr. Floyd Mallott, Professor of Old Testament and Church History, Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago, Illinois; Reverend Minor Myers and Mrs. I. E. Oberholtzer, Missionaries on furlough from China and Dr. Herman H. Horne, Chairman of the Department of Philosophy and History of Education, New York University, New York.

Dr. Bowman's wide experience as a pastor and religious leader make it possible for him to bring a helpful contribution to the Institute. Dr. Mallott's experiences as a college teacher, a missionary to Africa, and his present activities as a Bible teacher promises valuable contributions. This is Dr. Mallott's second year at the Institute. (See INSTITUTE, Page 4)

Man Wanted!

Date Bureau Needs Experienced Worker

A young man is needed to fill a vacancy in the Date Bureau, an organization which will soon begin working to increase and promote social happiness on the campus. The young man is to serve as confidante for all young men who want dates and can't get them because of bashfulness or ignorance of correct tactics. Because of the nature of his work he must be experienced, tactful, and secretive. He is to cooperate with Mildred Miller, experienced founder of the organization and ladies' confidante, in arranging meetings between eligible young men and girls who "came to college to be went with, but ain't yet."

Applications shall be sent to Mildred Miller, Room 7, Alpha Hall.

All persons who desire the services of this newly founded association are invited to have a private conference with Miss Miller.

Bampton And Lehman On Concert Series

The concerts of the two Metropolitan Opera sopranos, Lotte Lehmann and Rose Bampton, which have been awaited so eagerly, will be held on the Community Concert series this month. Miss Lehmann will appear on January 24 in Hensel Hall, Lancaster, and Miss Bampton will sing in the Lebanon High School auditorium on January 27. Concert members are urged to take advantage of these treats.

Editorial

Probably there are some students who would like to ask the question, "WHY BRING UP THE MATTER OF SYPHILIS HERE ON THE HILL?"

This is, undoubtedly, a sensible question. Syphilis prevention on the hill is not needed. But—to quote from a recent letter from The American Hygiene Association: "Syphilis is in the headlines, on club programs, on the screen, on the air, on bookshelves, on the public mind!" That is the reason the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association was asked to help in furthering this program. Hence our cooperation in this movement.

Again, we'll grant that there is no need along this line on the Hill, but we are not going to live all our lives on the Hill. When we leave this campus we should at least have an idea of what's what.

Syphilis and its twin evil, gonorrhea, can be conquered, if:

1. Everybody learns how dangerous these two diseases are.
2. Those infected are taught to seek treatment early.
3. Proper treatment is assured for all who need it.
4. Health departments and cooperating agencies are properly equipped.

Only an adequate educating program will take care of the first point. We must bring the subject, heretofore taboo, to the front. We must take cognizance of the staggering total, each year, of deaths directly and indirectly due to syphilis; of the thousands of babies who never have had a chance because of syphilis infected parents; of the insanity and blindness directly traceable to syphilis.

But just reading about these two perils is not enough. It will not stop the spread of the diseases. Those infected must seek the proper treatment early. What is more, they must go to institutions where the proper treatment and the proper facilities are provided. The "quack doctor" must be done away with. Syphilis can not be cured by "medicine man" means. We must fight syphilis, and its mate, gonorrhea, with the same methods and the same earnestness that we fought malaria, smallpox, spotted fever and other controllable diseases.

BEAT JUNIATA!

"Ladies and gentlemen! The Indians are coming!"

On Saturday night our basketball team will have on its hands the biggest battle of the year, a tussle with the Juniata Redskins. That fact was dramatically and forcibly impressed upon our minds by Herr Professor Rose at our pep meeting yesterday.

Our German sage also defined the spirit with which we shall meet our foe tomorrow night. We recognize their strength, we feel no animosity towards them, but it is our purpose "to bury, not to praise them."

That most successful "Beat Juniata" pep meeting is now history. All that the student body can do now is keep up the spirit which was manifested there, and show it at the game.

Pep meetings are of no conceivable use if we do not practice at the game what we learn at the pep meeting. We may yell our heads off at a pep meeting, but if, as sometimes happens, we do not repeat the process at the time when it is really needed, it profits us nothing.

If we are to withstand the attack of the Indians, each student must do his bit toward keeping up the morale. "It's all in the state of mind."

BEAT JUNIATA !!!

Alumni Notes

'34—The betrothal of Miss Mary Kimmel to James Nedrow was announced at a dinner served Christmas day at her home by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kimmel, 810 Ferndale Ave., Johnstown. Miss Kimmel is employed in the office of Dr. Chas. E. Weaver '26, Mannheim. Mr. Nedrow is managing his father's farm at Ludlowville, N. Y. No date has been set for the wedding.

*****

'16—The marriage of Miss Kathryn Nissley and Ira R. Herr took place Christmas morning at 9 o'clock in the United Brethren Church, Penbrook. The Rev. Harry E. Schaeffer officiated, using the ring ceremony. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Penbrook Hotel, after which the couple left on their wedding trip. The bride is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College, and is a member of the Elizabethtown High School faculty. The bridegroom is proprietor of the local W. A. W. Shoe Store and is also serving his sixth term as head coach of the college athletic teams.

SHOULD WOMEN PAY THEIR OWN WAY?

Dear Sir:

I was very much pleased to note, in your last issue, the plea of the person who signed his epistle, "It's the Scotch In Me." May I, as another advocate of this movement, express my opinion and bring to your attention what others also think.

A few weeks ago, in the January 4th issue of "Look" appeared the following statement by that eminent arbiter of social custom, Emily Post: "It ought to be possible in this day of woman's professional equality to make it her turn or her treat, without putting the man she is with in a position of embarrassment. . . . Worthwhile girls would rather go 'Dutch treat' than have a man spend more on them than he can afford to."

I have heard some students renounce this fair and decent practice as extremely "passe." I think the above statement should definitely prove the futility and weakness of this argument. The Dutch treat has ceased to be the device of a harlot in the social life of today!

Personally I feel that the "lowly" Dutch date will eventually rise to the point of respectability on the Elizabethtown Campus which it occupies on the campuses of other institutions of higher learning. And the sooner the better.

Yours sincerely,
A. B. C.

Dear Editor:

Perhaps you saw and have heard of the unpleasant defeat the basketball team took on Friday night, January 7, at the hands of the Moravians.

The critics have often commented on the amount of pep and support given on the sidelines. This pep and enthusiasm has often helped the fellows defeat a stronger team and encouraged them on to victory.

To start the event of a coming game, it has always been the custom to hold a lively pep meeting. Is this only to learn the new yells, and to practice the old ones, or is it just an old tradition? Sir, in my opinion, the pep meetings announce the game, make us conscious of the competition, lets the fellows know we are back of them 100 per cent, and puts plenty of life into the situation from the start. The pep meetings always tend to break down the "Who gives a hoot" attitude and puts fight into all concerned.

I am assuming that you attended the unfortunate defeat tonight a week ago; a defeat by an inferior team. Yes, it was inferior, according to the idea of those who should know. Also, did you take notice of the unenthusiastic manner in which the fans followed the game? Was it evident to you that there was far less pep and support at this game than all the others, either this year or last year? The game certainly was close enough, interesting enough, and everyone wanted victory, but why the failure to "come across"? There is only one answer to the problem that seems to fit the bill: "WHERE WAS THE PEP MEETING?"

Since when has it become possible for one practically insignificant student to say whether or not a pep meeting should be held before a game? Is this person in any position to say that a pep meeting shall be called off simply because HE thinks the Student Council is not functioning properly, or for any other reason? Most of us will agree that a pep meeting was fitting for the occasion, and that its absence was keenly felt.

However, the game is lost. We should not cry over spilt milk. But let's profit from this experience and support our team with regular pre-game pep meetings.

Sincerely,

"Disgusted"

OPINIONS AND CHARACTER

The modern newspaper submits a wealth of material which invites approval and disapproval from the reader. The college student may or may not agree with the statement that "United States cannot remain entirely aloof from the armed conflicts which are shaking the world." Or again, the student may accept or reject the declaration that "morality as a fixed entity does not exist; it is nothing but a fashion which changes from year to year . . . as surely as the fashions and tastes in hats and furniture." These quotations from a recent edition of a newspaper will excite the student to come to some conclusion as to the truth or falsity of the quota-

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

These coaches and players who claim that the type of basketball being played under the present new ruling is much too fast fail to realize that the game is only as fast as they make it. . . Experiments have shown that a slow-breaking game featuring short, snappy passes can prove just as effective now as ever before. . . Surely if the boys had wanted to snap it up a little more under the old center jump rules, they could certainly have made it very fast. . . It's all a matter of the playing system used, and we're advocating a continuation of the new rule, which has proved highly successful in most cases.

The twin bill at the Hershey Ice Palace on January 3, served to bear out our previous suggestion that it pays to play big-time basketball. . . Gettysburg, a team representing a none too large institution almost knocked off the highly touted Southern Methodist, royal rulers of the Southwestern Conference, and Gettysburg has already been beaten by a team in its own class. . . Surely if these schools can broaden out their athletic scope, it would be profitable for Elizabethtown College to encourage such a broadening out here.

Congratulations to Hank Luisetti, the Stanford arc, for breaking into the fifty point column against Duquesne recently. . . There are some sweet big teams in the nation this year. . . Temple's Owls, generally rated as "the best in the country" since they turned back Stanford's mighty westerners, were beaten easily by Georgetown University. . . The cage season is becoming as unpredictable as the football season just past.

Intra-mural basketball is about to get under way here on the Hill, and court fans are looking forward to an even better loop than last year's. Here is the chance for all you lads who aren't posted on the Varsity and Junior Varsity to step out and strut your stuff on the boards. . . Now it's time to take a look at the E-town-Juniata tiff. . . The Galloping Ghosts could use a victory badly.

Intra-Mural Basketball

By Paul Cassel

Fellows of lesser talent: Attention! Our chance has come and we may exhibit our ability as passers and shooters against fighting competition. Believe it or not, the Athletic Association is going to promote a series of intra-mural court battles in which the fellows of lesser talent, of all classes, may join.

Each class is to be represented by their strongest combination with as many substitutes as possible. Every one is eligible except those who are participating in inter-scholastic ball, which excludes both the varsity and the junior varsity. With these experts on the side lines, we can take possession of the floor and run through our stuff.

The rules are very nearly the same as last year, with one exception. The game can start with only four men present, but one technical foul will be called on the late team. There will be two games played in the evening, with each game having 15 minute halves.

Each team is to play the others twice, making a total of six games each. This will give all a chance to join in several undoubtedly interesting frays. It is the aim of the committee to get the series under way as soon as possible, and all fellows are invited to come out.

ALUMNI

'37—At a recent congregational meeting in his home town of Denver, Donald M. Royer was elected to the office of Gospel Ministry. "Donnie", as he was favorably known on the campus, was a student leader on the Hill and is now a field worker for the American Friends Service Committee.

'37—The wedding of Miss Susan Hoffeditz to George W. Kunkel was solemnized December 26 in St. John's Lutheran Church, Mercersburg. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. E. L. Ritchie. The bride is a teacher in the fourth grade of the Hershey public school. The bridegroom is a teacher in the commercial department of the Hershey High School. The happy couple will be at home in Palmdale.

Ghosts Drop Close Game To Crack Moravian Five

By Dave Brandt

After taking the measure of Wilson Teachers, the local basketballers took a rest and then renewed court activities against Moravian, of Philadelphia on the Hill Court on January 7. The Quaker City dribblers presented a fast passing attack and several dependable sharpshooters and journeyed home with a 34 to 27 decision tucked under their collective belt.

Elizabethtown played their opponents to a standstill in the nip and tuck first half, and the Brotherly Love tossers were out in front by only a 17 to 16 margin at half time. Roy Rudisill hung up nine counters to cop high individual honors for the evening, netting three of each kind of goal. Chick Baugher and Stan Disney each dropped eight pointers to take second honors. Sauder had the only two points on a spectacular shot tallied in the second half.

Forrest, Forney, and Hepzel divided their team's honors, scoring 29 of the 34 markers. Forrest was high with six field goals from his guard berth.

The Etown J-Vees emerged victorious to the tune of 23-13 in their preliminary tilt with the Lebanon Business College crew. Galen Jones stripped the cords with three double-deckers to lead the scoring, while Joe Heckler accounted for five points. The Little Phantoms led at half-time, 11 to 4.

On January 11, the Varsity moved up to Selinsgrove and dropped a bitter tussle to Susquehanna, 41 to 37. The Crusaders used two teams as separate units in eking out their narrow victory margin.

An amazing deficiency in foul shooting cost the Ghosts this victory, for they missed no less than nine of their sixteen charity throws. Chick Baugher caged five field and as many foul goals to lead the scorers. Ford and Gould divided the Susquehanna laurels. The winners were out in front at the half, 23 to 20.

tions. The opinions drawn by the student will give us a true estimate of the nature of his character.

Once Christ went up secretly to the feast at Jerusalem because of the great opposition which He faced. The disciples were already present, and listened to remarks made concerning the Master. "The Jews sought Him at the feast, and said, Where is He? And there was much murmuring among the people concerning Him; for some said, He is a good man; others said, Nay; but He deceiveth the people." Immediately the reader will evaluate the character of the individuals who differed in their conceptions of Christ from the opinions which they offered.

It is universally true that opinions indicate the type of character of the individual. "What we see is often a reflection of what we are. A person's conclusion of a certain proposition is often the projection of his own character. We lay bare our souls by the responses we make to the experiences of life." If your view of the true values of life is one of antipathy you are instantly branded as one who dwells on a low plain. If you extol and commend virtues in others, we may conclude that your character is moulded of somewhat the same virtues and habits which you admire.

IRC Works on "War or Peace" Movement

"Peace is the present patriotism of the world" is the truth which is being promulgated by the International Relations Club under the chairmanship of M. Richard Shaull, and the advisorship of Mrs. Lavinia Wenger.

The International Relations Club is working in conjunction with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and the Student Peace Service of the American Friends Service Committee in an endeavor to acquaint students of Elizabethtown College with present world conditions and to give them an intelligent viewpoint of the war and peace question.

Much of the organization's activity recently has been centered about the Ludlow Referendum bill. Twenty students, cooperating with the club, have written to their respective congressmen and the greater part of this number have received acknowledgments. Forty students signed a petition requesting serious consideration of the worth of the Ludlow Referendum. This petition was sent to the State Department at Washington, D. C., and was acknowledged. M. Richard Shaull received this statement from J. Roland Kinzer, representative of Chester and Lancaster counties of Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Shaull:

I wish to thank you for your letter and to assure you of my continued interest in world peace and keeping the United States out of foreign entanglements.

Sincerely yours,

J. Roland Kinzer.

It is of interest to note that Mr. Kinzer voted in favor of the Ludlow Referendum.

The International Relations Club is preparing for real usefulness on the campus. On January 26, Dr. Mallott, Professor of Old Testament and Church History at Bethany Biblical Seminary, and also a student of world affairs, will address the organization. At the first meeting in February, Professor Daggett, Professor of Bricklaying at Patton Trade School, who worked for fifteen years in brick shops and steel factories, and who was one time president of a labor union of eight hundred men, will discuss with the group "The State of Labor in World Peace." Mr. Kohler, a student of Elizabethtown College, will give the group a short description of Fascism and its effect upon world peace at the second meeting in February.

On February 18 and 19 a group of students of Elizabethtown will attend an intercollegiate Peace Conference which will be held at Penn State, at which place all the colleges of eastern and central Pennsylvania will be represented.

The organization is now engaged in the sale of peace seals. The seals are of the order of Christmas seals, save that the money will be used for the extension of peace work instead of being used for tuberculosis cases. Each of these seals costs one cent. Students are urged to cooperate by buying these seals to post on their mail.

Students may be further informed about the work of the organization by watching the bulletin board in the library. Further, all students are invited to attend the meetings of the club every second and fourth Wednesday of the month, immediately following prayer meetings.

and visit as a Bible Institute speaker.

The Reverend Minor Myers and Mrs. I. E. Oberholtzer are known throughout the District, because of their frequent trips. In view of the tense situation in China at the present time these speakers should prove interesting.

Dr. Horne, a familiar figure on the Elizabethtown campus, will be remembered for his presence at the Commencement exercises two years ago, and for his inspiring messages in the December, 1935 Bible Institute. Dr. Horne is the author of a number of religious texts that have definitely influenced leaders in church work. His lectures this year will deal with the problem of the relationship between the church and the state.

Faculty Speakers

This imposing list of speakers will also be supplemented by President R. W. Schlosser, Dean A. C. Baugher, Dr. A. G. Breidenstine, Professor Forrest Weller, Rev. F. S. Carpenter, Palmyra, and Rev. M. J. Weaver. These speakers will discuss "The Church in Her Relation to: Peace Among Nations, Economic Problems, Temperance, Our Home Life, Our Rural Life, and Personal Christian Living."

Special Programs

Sunday, January 30, will be devoted to special programs. In the morning services, Dr. Bowman will deliver the sermon "Our Need of God." The afternoon program will be a missionary program, in charge of the Student Volunteers and Rev. Minor Myers. In the evening a special educational program will be held, at which time the A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Professor E. G. Meyer, will present their first program of the new season. Dr. Bowman will deliver the principal address of the evening, "The Case of the Church College."

Fellowships For Study Abroad

A stipend of $750 is offered for studies abroad in International Relations. Preference is given to persons interested in the principles of the Society of Friends. Matriculation for two semesters is required at a university, customarily in Europe at Paris, Vienna, Berlin, London or Geneva where Quaker international centers are located. Applicants should have had some graduate work, but no foreign experience. Knowledge of a foreign language is most desirable. This fellowship is known as the Mary Campbell Memorial Fellowship.

Another fellowship, the Mary R. G. Williams, allows a stipend of $650 for teaching at the Friends Schools, Ram Allah, Palestine. Supplementary to the above is board and lodging at the school for the duration of the academic year. The fellow must be a college graduate and preference is usually given to applications who have had some teaching experience.

Applications must be received on or before February 15. For further information see or write to Dean A. C. Baugher.

Kline '40, entertained with readings, and Robert Adams '40, sang.

The Wise Men bringing their gifts were James Linton '38, Paul Cassel '39, and Hernley Madeira '40. Quartet music by Margaret Miller, Orpha Frantz, Robert Adams and James Buffenmyer, as well as congregational music, were interspersed throughout the program. To the strains of the organ, played by James Martin '39, the services in the cathedral culminated in the offerings of Lois Brehm '39, Floy Meyer '40, Carl Herr '38, Sam Jones '39, and Robert Keller '41.

Thanks to Evelyn Gonder and Richard Shaull, who held back the curtains behind the altar, the memorable fire of last year was prevented and the solemnity of the services was interrupted.

Huge Attendance At Final Sessions of Bible Institute

Sunday evening, January 30, witnessed the close of a most successful thirty-eighth annual Bible Institute on the Elizabethtown College Campus. Competent leaders of the church rendered series of discussions on pertinent topics to increasingly large groups.

Dr. Rufus M. Bowman, recently elected President of Bethany Biblical Seminary, delivered a powerful sermon on "The Case for the Church College". At this time the A Cappella Choir made its first public appearance of the new season. Approximately 850 people attended each evening session on Saturday and Sunday nights.

Dr. Rufus Bowman also gave sermon lectures on the supremacy of Jesus in the world today and on the world's need of God. On Friday January 28, he sounded an optimistic chord when he declared that this is a perilous period for everything but Christianity. He often quoted the words of Christ when he said, "In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world."

Ministers Hear Dr. Bowman

The newly-organized ministerium met Friday forenoon for an hour's session with Dr. Rufus Bowman, President of Bethany Biblical Seminary speaking.

Dr. Bowman acquainted the student ministers with Bethany Biblical Seminary, and answered many problems relating to the ministry. Dr. Bowman told the ministry that a student at Bethany in the first year is given guided observation through the city of Chicago into the asylums, into important institutions, and into prominent Churches, in order to acquaint the student with the existing problems of the times. In the second year he is taken into practical work with a competent leader of the ministry. In the third year, if he has sufficient experience, he is given a pastorate.

Dr. Bowman announced a new tieup with the University of Chicago and with Northwestern University by which a good scholarship student will be able to secure his D. D. degree and his M. A. in a course of three years.

Dr. Bowman also announced an innovation which is being considered, namely, the introduction of a few new courses which will enable the ministry to understand the world in which he lives.

Juniata Choir Heard In Chapel, Feb. 1

The student body received a pleasant surprise on the morning of February 1, when the Juniata A Cappella Choir presented a half-hour program in the regular Chapel service. The choir, consisting of thirty-two voices, was under the direction of Professor Charles L. Rowland, director of the music department of Juniata College. Their splendid rendition of their selections gave proof of considerable talent coupled with extended training and practice. Their visit to the Hill was a thoroughly enjoyable one for the local students, and we hope it was for the visitors as well.

Among their selections were: Cast Thy Burden Upon the Lord (Mendelssohn), The Lord's Prayer (Colburn, Dearest Lord Jesus (Bach-Buszin), When At Night I Go To Sleep (Humperdinck), Hail, O Mother! (Rachmaninoff), The Nightingale (Tchaikowsky), Roll, Chariot (Cain), In a Monastery Garden (Keltelbey), and The Lord Bless You and Keep You (Lutkin).

Mallott Speaks To IRC

Dr. Mallott, lecturer for the Bible Institute from Bethany Biblical Seminary of Chicago, spoke to the International Relations Club on Thursday evening. He gave the organization an "Optimist's Interpretation of Current Trend With Alternatives."

Dr. Mallott stated, that he believes the League of Nations is not dead, and, therefore, may serve some useful purpose in the world situation. Further, he believes that the alliance between Germany, Italy and Japan is not a true alliance. He stated the inconsistency of the Japanese, a Mongolian race, uniting with Italy, a Latin race. The fact that Germany and Japan are competitors in world trade would further tend to prove his statement. Thirdly, he believes that the world is gradually falling apart into separate blocs for commercial affiliations. Fourthly, he believes that the war between the two factions in Spain is at a draw. Dr. Mallott stated as his belief that negotiations will take place and General Franco will rule in a corporate state in Spain.

M. Richard Shaul adjourned the meeting with the announcement of the meeting in February, at which time Dr. Daggett will speak on the "Stake of Labor in World Peace."

Lehman and Bampton Delight Audiences

By James Martin

Local members of the Community Concert Association were thrilled recently by the eloquent artistry and capable musicianship of two marvelous sopranos, Lotte Lehman and Rose Bampton, both of the Metropolitan Opera.

Lotte Lehman, famous German soprano, appeared at Hensel Hall, Lancaster, on January 24, with Erno Baloch as her accompanist. Recognized as the outstanding modern exponent of the German Lied, Mme. Lehmann ably proved her worthiness of that honor in such numbers as Brahms' "O liebliche Wangen" (O lovely cheeks), Schumann's "Ich grolle nicht" (I blame you not), Mendelssohn's "Auf Flügeln des Gesanges" (On Wings of Song), and the incomparable Schubert gems "The Erlking" and "Serenade". She also sang the old English song "Drink to Me Only With SEE SINGERS, Page 4

Commerciantes Plan Skating Party

If plans accepted at the regular meeting of the Commerciantes are carried out, this organization may well be placed among the most active on the hill. The club will sponsor a skating party in the very near future, on the first available Friday night, and also plans a major field trip and one minor trip. The major trip will likely be a trip to New York City and the remaining trip will be a visit to the Hamilton Watch factory, in Lancaster.

One of the biggest tasks assumed by the club is a novel, and much needed project to collect and present in an accepted form a list of all the requirements required by every state in the Union for Commercial teachers. The information thus compiled will be put on record in the Dean of Instruction's office.

New students in the Commercial field are being contacted and pledged. See PARTY, Page 4

Pre-Med Student To Enter Temple

Elizabethtown College is scheduled to have Roy Pfaltzgraff, one of her more illustrious students enter the portals of Temple Medical School, Philadelphia, next September.

Mr. Pfaltzgraff made application for acceptance into the medical school in August, 1937, but received no satisfaction. On January 5, 1938, he went to Philadelphia personally, to renew his application. At this time he was granted an audience with the Dean of Instruction, Dr. Parkinson. Dean Parkinson assured Roy of his admittance, and stated, incidentally, that the ability of the student is of more importance than the status of the institution among other colleges.

Mr. Pfaltzgraff, a resident of York, Pa., is at present completing a course in Science. A scholarship student, Mr. Pfaltzgraff attained eminence among his fellow students by his sociability and scholarship. He is now President of the Sigma Zeta chapter on the Hill, and is Business Manager of the ETONIAN. The Dr. Charles Weaver Biology Prize was recently awarded him for his outstanding scholarship in the field of biology for the year 1937-38.

"HeartHouse" To Welcome Alumni

The Y. W. will welcome the alumni who are present at homecoming on February 19 in "Heart House", a tea room to be held in the Social Room and the classrooms of Alpha Hall. Cupid with his feathered shafts is cooperating to make the tea room a success. In the past this success was achieved through the attractiveness of the tearoom and the excellence of the food served. The decorations at this time will be centered around the celebration of St. Valentine's Day. In addition to the usual menu of cakes, candy, sundaes, ginger ale, and hot chocolate, the Y offers the new attraction of gingerbread with whipped cream and cherry pie a la mode.

This tearoom will be similar to the autumn tearoom held by the Y. W. See HEART HOUSE, Page 4

Date Bureau Vacancy Filled

At last the much sought after vacancy on the male side of the newly established Date Bureau has been filled. Paul Hoffman has been entrusted with the task of assisting Miss Mildred Miller '38, in her plan to give "a girl to every boy, and a boy to every girl."

The firm of Miller & Hoffman plan to promote social life on the campus by increasing the number of social activities. The Bureau is essentially designed for the purpose of overcoming the unnecessary reserve which too often has been displayed in the social room and at school functions.

In order to carry out the aims of the Date Bureau, group activities will be planned for the students who stay at school over week-ends. These activities, it is hoped, will increase the social enjoyment of the less aggressive individuals. In the activities planned by the Bureau, efforts will be made to increase each student's circle of friends among the opposite sex. Instead of a selfish loyalty to an individual or a "gang" will be substituted a friendly feeling toward all the students.

Contrary to popular opinion, the Date Bureau has not been created for the purpose of advising the lovelorn and arranging dates for individuals. It is designed, rather, to promote social life by wholesome group activities.

Alumni Visiting Day Is Scheduled For Feb. 19th

Visiting Day Speaker

PRESIDENT R. W. SCHLOSSER

To Conduct Bible Institute

Friday and Saturday, February 4 and 5, President R. W. Schlosser will conduct a Bible Institute in the York Church of the Brethren.

On Thursday night, February 3, Dr. Schlosser will also address the Men's Bible Class of the Marietta Presbyterian Church. The Male Chorus of this church will render several numbers at the meeting.

Dr. Schlosser will also attend a meeting of college representatives in Harrisburg, on February 9, in the interest of the Y. M. C. A. program in the colleges of Eastern Pennsylvania.

The principal part of President Schlosser's time, during the second semester, will be spent in the field in the interest of the college.

New Extension Courses Offered

After the agonizing rush of finals and the brief rest following, faculty and students are beginning the second semester with renewed vigor. One hundred and sixty-six students have registered for the second semester. The college has lost four of its first semester students, Robert Posey, Martin Fidler, Hernley Madeira, and Nelson Stauffer. One new student has enrolled in the Freshman class, Lowell Martin, a graduate of Ephrata High School.

During the Second semester nine extension courses will be given. Four new courses are offered, General Physics, General Chemistry, Visual Education, and Problems in Sociology. Problems of Sociology, with emphasis on the sociology of collective behavior, will be taught on Wednesday evenings by Dr. Forrest Weller. On Thursday afternoons, Dr. Donald Hill will teach the extension course in General Physics. General Chemistry, which will be offered on Thursday mornings, is taught by Dr. A. C. Baugher. Dr. A. G. Breidenstine will teach a class in Visual Education on Saturday mornings.

Five of the first semester courses will be continued through the second semester, American History, English Composition, Economics, Typewriting, and Shorthand.

Anyone interested in taking extension work is invited to confer with Dr. A. C. Baugher, Dean of Instruction.

Program Includes Meeting, Music Recital, Basketball Games, Y.W.C.A. "Heart Havoc"

Invitations have been mailed to all Alumni of the college to attend the gala festivities and colorful events which will mark the annual "Alumni Visiting Day" to be held Saturday, February 19, on College Hill.

Formally opening the day, K. Ezra Bucher, '32, President of the Alumni Association, will preside over the winter session of the Alumni Council to be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock. At this session action will be taken concerning the Alumni Fund campaign and the events for Alumni Day, May 28. Lunch in the college dining hall will follow this meeting.

The afternoon events are of a varied nature. At two o'clock in the college Chapel, a program will be rendered. Miss Edna Barnes '37, will present a song recital as the opening number. Following this, President R. W. Schlosser '11, will deliver the afternoon address and conduct a forum on some phase of college problems. The concluding number will be a recital by LeRoy Metzler '34. C. H. Royer '23, Vice President of the Alumni Association, will preside. At four o'clock the Y. W. C. A. will serve tea in the social room.

The fellowship dinner will be served at 5 o'clock in the college dining room. Norman F. Reber '30, instructor in the Freehold, New Jersey schools and President of the Schuylkill Valley chapter of the Alumni Association, will deliver the address of the evening. Preceding the address Galen C. Kilhefner '39 and his wife, Elsie (Ziegler) Kilhefner '33 will render a vocal duet. Alumni will also have the pleasure of listening to Paul W. Eshelman. See VISITING DAY, Page 4

To Hold Tryouts

Freshmen will have the opportunity to get into the Sock and Buskin, dramatic organization on the Hill, in the very near future. All freshmen who are dramatically inclined should make known their desire to the president of the club, Mildred Miller, as soon as possible. This invitation is also extended to the Sophomores not now members of the Junior Sock and Buskin Club, or members of the Senior club.

Choir Program Completed

The Elizabethtown College A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Professor E. G. Meyer, is on its toes and "rarin' to go." The program this year is based on the theme "Lord, Speak To Me That I May Speak" and consists of fifteen numbers. The schedule of programs is as follows:

- Feb. 6—Elizabethtown (Brethren)
- Feb. 13—Lebanon
- Feb. 20—East Petersburg
- Feb. 26—Marietta
- Feb. 27—Lancaster

YOUTH AND THE WAR ON SYPHILIS

"Stamp our Syphilis—Enemy of Youth" is the battle-cry of the united health and welfare forces which are sponsoring Second National Social Hygiene Day on February 2nd.

Half of the 500,000 new syphilis infections which come to the attention of physicians each year are found in young people between 20 and 30 years of age.

One in five of all syphilis infections are found in boys and girls under twenty.

What does youth itself think of this? Are they indifferent? Do they understand the significance of these facts?

The answer is that youth thinks a lot about it, is not indifferent, and does appreciate its significance.

During the past year, many youth organizations have taken official notice of this grave problem, this menace to the health and security of present and coming generations.

During the past year thousands of young men and women have individually and collectively accepted the challenge, have urged measures which would reduce the terrible toll of syphilis.

During the past year Y. M. C. A.'s, 4 H clubs, college and university students, the American Youth Congress and many more have gone on record as favoring the campaign against syphilis and have taken concrete strides toward the realization of a syphilis-free country.

On August 13, 1937, the citizens of Chicago beheld what was probably the most amazing parade in its history. Carrying banners which denounced the syphilis scourge, 1,500 young men and women marched through the Loop to the City Hall.

There this army of youth received 200,000 ballots for distribution to as many people, ballots asking whether Chicagoans would take, secretly and free of charge, the Wasserman test for syphilis. The affirmative results of that poll were overwhelming, but the demonstration of youth's participation is probably without equal.

Given leadership from health authorities and from their representatives, the youth of America is ready to go a long way. They want information, they want effective treatment and control. If they could speak with one voice, youth would probably say, "It should have been done long ago."

(From an article by the American Social Hygiene Association)

With a shot which, if not heard round the world, was at least heard round the town, we feel that Roy Rudisill's name should go down in whatever Hall of Fame exists on the Elizabethtown Campus. This may be digging up ancient history, but we feel that the feat performed by the lanky captain of the basketball team in the closing seconds of the Juniata fray was one that should insure a place for himself in sports annals on the Hill for years to come.

It is hard to depict—even to recall—the tense situation in the close of the above game, with the score tied and everyone yelling blue murder. For a person to be placed in a situation where he knows that the success of one single shot will break a losing series in eight years of basketball warfare, is not our idea of a pleasant situation. Only a person of truly championship calibre could come through in such a situation, and if he does, he deserves all the praise we can possibly give.

The last two basketball games played on our home floor were the most hectic and inspired basketball contests we have had the privilege of seeing during the past few seasons.

One can not estimate what part the cheers of the students play in winning any contest. However, this much is certain. Long, loud, and forceful cheering will do no harm. In the above contests, the cheering from the sidelines was, in places, "somethun feerce"; on the other hand, however, it was extremely weak and insipid in spots. These "spots" occurred only when a new yell was called for.

The present cheer-leading squad has received much praise for the stellar work done thus far, but we must remember that they cannot do all the cheering that is required. We must also remember that staunch support from the sidelines is necessary in all games, and more so when Elizabethtown is seemingly on the losing end of the score.

In an effort to iron out the rocky spots in our cheering caused by our ignorance of the yells, we are printing elsewhere in this issue new cheers and yells that have been recently adopted.

"ABE" says--

The Master recognized the importance of little things in life in determining courses of conduct. He said concerning the eye: "The lamp of the body is the eye; if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light. But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If, therefore, the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!"

This fine part of our constitution, the eye, seems as much the receptacle and seat of our passions, appetites, and inclinations, as the mind itself; at least it is the outward portal to introduce them into the house within, or perhaps, the common thoroughfare to let our affections pass in and out. Love, anger, pride, and avarice, all visibly move in these little orbs. The chief fame of painters and literary artists rests upon their ability to portray and suggest certain rare hints of feelings. As to literature, it is sufficient to say that words allusive to traits of facial expression, and especially the eyes, are the immemorial and chosen means of suggesting personality.

In the words of the Master is found a figure of speech which conveys the results of man's outlook upon life as a whole; for the way in which a man sees things affects the way in which he acts, and therefore affects the very nature and conduct of the man. If any beam or mote in the eye of an individual hinders his outlook, then is the whole body full of darkness. To state the same truth differently, a distorted outlook on life, no matter how small the distortion, may cause the whole character of a man to be blighted with darkness. A man has only one virtue, and only one, genuine and complete. He cannot possess one grace without the intermingling of life and reciprocal action of all the others. There have been great men who could play delightful music on a single string of a violin, but there never was a man who could produce the harmonies of heaven in his soul, by a one-stringed virtue.

Also on Friday, Dr. Herman H. Horne, author of a number of religious texts, and Chairman of the Departments of Philosophy and History of Education of New York University, New York City, lectured on the problem of the relationship of the Church and the State. He emphasized various needs of the Church in this time, some of which are: A religious survey of communities as a working basis for the Church's program; more Scripture reading in the home and the school to aid in the development of character; training of youth and adults through the Daily Vacation Bible School, pulpit instruction, and separate training classes for character education; a study of past church history as a basis on which to build future Church history; and a study of Christian internationalism. In his evening lecture he stated that the "old church under God will yet be the means of the salvation of the new state. It has the unbroken promise of the Son, 'The gates of hell shall not prevail against it'."

Dr. Floyd Mallott, Professor of Old Testament and Church History, of Bethany Biblical Seminary, contributed valuable thoughts in a Bible Study of the "Book of Ecclesiastes." Dr. Mallott led in a discussion of a man's search for life's chief good. The total goal of living was found to be summarized in the statement "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God and keep His commandments: for this is the whole of man." Dr. Mallott also spoke in two evening services about worldly conditions, the Church with Christ as its leader. He also emphasized the value of the kingdom of God as transcendent above all other qualified values.

Rev. Minor Myers, and Mrs. I. E. Oberholtzer, missionaries on furlough from China, depicted the Chinese people in their present situation, and gave a ringing challenge to the Church of Jesus Christ for strenuous missionary activities. Rev. Myers also showed three films on the life and habits of the Chinese as the Church of the Brethren found them.

Other speakers on the roster included members of the Elizabethtown College faculty, and ministers of nearby Churches of the Brethren. The Church in her relation to various problems, such as Peace, Economics, Temperance, Home Life, Rural Life, and Personal Christian Living, were discussed.

QUINTET WINS THREE IN ROW

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

That spell of spring-like weather that prevailed recently set our wandering thoughts on baseball, and they've been there ever since . . . Diamond prospects on the Hill look very good this year . . . Coach Herr has all the lettermen back but five—Captain Shelley Miller, Bud Weaver, and Gochbauer (who now goes to Albright), among the regulars, and pitchers Red Lander and George Raker . . . Tam Baugher will make a strong bid for Weaver's post, while any one of several aspirants will attempt to fill the other outfield posts, so that first base and the pitching mound represent the crippled spots . . . Red Meyer will be out after the initial sack, and can probably look for a lot of competition . . . As for the hurling staff, Rudisill can take care of most of the games, but there will be still some left over and the new mound choices must have plenty on the ball if the Ghosts are to match that long winning streak of 1937.

A whole back yard full of gardenias to the Galloping Ghosts for lowering Juniata's colors in that 28 to 27 melee . . . The Indians came, but their foray was unsuccessful, so they returned to their reservation in a huff . . . There'll be "plentiful pyrotechnics" when next those two rivals meet.

We've been bitten by the predicting bug, and this is as good a time as ever to delve into the unexplored realm of 1938 and try to pick a few winners here and there . . . Gettysburg to rise up and snatch that Eastern Conference crown after a hard struggle . . . Tommy Farr, the Crooning Welshman, to hop all over Jim Braddock in their April return match, and Joe Louis to protect his World's Title by dusting Max Schmeling next summer . . . As for baseball, look out for Micky Cochrane's Bengals in the Junior Loop and the Chicago Cubs in the National . . . Bub Feller to set a new strike-out record and rise to great heights, and Jimmy Foxx to beat out Joe Dimaggio in the home run department.

In the business of track, we can look for a lot of new records, and keep your weather eye on that Lancaster boy, Barney Ewell, for some sweet stepping . . . Tennis will soon miss Don Budge, who's about ready to give in and work for a living, but Bobby Riggs looks like a rear successor to his Red-headed Majesty . . . Young Sam Snead looks like the best of the golfers, and he'll probably be the leading breadwinner for the long year . . . Remember that game of football—it'll be the Minnesota Gophers on the campus and the Washington Redskins among the pros next fall . . . and Southern California will make it mighty tough for all those coast outfits. Right in here they still have a team at Pittsburgh . . . But enough of this prophecy—that's enough to ruin anyone's predicting reputation, so we'll place a period at the end of this sentence and let it go at that.

Gain Hard-Fought Victories Over Juniata's Redskins Blue Ridge And Susquehanna

COACH IRA R. HERR

Juniata

After eight futile years, Coach Ira Herr's Galloping Ghosts of Elizabethtown College tossed a bomb into the Juniata camp on January 15 and triumphed in a 28 to 27 victory over the veteran Indians.

The Phantoms got off to a fast start, holding an early 10 to 3 lead, but the visitors came back strong to tie the going at 13 all just as the half ended. The second half was wildly fought, with a last-minute free toss by Roy Rudisill providing the slim margin of victory.

Coach Swartz, of Juniata, placed on the Hill court the identical 1937 line-up, but the hot pace set by the inspired home dribblers proved just a little too exacting for the Red Men, and their stock decreased just long enough for the locals to slip in the winning counter.

Once again it was the tight defense of the Hillians that broke up one enemy play after another and resulted in an ultimate Elizabethtown conquest. The locals employed a man-for-man defensive type of play to top advantage in consistently stopping goalward thrusts by the Indians.

Every member of the Herr-coached squad was brilliant, but Rudisill towered highest in individual scoring. The black-haired guard spread the cords four times from the field and added a deuce of charity markers to total ten points. Jimmy Linton, shifted from guard to forward, got his baptism in the new slot by letting fly successful tallies.

Halin and Weaver paced the invaders' assault, both men being hard to stop on the offensive while contributing some much-needed defensive efforts in the bargain.

Both halves were similar in that E-town but up a big lead in the first canto only to lose it as Juniata locked the proceedings at the close of the period, while the Tribe slipped into a six-point advantage in the second half but Rudisill and Linton ganged up to stalemate the count again. After that tie, the same two collaborated with Disney to register four more chalk-marks as against three for the desperate opposition.

Susquehanna

Displaying a dazzling attack in the first half of the game, Elizabethtown chalked up a hot victory over Susquehanna University Tuesday night, on the home floor, to erase the setback suffered on the University's floor on the night of January 11. The final score was 41 to 38.

Star of the evening was Sam Jones, diminutive forward, who accounted for 14 markers. Jones, who was out-weighted and out-pushed all evening, by his speed managed to out-manuever his heavier opponents, and quite a few times raced down the floor to ring up a double.

Scoring honors of the evening, however, went to Gould, forward on the visiting team, who managed to sink sensational one-handed pivot shots throughout the game. Gould tallied eight doubles and four foul tosses for a total of twenty points. Jones sank six doubles and converted two charity throws for a total of 14 points.

Blue Ridge

Old Man Victory knocked again at the Elizabethtown College portals on Friday, January 29, and Coach Herr's embattled Ghosts not only admitted him but threw a feast to him in the form of a rollicking 34 to 19 win over Blue Ridge College.

Played on the small Blue Ridge court, the game was exceptionally fast and rough, and the first half proved too close for comfort, with E-town holding a narrow margin when the gun sounded through the New Windsor gymnasium. However, a strategic shift from a man-for-man defense to a zone defense enabled the Pennsylvania courtsters to bottle up their rivals' attack, while they breezed through to a fifteen-point decision.

"Chicklet" Baugher emerged from the floor with nine points to his name, and was closely followed by Luke Sauder and Stan Disney, who chalked up eight and seven markers respectively. The entire team displayed clever floor work and accurate shooting ability.

Thine Eyes" and "Do Not Chide Me" by her accompanist, Erno Baloch.

Rose Bampton, American soprano of opera, concert, and radio fame, inspired a large audience in the Lebanon High School auditorium on January 27 with her excellent voice and paramount interpretations. Miss Bampton possesses a thoroughly trained voice which she has under perfect control, a gracious manner, a graceful bearing, and a pleasing personality which makes her unforgettable to her audiences; in short, she is a truly great singer of which America may be proud. Included in her program were "My Father, Me Thinks I See" and "Come My Beloved" by Handel, "The Young Nun" by Schubert, "Pastorale" by Bizet, "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" by Hageman, and "The Messenger" by Deems Taylor. As an encore, she sang the gorgeous Puccini number "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly". Her accompanist, Nils Nelson, played, as piano solos, several German dances by Beethoven and "Valse" his own composition.

Intra-Mural Basketball

The annual intra-mural basketball season was officially ushered in January 3, when the Juniors defeated the Seniors by a score of 27 to 17, and the Freshmen surprised the fans by a beautiful passing attack and defeated the Sophs 17 to 9.

Visiting Day

'29, Supervisor of Music in the Manor Township Schools and tenor soloist at Grace Lutheran Church, Lancaster. K. Ezra Bucher '32, will fill the role of toastmaster.

At 7 o'clock will be the grand introduction of the evening's festivities when the college sextet will clash with those of former years. Misses Barnes, Brumbaugh, Brown, Glasmire, Schlosser, Bishop, Kapp and other stars of yesterday will be seen in action on the basketball court. This introductory contest promises to be the most fiercely fought battle that has been waged on the gymnasium court in many a moon. Following the initial fracas the Varsity will clash with Pharmacy and Science. As yet no comparative scores are available to use in "doping" the game, but previous meets with the future pharmacists have always been stiff contests. Since the Varsity nosed out the Juniata Redskins on the home court, Alumni will want to be on hand to see the Varsity "strut their stuff."

As a social feature to conclude the day's festivities the Y. W. C. A. will observe open "Heart Havoc" in the social room where delicacies for tooth and palate will be served, not only in true Y. W. C. A. style, but amid most alluring Valentine decorations and surroundings. Miss Margaret A. Miller '38, President of the Y. W. C. A., and her corps of assistants are working hard to make the final event of Alumni Visiting Day a success.

Alumni Notes

'35—The marriage of Miss Dorothy Marie Feterman to Elwood S. Hackman was solemnized Saturday evening, January 15, at 8 o'clock, in the Harrisburg Church of the Brethren. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Herbert Miller '37, pastor of the Quaker-town Church of the Brethren and also a theological student at Princeton. To add to the solemnity of the occasion only candle lights were used in the church. The bride is a graduate of Susquehanna Township High School and was formerly employed by the Harrisburg Trust Company. The groom is a commercial teacher in the Myerstown High School. The happy couple are located at 204 E. Main Street, Myers-town.

On October 23, after the Larry program. The earlier tearoom was effective in entertaining students and guests and in aiding the finances of the organization.

Early in the year the task of balancing the budget was lightened by Mr. John Miller and other friends of Lititz. Mr. Miller, who was convinced of the need for a new radio in the Y room, secured the lowest possible terms on a new General Electric radio. By soliciting among the Lititz alumni and friends of the college, he raised the money necessary to pay the cost of the radio.

The organization has contributed to the success of the Bible Institute through courtesy to the guests and by serving tea in the Social Room each afternoon of the Institute. These teas were made possible through the cooperation of every member of the Y, the Freshmen who washed dishes in obscurity as well as the Sophomores and upperclass girls who planned, poured, and served.

ed for membership. Everyone enrolled in commercial subjects is being invited to membership, provided their grades are up to a high average. The purpose of the organization is to promote interest in the business world and in the study of commercial work in the school and the office, and to encourage a greater familiarity with modern business.

President Luke Sauder has appointed Landis Eby chairman of the initiation committee, assisted by Marion Bardell, Curtis Gerhart, and Merle Heckler. This committee will make all arrangements for the induction of new members into the organization. The initiation is scheduled to take place on the evening of February 8.

Board of Trustees Revises Student Aid Program

Believing that the present administration of the program of Student Aid is not conducive to the best interests of Elizabethtown College, the Board of Trustees in their last meeting, revised the regulations governing the granting of scholarships, loans, and part-time employment.

Student aid in the future will be reserved for worthy students who are in real need of aid. This policy will help present students needing aid, as well as many now deprived of entering college.

The granting of free tuition scholarships has been discontinued. However, the scholarships for high school seniors of high scholastic standing are still available. Ministers and missionaries, and their children, and those of trustees, will be accommodated as in the past.

Present students in college who desire part time employment either on college or N. Y. A. time are urged to file application for such employment at the Treasurer's office within the next ten days.

This excludes library and laboratory assistants, and special helpers to teachers. Twenty-five students are needed as dishwashers, waitresses, and cleaners, while thirty to forty students can be accommodated in various types of work as long as N. Y. A. funds are available.

Sigrid Onegin, Noted Contralto, At York February 21st

Sigrid Onegin, famous Norwegian contralto, will appear in concert on Monday February 21 at 8:15 in the York High School Auditorium. This is the sixth in this year's series of ten concerts on the roster of the Community Concert Associations of Lancaster, York, and Lebanon.

Forced at an early age to find employment in order to help keep her family from want, Mme. Onegin worked as a typist and general secretary for the greater part of her youth. While employed in this manner during the day, she found time at night to study music. Finally, her determination and persistence won her recognition and she embarked on her musical career. Since that time, she has steadily advanced until at the present she is one of the most beloved and admired artist contraltos since the great Schumann-Heink. Local concert members are advised to take advantage of this opportunity of hearing her.

Mrs. Klein Delights Chapel Audience

Mrs. Fred Klein, local soprano, delighted the student body with a group of well-chosen selections in the regular Chapel service on Thursday morning, Feb. 3. Her first two numbers were "Bist du bei mir" and "Meine Seele, lass es gehen" by Bach and were ably interpreted by Mrs. Klein in typical Bach fashion. The third number, "The Robin's Song" by White, displayed the soloist's flexibility and control of voice to excellent advantage. "The Answer" (Terry) and "Danny Boy", sung to the tune of the Londonderry Air and arranged by Weatherby, concluded the recital, leaving the student body inspired and refreshed. Mrs. E. G. Meyer, instructor of piano at Elizabethtown College, was her accompanist.

Senior Leaders Honored

Five members of the Senior Class have been chosen to represent Elizabethtown College in the American College Yearbook, an annual publication containing pictures and write-ups of the outstanding seniors in American colleges and universities.

The Eton students were chosen for their leadership in five fields, respectively, as follows: most representative, Margaret Miller; best personality, Mildred Miller; scholastically distinguished, James Linton; best athlete, Roy Rudisill; leadership in extra-curriculars, Richard Shaull.

These selections were made by the class itself, with the approval of the faculty.

Some time earlier in the year seven of the Senior class were nominated to have their names in another publication, Who's Who among American College and University students. These included, Mildred Miller, Margaret Miller, Mary Moore, James Beahm, Roy Rudisill, Richard Shaull and Luke Sauder.

Alumni To Return On Saturday

Alumni and friends of the college should remember that the Annual Alumni Visiting Day will be observed Saturday, February 19.

The program, as outlined in the last issue of the Etonian, will be carried out in detail. Present prospects point to a record attendance. Very likely the attendance will outstrip that of last year. The prospects are most excellent to oblige a larger number of Freshmen to leave the dining room than last year.

Once again, all Alumni, former students and friends of the college are invited to enjoy the gala festivities planned for this annual event.

Scientists Learn Of Histology

The Sigma Zeta held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, February 8, 1938 in the Biology laboratory. In its business meeting plans were discussed for a tour of Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, and improvements to be made in the field of Science on the Hill.

A projector is nearing completion under the workmanship of John Glass and Herman Leister. A collection of skulls is being made and also improvements in the "dark room" for the betterment of photography.

After the business meeting Samuel Geyer '39, spoke on the histological technique and William Sheaffer '38, demonstrated the process of making slides of animal tissue.

Awarded Medal

Mr. Albert Bzura, class of '39, was recently awarded the silver medal given by the Gregg Publishing Company, to any person who passes the 140 word per minute transcription test in shorthand. The test, a five minute dictation from Miss Bowman, was taken on December 16, and was witnessed by Miss Fogelsanger, Dr. Breidenstine, and Miss Betty Freeman. Mr. Bzura is enrolled in a course of Commercial Education.

Poll Favors Syphilis Tests

According to an article by Dr. George Gallup, director of the American Institute of Public Opinion, the nation is in favor of syphilis tests for mothers. Nearly nine out of every ten persons polled throughout the nation said each state should require doctors to test expectant mothers for syphilis.

Covering a carefully selected cross-section of the population in cities, towns and on farms, the Institute poll asked voters: "Would you favor a law requiring doctors to give every expectant mother a blood test for syphilis?" The national vote was 88 per cent "yes", 12 per cent "no". Among women it was 90 per cent in the affirmative, among men 87 per cent.

The vote is another evidence of the intense support the public is willing to give the anti-syphilis campaign. Last August an Institute poll found that 87 per cent of all voters would like to have a Wasserman test. Other surveys showed huge majorities in favor of Government clinics for syphilis control and compulsory venereal disease tests for all persons seeking marriage licenses.

The attitude of women toward venereal disease tests in pregnancy varies little in age groups or by income levels. The survey found that 95 out of every 100 women in the above average economic class favor such tests. The proportion among the average and below average is approximately the same. Among age groups, women below 35 tend to favor the tests more than women above 35, but the difference is small.

Peace-Minded Britain Volunteers

(Nofrontier News Service)

More than six out of every ten in Britain today would not volunteer in the event of war. Nearly eight out of every ten women would not urge their husbands to volunteer. This is the result of one of a series of surveys of public opinion carried out by "Cavalade," weekly news magazine.

Interviewers conducting the surveys are scattered throughout the country. Results obtained are claimed to be within 2 per cent accurate for the country as a whole.

An attitude of the "hardest cynicism" toward war was found among those questioned. In the case of both sexes the age group between 30 and 50 yielded the strongest anti-war sentiment, while those under 30 were the least "peace-minded."

The result of the survey led "Cavalade" to comment that "the outlook for British pacifist organizations appears good." Particular attention was paid to the Peace Pledge Union whose paper, "Peace News," welcomed the findings of the survey.

Soc. Room Programs

On Friday evening, February 4, the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. sponsored a popcorn party in the social room.

Midred Miller planned the program, which consisted of games in charge of Beatrice Myers and Dick Shaull, and the popping of corn in charge of Grace Wenger.

The following Friday evening a number of students remained in the social room to meet Professor Quiz who turned out to be Midred Miller with a list of brain teasers. These served their purpose in providing some entertainment for those who remained for the week-end.

More of these programs are eagerly expected in the future.

Debaters Make Plans For E. Pa.--N. J. Trip

Several Radio Debates Are Tentatively Scheduled

The debating season is about to get under way with the burden of a heavy schedule resting solely upon the men's teams, there being no women's teams this year. Consequently the men's schedule will be somewhat larger than it has been during previous years. At present there are about twenty debates scheduled with a possibility of a half dozen more to be added as the season progresses.

Most of the debates this year will follow the conventional style. A few, however, will be debated following the Oregon style, consisting of two presentation speeches, two cross-examinations, and short summations of the debate. Most of the debates will be non-decision arguments. About one-third of the debates are decision.

This year the Elizabethtown debating teams are entering into a new field, with several radio debates tentatively scheduled to be broadcast over station WGAL in Lancaster. The teams are also taking a rather extensive week's tour thru eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey and will spend a day or two debating schools within the vicinity of Philadelphia. Several debates will also be given before the civic clubs of Elizabethtown and before nearby secondary school.

The four men selected for the varsity debating teams are: Mr. Albert Bzura, Mr. Robert Eshleman, Mr. James Beahm, and Mr. Carl Herr, the former two being newcomers to the squad. The teams are being coached by Professor G. R. Saylor, professor of modern languages.

The question for debate is: Resolved, that the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes. This question will be used for the majority of the debates. One of the feature debates of the season will be the debate between Elizabethtown College and Rutgers University over radio station WNEW, New York City, on March 9, 9:30 P. M., on the question: Resolved, that students of the American Colleges and Universities should refuse to participate in any war on foreign soil.

The season officially opens on Thursday evening with a dual debate with Lebanon Valley College, the negative team debating at Annville, and the affirmative at Elizabethtown in the College Chapel. The season will close with our negative engaging in an inter-sectional debate with Massachusetts State College.

We may also hold several extension debates (debates between our own teams) before neighboring High Schools.

A debate with Saint Francis College, one of the two colleges to win over the Elizabethtown debating team last year, will be held in the College Chapel on Friday, February 18, the eve of Alumni homecoming. This debate is scheduled for 8:00 P. M., and will be a decision debate, as are also the two debates with Lebanon Valley.

Following is an incomplete schedule of debates for the coming season. A complete schedule is expected to be released within the near future.

To Receive Banking Material

Through the courtesy of the Research Council of the American Banker's Association, the library has been placed on the mailing list to receive without cost pamphlets and publications on banking and related subjects. The material which will be received is wholly informational in character—some of it is technical, some of it of more general public interest. None of it will be propaganda, either in character or purpose.

OPPORTUNITY

Anyone desiring a copy of the 1938 Etonian should place his order and pay $2.75 to Roy Pfaltzgraff, James Beahm, or Peggy Miller, as soon as is convenient. After March 15 the price will be $3.00. Don't delay.

Miss Martin Fetes Volunteers

The Student Volunteer organization, at the gracious invitation of Miss Martha Martin, advisor to the group, went en masse to her home for an evening of sociability. Miss Martin deemed it helpful for the members of the organization, who had faithfully served in deputation and campus work of a religious and missionary nature, to assemble themselves in an informal get-together.

Miss Martin led the group in a prayer for the family of Rev. I. E. Oberholtzer who, while his family is in Elizabethtown, is serving on the field in China. Special prayer was made for the family in view of a serious sickness of Rev. I. E. Oberholtzer's father who lives in Elizabethtown.

Games and group songs of interest were played and sung much to the enjoyment of every individual. These were followed by a bounty of refreshments.

Editorial

ONCE IN TWO YEARS

Would you give two cents apiece for a picture of each teacher and student in Elizabethtown College? Well, for less than that you can get more than that in the new ETOWNIAN to be published this spring.

School life is short; graduation comes only too soon, even for the freshmen. But everyone as he leaves Etown will take with him countless memories of the experiences he had here, a set of mental pictures which will make his school days a tangible reality.

Those images in the mind will gradually fade and to that extent one's stay at Etown will lose meaning. Here is the value and purpose of the yearbook. It freshens one's memory; it makes the past live again.

Those tense seconds near the end of a close basketball game, the odors of the chemical laboratory, the professor's jokes, "bull sessions," outings at Mt. Gretna, vespers by the lake, and, if you wish, Classroom experiences—all will be recalled and made vivid in a permanent possession, the ETOWNIAN!

Every student ought to get a copy of his yearbook. In many schools all students are required to pay a yearbook fee at the beginning of the term, a plan which reduces the cost of the book for everybody. At Etown we must rely on the cooperation of the students and on their sense of responsibility to make the publication a success.

Can the ETOWNIAN staff depend on your support?

THEY'VE DONE IT AGAIN !

The debaters have bitten off a big schedule for another season. All that remains is for them to swallow it. There are those who think they have bitten off more than they can swallow, but that is yet to be seen. Anyway, why look at it pessimistically

The fact that they were able to get so formidable an array of opponents attests to the reputation our debating teams have built up by their successes in the past.

It is possible that they will lose some debates. In fact, it wouldn't be surprising in the least. That is a chance every team that competes in any contest has to take. But the fear of defeat should never deter us from accepting a challenge. Is it a dishonor to lose to an opponent ten times our size?

No, the forensic fighters are rather to be commended for their courage. There is no reason why we should not expand and increase our reputation in this field. Debating has long been Elizabethtown's forte. This year's schedule offers unusual opportunities to win recognition. We must go forward!

"ABE" says--

There was brought to my attention recently the ignobleness of profane execrations. I firmly agree with E. H. Chapin that he who indulges in the bitter habit of swearing is no gentleman. No matter what his stamp may be in society, or what clothes he wears, or what culture he boasts, this coarse vanity betrays a coarse and brutal will. One of the statements of The White Cross Pledge reads: "I promise by the help of God to endeavor to put down all indecent language and coarser jests" (either in myself or in others).

Within the last few days there have come to my mind three distinct types of individuals who either indulge in this superfluity or naughtiness themselves or who take pleasure in hearing another use this language. There is primarily the individual who openly profanes everything sacred by a voluntary or involuntary expression of evil feelings by swearing. If someone dislikes his language, the swearing individual is quite likely to stamp him with the epithet, "A semi-pious preacher", or "a false-modesty"

There is a second individual who does not swear, but who nevertheless takes delight in hearing a filthy jest or a profane word. He is as much guilty of the offense of swearing as is the individual who swears. He who worships an idol is himself like that idol.

Finally, there is the third group who take pleasure in quoting the foulness of another individual. Recently I heard an individual on the dormitory not by request but by his own volition, quote quite often a profane oath of an individual whom he had heard. I consider that this type of individual is as guilty of the offense of swearing as much as is the man who swears.

If foul-mouthedness is to die out it must begin by giving vent to emotions in some more conventional form of expression rather than through the channel of profanity. Furthermore, if individuals who do hear swearing would themselves smother the desire to repeat it, swearing would be greatly reduced.

Student Forum

Dear Mr. Editor:

The following bit of research will, I think, prove interesting to many students on the hill.

Ever since the Hallowe'en party of 1934, when all the fellows who were masquerading as women procured shoes to fit them, I have always contended that the size of shoes worn by Brethren was above the average. However, such evidence as I could collect left too much to judgment and therefore there was no scientific proof for the basis of my contention.

I enlisted the aid of G. W. who appeared interested in the project, and after explaining the matter to her, gave the work of collecting data over into her hands. The results herein set forth were obtained by a personal interview with sixty-four women on the campus. The table below presents the results of this survey in tabulated form.

Brethren Frequency	Brethren Size	Non-Brethren Frequency	Non-Brethren Size
0	3½	1	3½
0	4	0	4
2	4½	0	4½
2	5	4	5
8	5½	10	5½
4	6	3	6
2	6½	5	6½
2	7	5	7
2	7½	4	7½
5	8	1	8
2	8½	0	8½
1	9	1	9
Average size Brethren—6.5000		Average size Non-Brethren—6.2059

Number of sizes by which Brethren exceed Non-Brethren—2941.

Percent by which Brethren exceed Non-Brethren—4.524.

Now, what conclusions can be drawn from this survey? If you will examine the table, or better yet, make a graph, you will note that the most popular shoe size is 5½ for both Brethren and Non-Brethren. Such a high frequency of this size indicates either of two things: (1) the women lied about their size, or (2) they are wearing shoes which are too small for them.

Another survey would be needed to establish the reason for this. The failure of either of these tables to fit the distribution curve indicates that some outside factor is operating. We wonder whether the co-eds are sacrificing their foundation to the god of beauty. However, this survey indicates that on the campus of Elizabethtown College the average size of the feet of the Brethren women is greater than that of the Non-Brethren. This does not prove that the feminine side of the Brethren Church as a whole have larger feet, but a difference of 4½ percent, as in the case above, renders it probable that all Brethren have larger feet than people of other denominations. Just what significance the size of feet has to do with one's personality or intelligence has not as yet been determined. A future survey may indicate the importance of what has been discovered.

Respectfully yours,
John Glass.

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

13, and laid plans for the Little Ivy League, which will resemble the large-scale Eastern Intercollegiate Conference.

At least these three schools will enter the conference, according to the Phantom mentor, and Juniata College will doubtless enter into the picture before long, although the Redskins had no representative at the initial confab. . . . Football, basketball tennis track, and baseball will be played according to the Conference regulations. . . . Here on the Hill, of course football and track will be left out, but the Ghosts will make up for that lack with plenty of the other three sports. . . . This idea certainly is just what the doctor ordered for Elizabethtown and sister schools, and is a bold step in the right athletic direction.

By the way, Roger, what Blue and Gray basketball team trekked to Juniata on the wrong day, February 15 instead of 16? . . . Extreme felicitations to Raymie Frey, Lebanon Valley bright light, for the 34 counters he rolled up in a ball game last week.

Any one who has ever written a column is familiar with that feeling of sitting at the typewriter a few minutes before the deadline and precious little to write about. . . . Imagine then my delight at the approach of Coach Ira Herr with the following information: three or four of the smaller Pennsylvania institutions will organize an athletic conference in the very near future. . . . Officials from Susquehanna, Moravian, and Elizabethtown sat in session on Sunday, February

And still they debate about next year's basketball rules. . . . That hue and cry about the game being too fast for a select group of healthy American athletes continues. . . . There are a great many advocates of the new rule, yours truly included, and of course there are a lot who recommend immediate scrapping of the amendment and the recall of the aged-in-the-wood center-jump. . . . Most of the beefing comes as a result of the great hurrying and breakneck downfloor dashes on the quick throw-in. . . . A PIAA official has the right slant on that. . . . He suggests that the referee wait for about five seconds before allowing the players to throw the ball in. . . . In that time the defense would have more time to form and the attacking outfit would necessarily work the ball down the floor more slowly. . . . This sounds all right, so why not give it a fling, rulemakers? At any rate, it's much better than taking such a backward step as the re-adoption of the jump.

Intra-Mural Basketball

On Thursday, February 10, the Juniors defeated the Freshmen in a thrilling battle, which required two extra periods, the score 27-24. The powerful aggregation of Seniors, put on the power and crushed the yearlings by a score of 29-16.

The Juniors are pacing the League with 3 victories and no defeats, followed closely by the Seniors with 2 victories and one defeat, that by the Juniors. The Freshmen are in third place with 1 victory and 2 defeats. The Sophs unable to hit their stride have not yet become victorious in a single encounter.

One-half of the schedule has been played.

Win Two, Drop Three

Win Over Wilson And Gallaudet; Lose to Maryland State, Bridgewater and Juniata

On February 10, the Ghosts began a three-day invasion of the Mid-South in which they won two games in the Capitol City of the nation and dropped a third at Towson, Md., on the way home. Coach Ira Herr's cagers were hard pressed to dows a Wilson aggregation that proved much stronger on their home court than they had been at Elizabethtown.

Led by Gordon, who tallied twenty-one points during the entire game, the Wilsonites made the going so rough that the count was knotted at half-time, 21 all. However, with Rudy Rudisill setting the pace, the locals came back strong to annex the victory with a second half drive that netted them 25 points to the Teachers' 15. Baugher, with fifteen points, was high individual scorer for the night, while Rudy rolled up fourteen.

On the next night, the Phantoms leveled the colors of Gallaudet College by winning a 48 to 34 decision. In so doing, the Herr-men administered almost as crushing a setback to the Washingtonians as did mighty St. Joseph's College the week previous.

The starting five went on a real scoring spree, with young Disney hitting his stride and whisking through six field goals plus four free pointers for a high total of sixteen counters. Rudisill gained twelve points, while Luke Sauder pushed through nine tallies. Drake, the small but speedy Gallaudet forward led his team's more meager scoring parade with seven goals from the field.

This game found the Blue and Gray passers at top form in passing and shooting as they rimmed the basket continually with accurate shots, while holding the opposition, with the lone exception of the evasive Drake, by some excellent guarding.

Homeward bound the Etownians ran into a snag in the Maryland State Teachers College five, and bowed beneath a 42 to 28 score in the game held in the Townson, Md., gym.

The first half was played on almost even terms, with Maryland holding a slight two point edge, 18 to 16, but the Towson dribblers stepped out and displayed the dazzling passing that was so much in evidence during the early moments of their game here in Elizabethtown, thereafter and coasted in to victory over a tired E-town team.

Roy Rudisill added to his total of points by rolling up three field and three foul goals, to give him 35 in the three games. Austerlitz, the fast cutting, black-haired Maryland forward, bucketed seven field goals and added one charity toss for fifteen points. After the trip Elizabethtown's season record stood at seven wins and five losses.

Redskins Get Vengeance

Wednesday night, February 16th, Juniata College wreaked vengeance on the Elizabethtown quintet for the setback handed them several weeks ago on the home floor. The score was 33 to 28 at the final whistle.

The Redskins took the lead at the start of the game, but the Ghosts then took it over and held it until the final six minutes of play. The sensational shots of Danny Geiser in the closing minutes of the game raked the game out of the fire for the Juniataans.

Bridgewater Hands Out Upset

After carrying off three straight decisions, the Elizabethtown College basketball team took an unexpected tumble on February 5, and dropped a hard fought battle to Bridgewater College, 48 to 40 on the Hill floor.

The Galloping Ghosts stepped out fast and held a 29 to 24 lead at half time, but failed to hold the pace during the second period and the Maryland collegians out-scored them by a 24 to 11 count, dropping field goals from all angles of the court. The ability of almost any one of the visitors to find the range continually proved the downfall of the locals. E. Miller led the Bridgewater attack with twelve markers, but four of his teammates split the cords with a quartet of double deckers apiece.

Chick Baugher paced E-town's scoring drive in the first half, when he netted eleven points, but then was held scoreless during the entire rest of the game. Stan Disney, the rapidly improving Freshman center, accounted for nine points, one field goal coming just as the final gun barked, while Roy Rudisill and Sam Jones each chalked up seven tallies.

The Elizabethtown Girls Varsity lost to the University of Baltimore femmes in the opening encounter of the evening. Freshmen scoring sensation Jane Strite basketed six field goals and six foul goals to lead the scoring with eighteen points.

California adults are making up for early deficiencies of the "little red school house" days. A record breaking total of 10,150 adults are now enrolled in the adult educational courses of the Los Angeles campus of the University of California.

Students at Emory University are taking up roller skating. One student who wanted to get to classes faster bought the first pair and started the new practice. Now it has replaced the model "A" as the badge of the undergraduate.

Robert L. Rutter, University of Washington student, has solved the high cost of living while he is going to school. He lives aboard a 36-foot yawl moored to a dock on the southern rim of the University campus.

Wearing shoes is a terrible price to pay for an education, according to Ingrid Larsen, coed at the University of Minnesota. At home in Hawaii she never wore shoes, so she doffs hers as soon as she gets home from classes.

To escape six more weeks of winter, a coed at the University of Iowa caught Mr. Groundhog and blindfolded him on Groundhog Day.

Quotable Quotes

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"I have nothing to say about the European war situation. I have nothing to say about the youth movement. I have made no exhaustive analysis of economic trends nor have I developed any profound theories, sound or otherwise, concerning the recent movement toward development of totalitarian states." Non-conformist Prof. R. D. Scott of the University of Nebraska, recently returned from a summer tour of Europe tells reporters about the conclusions he didn't draw.

"Unemployment today constitutes the greatest threat to democracy and all democratic institutions." Dr. Paul W. Chapman, Georgia vocational guidance director, advocates widespread substitution of occupational education for traditional studies of doubtful value.

Over Two Hundred Attend Alumni Visiting Day, Feb. 19

With a large number of alumni and former students present, Annual Visiting Day proved to be a happy occasion on Saturday, February 19, from the first scheduled event to the final delightful service rendered by the Y. M. C. A. in the "Heart House". Disregarding the weatherman's desperate attempts, over two hundred were in attendance.

With K. Ezra Bucher '32 in the chair, the Alumni Council met in Winter Session at 10 o'clock in the College Chapel. Plans were made for an intensive Alumni Fund Campaign in April and for Alumni Day May 28. Lunch was served at noon.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock with C. H. Royer '23, Vice-President of the Alumni Association, presiding. Due to a severe cold, Miss Edna Barnes '37 could not present her musical numbers; Dr. A. G. Breidenstine '27 led the assembled alumni and former students in singing some of the old favorites. President R. W. Schlosser '11, delivered the afternoon address. In his discussion the President outlined the plans for the college for the near future. He also gave a word picture of a grade A alumnus. As a concluding number to a pleasant afternoon, LeRoy Metzler '34, instructor in the York Senior High School, presented several vocal selections. Following the program tea was served by the Y. W. C. A. in the social room.

The Fellowship Dinner was served in the college dining hall at 5 o'clock. Approximately 150 alumni and friends were present. Beginning with the fruit cup and continuing to the dismissal, all had a most pleasant time. With K. Ezra Bucher '32, President of the Alumni Association, filling the role of toastmaster, Galen C. Kilhefner and Mrs. Kilhefner '30 and '33, presented a vocal duet as the first of the after-dinner features. Norman F. Reber '30 delivered the address. His discussion was a scholarly presentation of the baneful influences and implications of a dictatorship, especially in the realm of intellectual and cultural activities. Paul W. Eshelman '29, presented the concluding musical numbers. It was his first appearance in the role of soloist since graduation and his renditions were genuinely appreciated.

The big evening attractions scheduled for the visiting alumni and friends were two hard-fought basketball games. In the first encounter the college women played a team of alumni and former students. The Varsity battled Philadelphia Pharmacy and Science. The first game was taken by the college with a score of 27-22, in the second contest the Varsity was nosed out in the final minutes of the game by a score of 41-40.

Commerciantes

Monday night, February 28, the Commerciantes initiated thirteen freshmen into the organization. The initiation was held in the Science Building, at 7:30.

The following freshmen were formally inducted:

Pearl Brock, Robert Forney, Wilmer Fridinger, Florence Getz, Ruth Heinaman, Perry Hull, Robert Keller, Anna Price, Jenny Raukko, Alegra Royer, Earl Smith, Emory Stouffer and Anna Sweitzer.

Landis Eby, chairman of the Initiation Committee, and his cohorts, through their novel ideas, managed to make life miserable for the freshmen and correspondingly amusing to the members of the organization.

Warden Speaks At "Y" Meeting

Warden Foust of the Lancaster County Prison addressed the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. at a joint meeting in the chapel on Monday, February 21.

In his address Warden Foust stated that some sort of a religious foundation laid in early life will do much to keep a youth out of crime. When anyone gets under his supervision he tries to learn all he can about the prisoner's home life with a view to determining why he went wrong.

Warden Foust also believes the purpose of a jail should not be merely for confinement but to make a better man of the individual. Often however, the reverse is true because the beginner in crime becomes an expert through contact with hardened criminals while in prison. Segregation would prevent this state of affairs but the prisons are far too much crowded to allow effective segregation.

The Warden also stated that many prisoners come back with another sentence because, being unable to find legitimate employment after serving time, they get among their former companions and naturally drift back into crime.

The class in Criminology under Professor Weller is planning to visit the penal institution at Lancaster within the next few weeks.

The Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. held a joint session at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. M. Hill on Thursday, March 3.

S. & B. Selects Penrod

"Penrod", a comedy in four acts based on Booth Tarkington's Penrod stories, has been selected for the annual Sock and Buskin production. The play to be directed by Miss Sheaffer will be given on the evening of March 25, at 9 P. M., in the College Auditorium.

"Penrod" was selected by the play committee, headed by Paul Hoffman, after much consideration and discussion of other plays. Others which were considered included, The Seven Keys to Baldpate, Lena Rivers.

The cast of characters for "Penrod" is as follows:

Penrod—Helen Duder
Mr. and Mrs. Schofield, Penrod's parents—Paul Hoffman and Mildred Miller

Margaret, Penrod's sister—Lois Brehm

Bob Williams, a suitor of Margaret's—James Linton

Herbert Dode, another suitor—James Beahm

Sam Williams, Penrod's playmate—Sam Jones

Herman, colored playmate of Penrod's—Luke Ebersole

Vernon, Herman's brother—Maurice Rishel

Della, the cook—Beverly Noll

Jarge, Della's handy man—Paul Cassel

Marjery Jones, Penrod's sweetheart—Margaret Curry

Mr. Jones, Marjery's father—Albert Bzura

German Magazines In Library

The library has entered subscriptions to two German magazines.

The first of these publications added to satisfy the hunger of students for the best in German culture is Die deutsche (Rundschau). This magazine is a monthly, published in Berlin and features articles of a scholarly type in every field of thought and human endeavor.

The second one is the American-German Review, which features articles of a purely cultural type; its pages are not open to discussions of political problems. It seeks to serve as a common bond between the United States and the German speaking people. The Review is a quarterly, published by the Carl Schurz Memorial Foundation, Inc., with offices in Philadelphia. Back numbers have been secured to complete the file. The library also receives the Sonntags-blatt Staatszeitung und Herald.

Debaters On Week's Tour

The Elizabethtown College debaters, Mr. Albert Bzura, Mr. James Beahm, Mr. Robert Eshleman, and Mr. Carl Herr, will leave Monday for a week's tour of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

Monday, March 7 they will meet the debating teams from Moravian College and Muhlenberg College; Tuesday, March 8, Upsala College of East Orange, New Jersey; Wednesday evening, March 9, Rutgers University of New Brunswick, New Jersey, and Thursday, March 10, Drexel Institute of Technology in Philadelphia.

The debate with Rutgers University on Wednesday evening, March 9, will be on the question: Resolved, That the students of American Colleges and Universities should refuse to participate in any war on foreign soil. Mr. James Beahm and Mr. Carl Herr will debate for Elizabethtown College, upholding the affirmative side of the question. This debate is scheduled to be broadcast over station WNEW, New York City, at 9:30 P. M.

Returning from their trip, Mr. Bzura and Mr. Beahm are scheduled to debate Drexel Institute of Technology over radio station WGAL, Lancaster at 4:30 P. M., March 12, this debate on the question: Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes.

Alumna Speaks In Chapel

Miss Emma Ziegler, an alumna of Elizabethtown College, and a missionary to India for seven years, spoke in the Chapel program on February 17.

Miss Ziegler presented the various missionary challenges of India, namely the challenge of Islam, the challenge of the caste system, and the depressed classes.

"The more you know the better", Miss Ziegler stated to the student body in reference to the necessary preparation for missionary work. She placed emphasis on a thorough, well-rounded, and comprehensive training as essential.

Choir To Present Opera

The Elizabethtown College Choir has selected for its special production this year "The Bartered Bride", a comic opera by the Bohemian composer, Bedrich Smetana. With an English translation of the text by Libushka Bartusek, the opera promises to be an enjoyable and fascinating production. Professor Meyer, director of the choir, has not yet definitely assigned the leading roles, but is expected to do so within a short time. The choir has already started work on it in order to have it ready for the public by the middle of May.

At present, the choir is engaged in its yearly series of sacred programs, which are being given in the churches of nearby communities. To date, programs have been given at Elizabethtown, Lebanon, East Petersburg, and Lancaster; in the near future, programs will be presented at Denver (March 6) and Westminster, Md. (March 13).

James Linton has been elected to fill the position of treasurer of the choir which was left vacant by Hernley Madeira. This is the same position in which Mr. Linton served so ably last year.

Alumnus Speaks

On the morning of February 25 in the regular Chapel service, Rev. Lewis MacDonad '36, delivered an inspiring talk. Supplementing a previous talk on "Faith", he used as his theme "To know is to do", bringing out the importance of using the knowledge we have in accomplishing worth-while things of benefit to God and man.

Mrs. Reed Alexander of Elizabethtown, sang several selections instead of the usual hymns by the audience. Mrs. Meyer was her accompanist.

Noted Authority On Peace To Speak In Auditorium, March 17, At 8:30 P. M.

Thursday evening, March 17, at 8:30 in the Alumni Auditorium, Elizabethtown College will have the privilege of having on its campus, as the second attraction in the Lyceum Course, the noted authority on peace problems, the United States Senator from North Dakota, Honorable Gerald P. Nye.

Senator Nye has not, as yet specified the title of his address for the evening, but it will probably be one of the following: (1) How Can We Wipe Out War? (2) Preparedness for Peace (3) War and Profits (4) Our Neutrality (5) Looking Ahead and (6) Current Problems.

The engagement has been executed by Professor E. G. Meyer and Professor Sheaffer, as part of the regular Lyceum Course features.

Biography

Gerald P. Nye, United States Senator from North Dakota, has enjoyed a career which has been, to some degree startling, though he is one of the two or three youngest members of the United States Senate. He came to the Senate when thirty-two years of age. He has won national recognition in the prosecuting of the Senate investigations of the oil scandals campaign funds and the Munition industry. As Chairman of the Senate Committee on Public Lands, it was, in part, his conduct of the investigations which brought out the sordid facts.

Attend Edu. Convention

Dr. A. C. Baugher, Dean of Instruction, and Dr. A. G. Breidenstine, Supervisor of Secondary Education, have recently returned from attending the Sixty-eighth Annual Convention of the American Association of School Administrators, a department of the National Education Association of the United States. This was formerly called the Department of Superintendents.

The Convention began on Sunday afternoon, February 27, with Vesper service held in the Ballroom Auditorium. Professor William Lyon Phelps, of Yale, spoke at this time on the subject, "Truth and Poetry." Music for the program was furnished by the Barton Harp quintet and the Westminster Choir. In the evening, an entirely musical program was given in the Ballroom of the Atlantic City Auditorium by the Detroit Schoolmen's Club chorus and the Barton Harp quintet. Delegates also had the privilege of listening to the N. B. C. radio feature, "Cheerio and His Gang", and the English commentator, Cooke, and the "Southernairs".

In the succeeding days, the delegates had opportunities to hear Charles H. Judd, "The Grand Old Man from Chicago", Helen Keller, Dr. Edwin A. Lee, the Honorable Senator Advion K. Hugess, K. C., Ottawa, Canada, His Excellency Francisco Costillo Najero, Ambassador from Mexico, the Honorable Francis B. Sayre, Assistant Secretary of State, Warden Lewis E. Lawes, George F. Zook, President American Council on Education, Com. Mulrooney of New York, Jas. E. (Jimmie) Gheen, philosophical humorist, George D. Strayer, Columbia University, and Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

Editorial

(Ed. Note: This issue's editorials are written by guest writers)

If students of Elizabethtown College lack culture, and an immediate accessibility to basic facts and truths, it is doubtless the fault of their study habits. The general atmosphere of the dormitories is not conducive to reflective study and quiet meditation. The students of renown in ages past have been persons who found time to think out their problems in some sequestered place. The noise on the dormitory—the loud talking—the din and blare of radios—the heavy tread of feet—and frequent bull-sessions—are distractions to the individual who is inclined to study.

The college handbook states that “student cooperation is necessary to maintain order in the halls”. Under a system of student government the responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the students themselves—they themselves are losers in the end.

The Student Council, according to the handbook, should meet in regular session at least once per month. The purpose is that it may be continually conscious of its obligations in respect to such a matter as has been mentioned above. When students fail to obey their moral conscience in respect to silence, then the Student Council should take action.

A certain group of students, whether they intend it or not, do make a lasting impression on practically all visitors to the campus. It does not matter if the visitor is a truck driver bringing a load of coal or if he is the father of a prospective student, one of these students is sure to impress him during his visit to the Hill. The impression is the same to all and it is lasting because it is first met and last seen by any visitor.

The students responsible for those who enjoy the HAUT GOUT of a common BETE NOIRE of mankind, tobacco. For this purpose they cluster just at the edge of the campus, presenting a spectacle, disgusting at best, to all who visit or pass by.

Despite the fact that you see cartoons of the undergraduate laying down a smoke screen with his hookah, it does not seem to me that he should place himself at one of the most conspicuous spots available—e. g. at one of the most used entrances and in unavoidable view of another.

I have two solutions which would remedy this situation. The first is that Elizabethtown College catch up with the world and go on the tobacco standard; at least to the point of granting a smoking room, where a feller can exercise his church warden in peace; or by allowing smoking on the campus, but not in the buildings. The second is that those students accept the fact and “go for a walk” while they enjoy a fragrant or burn a gasper.

Idiosyncrasies and Irrelevancies

Contributions to this column will be welcome. All contributions must be signed and placed on the desk of the Editor, Room 247.

It seems that a certain head cheer leader mistook a small filing cabinet for a portable typewriter. He explained it away by saying he thought the real typewriter was a printing press. You wouldn't blame him if you saw Pfaltzgraff's threshing machine.

*****

We owe this one to Dave Brandt. It seems that Bill Krodell was reclining in the supply room window out at a recent basketball game. Upon seeing him thus Dave declared that he was an exact replica of “Whistler's Mother.”

*****

Jim Beahm: We are going to get married at once.

H. Lefever: I don't see how you could get married at different times.

*****

We wonder if the phrase “jumping out of the window” is merely a figure of speech. If you are interested, Paul Wilson can explain.

*****

Then there was the courageous little coed who had the temerity to tell Paul Cassel that if he had the looks and ambition of his brother he'd amount to something.

*****

And while you're listening, Cassel. We understand that you are making a noble attempt to increase your vocabulary. Here's another word for your lexicon. Someone recently referred to you as a “philologist”, and we wonder if you could tell us whether or not the term was used correctly. Drop us a postal card and let us know, won't you?

*****

(We are indebted to the LIT. DIG. for this one.)

Definition for education: The incultation of the incomprehensible into the ignorant by the incompetent.

*****

Chapel Satire: “We will now hear a short talk by Rev. Whatsaname after which we will sing the last line of Hymn Number 502.

*****

After hearing Rev. Fidler, we're willing to have a little sand in our meals, but we will not tolerate flies in our soup.

*****

It seems that the chief characteristic of President Hayes, according to Helen Duder, was that he had a wife.

*****

There are those who say that if we had a good Chess Club, we could abolish the Date Bureau. Look at Ross Coulson.

*****

Faculty Wit

Mrs. Wenger: Did I hear some of you shake your heads “no”?

Dr. Musick: If you don't know what you're talking about, keep your coffee-cooler closed!

*****

We received a reliable report about a student who requested a change in program because his “scedgual” was too heavy!

*****

What a predicament! One of our students had in one of her reports the note, “See illustration, page twenty-two” and her report totaled only twelve pages.

*****

Have you heard the tale of “one-punch Garber,” the hero of Roths-ville?

“ABE” says--

True originality consists in the performance of old things well in your own way. There is, therefore, among many things, something new under the sun, viz: individual originality. The man that is half educated is generally imitating others. Samuel Johnson declared that no man was ever great by imitation. Rufus D. Bowman declares that “the effectiveness of a man's life is always increased when he stops trying to be somebody else and is willing to be himself at his best.”

There is a great peril in imitation to which many subject themselves. In imitation it is so much easier to copy the defects and the objectionable parts of a great man's character, than to imitate his excellencies, that we achieve only the former. Alexander the Great had a foolish tutor, who used to call him Achilles. He was taught to admire that character. But when he came the imitate Achilles, he imitated one of the most cruel and detestable actions in that hero's life. He dragged the governor of a town through the streets after his chariot. This was because the foolish teacher Lysimachus taught him to imitate as well as to admire. It has been more than strongly conjectured that France murdered her king, the inoffensive and admirable Louis XVI, because England once beheaded a king. It is strange that even nations can not be imitators without copying that which is atrocious.

There is a wide difference between admiration and imitation. Admiration will reproduce the admirable characteristics in an original vein. Imitation is mere repetition of the admired characteristics in the life of the imitator. Andrew Fuller says that he attempted to parallel a furrow in a field with a plow, but miserably failed because he noticed in his “straight” line there was what might be termed wriggles. From that time on he determined NEVER TO BE AN IMITATOR. If we would be hero-worshippers, and incarnate the characteristics of the hero in our own lives, we must content ourselves with admiration and destroy all thought of imitation. It is better to create than to imitate, for creation is the true essence of life.

Did This Ever Happen To You?

My Dear Son:

In reply to your request to send a check, I wish to inform you that the present condition of my bank account makes it almost impossible. My shattered financial condition is due to Federal laws, State laws, County laws, City laws, Corporation laws, Liquor laws, Mother-in-laws, Brother-in-laws, Sister-in-laws and Outlaws.

Through these laws I am compelled to pay a business tax, amusement tax, head tax, school tax, gas tax, light tax, water tax, sales tax, liquor tax, carpet tax, income tax, food tax, furniture tax and excise tax. Even my brains are taxed. I am required to get a business license, car license, truck license, not to mention a marriage license and dog license.

I am also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life; to women's relief, the unemployed relief and the gold digger's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the city, including the red cross, the black cross, the purple and the double cross.

For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglar insurance, accident insurance, business insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance and fire insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, dejected, examined, re-examined, informed and required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or other, I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up and held down and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly that except for the miracle that happened, I could not enclose this check. The Wolf that comes to many doors nowadays, just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Yours Faithfully,

POP.

Debating

Wednesday evening, March 2, the negative team engaged Gettysburg College at Gettysburg; while the affirmative team journeyed to Shippensburg to debate the State Teachers College negative team.

On Thursday evening, March 3, Shippensburg State Teachers College team debated Mr. Bzura and Mr. Beahm in the College Chapel at 7:30 P. M., in an Oregon style debate.

On February 17, Elizabethtown College opened its debating season with a dual debate with Lebanon Valley College. Mr. Eshleman and Mr. Herr opened the season by taking an unanimous decision from their opponents in the College Chapel, while Mr. Bzura and Mr. Beahm dropped a close decision to Lebanon Valley at Annville.

On February 18, Mr. Eshleman and Mr. Herr lost a decision debate to the strong St. Francis College team.

On Friday, February 25, Mr. Eshleman and Mr. Herr entertained the Elizabethtown Rotary Club, debating with Mr. Wellser and Mr. Foster of Franklin and Marshall College. This was a non-decision debate on the National Labor Relations Board question.

Two other debates have also been scheduled since the last program was printed. Monday, March 21, the affirmative team will debate the negative team of Fairmount State Teachers College of West Virginia, before the Mount Joy High School student body in the high school auditorium, at 2:15 P. M.

Another debate has also been scheduled for March 21, with the negative team from Immaculate College, a Catholic girls school, at Immaculate.

Quotable Quotes

“When you graduate from college and attempt to find a job, you'll discover that we have a population pressure in a modified degree that burdens Japan.” Senator Elbert D. Thomas tells University of Utah students that other countries of the world face the same governmental “isms” that the United States encounters.

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

More news from the Conference front . . . There definitely will be an athletic conference involving at least three Pennsylvania colleges . . . Elizabethtown, Susquehanna, and Moravian are sure bets to enter the loop, according to Coach Herr, and tentative rules have been laid out . . . Games with member teams in all sports are to be scheduled two years ahead, and the winning team each year will be the recipient of a banner to be unfurled above their battlements.

It's time now for another preview on baseball, and the first thing that comes to our attention upon perusal of the schedule is the pair of games with Bucknell . . . The Blue and Gray stickmen are sure to throw a real scare into the Bison camp, and even stand a better than even chance to lower the Lewisburg colors . . . In fact, if those Ghosts bear that ten game winning streak seriously in mind, a lot of alien colors are going to be lowered . . . Interest in the good old spring sport is rapidly increasing, what with big league ball clubs trekking south and March winds blowing the winter haze off the Hill.

The local tennis team, minus its two aces, Hal Newman, and Dave Schlosser, will also be bounding back into action before long . . . However, there will be plentiful material to build on, with such lettermen as Jimmie Martin, Tom Garber, Chick Baugher, and Jim Linton available . . . All of these racquetballers forged strong links in last year's chain of triumphs . . . The interest in golf is also great in these parts, and a great many local linksmen are eagerly looking forward to a spring tournament . . . There may be no Goodman's or Sarazen's here at present, but when warmer weather sets in, the Etown scene would be incomplete without a golf fanatic or two skirting the green hillsides and tearing huge chunks of earth loose from their mooring.

Last but not least in the spring sport parade comes track . . . Although there is no inter-collegiate track, that one big track meet provides multiple thrills for the enthusiasts at Elizabethtown. There was some real competition last year, and old rivals will be digging in their spikes again this year in those break-neck dashes around the cinder-path.

Stan Disney made a pretty picture at basketball practice on Monday, when he appeared in a unique costume . . . See Diz for enlightenment . . . As the cage season draws to a close, we hope it isn't too late to toss a bouquet to "Calamity Jane" Strite, the sharp-shooting yearling who has been setting the nets on fire all year . . . When she chalked up 27 points in a half a game, Jane joined our all-star team . . . The rest of the team deserves gobs of credit for their A-1 floor work, too.

Linton Dampens Blue Ridge Blaze

Absolute chaos reigned for five wild and woolly minutes as Etown College pulled a hectic ball game out of the fire and clipped the wings of a stubborn crew of ball hawks from Blue Ridge College, 46 to 45, on the Hill court Tuesday night, March 1.

March came in like a lion, and so did Blue Ridge. The fiery visitors from the south, after trailing by a 24 to 19 count at the half, came roaring back to knot the going on no less than four occasions, out-scoring their opponents, 26 to 22 in the last half, and have it tied with only a scant five seconds remaining, only for Jim Linton to appear as the man of the hour with a Frank Merriwell foul shot that zipped the cords to give Elizabethtown a sensational victory.

The Apparitions encountered opposition ten times sturdier than that which they had bumped into at Blue Ridge, where they laced the southerners earlier in the season by a 34 to 19 score. The azure-clad five of Tuesday night unleashed a withering attack, featuring uncanny ability to pull the ball out of nowhere and then tally on sharp long thrusts, and their defense proved fog-like to the Ghosts throughout the entire ball game.

Blue Ridge broke the scoring ice with a field goal, but the locals then jumped into the lead with a series of commendable shots by Stan Disney and Linton, forcing the visitors to call a time out. At this point the Phantom attack was breaking fast, with Rudisill handling the ball exceptionally well, and Chick Baugher playing his usual unorthodox, breakneck brand that brings real results.

The assault literally stopped in mid-air when Rudisill, the steady influence hurt his knee in a freak collision and had to leave the game. Tam Baugher, his replacement, rolled up two quick goals from the field, however, and Etown remained out in front, 24 to 19 at half-time. With the start of the second half, Blue Ridge began to click, and with Digilio, a forward with a magic basket touch, ringing up point after point, they forged back into the running. Digilio scored 11 times from the field, and added one foul for a grand total of 23 points.

With about six minutes left to play, the score was deadlocked at 36 all. From then on, it was a see-saw battle, with Luke Sauder pacing the local attack, from the field, and Rudisill dropping four successive foul shots from the center of the floor to tie the proceedings at 45 all, it looked like a sure extra session, but Linton proceeded to break the stalemate with his dramatic singleton, and it was all over but the shouting, of which there was plenty.

Playing in only half the game, Jane Strite hooped thirteen field goals and a lone foul for twenty-seven points as the local Phantomesses hopped all over the Blue Ridge girls in the preliminary, 53 to 28. Lena Brightbill accounted for eighteen points to rate second laurels.

Ghosts Top Phar. As 'Rudy' Shines

The Galloping Ghosts of Elizabethtown College left their Lancaster County haunts on Friday, February 25, and invaded Philadelphia to soundly trim the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy quintet by a 41 to 29 count.

In so doing, Rudisill and company gained a saccharine revenge for the one-point drubbing received at Pharmacy hands at the Homecoming event of February 19, when the Pharmacists won out, 41 to 40.

Rob Roy Rudisill was at the peak of his form on the Philly boards, for he was dropping difficult shots from all angles, winding up the evening with twenty-one counters, the result of nine twin-pointers and a trio of free throws. Only four other Phantoms broke into the scoring column: Chick Baugher spread the cords with two deuces and three singletons for seven tallies, while Jimmie Linton and Stan "Wild-man" Disney accounted for a half dozen each, and Luke Sauder completed the scoring with a lone foul toss.

The first half was hard fought, with an Etown spurt leaving them five points ahead, 19 to 14, as the intermission convened, but the second half proved an entirely different tale, for with the unstoppable Rudy and his mates moving at top form, Pharmacy was held to fifteen marks, while the Hillians rolled up twenty-two.

Every member of the Druggists' six-man cast broke the scoring ice at least once. Adams, fast moving forward, rimmed four goals from the field and augmented his sum total with three fouls, giving him eleven points. He was closely followed by Heymann, substitute center, who also manufactured a quartet of double deckers, adding one foul for nine points. Gillespie, the highly touted guard of the Quaker City clan, was held to one field goal all evening.

On either Monday or Tuesday, March 7 or 8, the deciding games in the annual Rotary basketball tournament will be held on the Elizabethtown College floor. The tournament opened on Wednesday, March 3.

The four squads involved in the play-offs are vying for the honor of receiving a trophy presented by the local Rotary Club, which last year which have gone so far in establishing a new day in the conduct of the Nation's management of its natural resources and a long way in bringing about a house-cleaning in the oil industry itself. At the head of this and other committees, Senator Nye has won recognition as one of the most energetic men in public life today. He has an excellent grasp of the Munition problem and in all of his public speaking engagements he has won an enviable reputation. He has meat in his messages and delivers them with most pleasing sincerity.

Senator Nye is a newspaperman by profession and thought he has, as such, been interested in politics all his life, his election to the Senate constituted his first experience as an office holder.

He was born and educated in Wisconsin and has been interested in newspaper work in that State, Iowa and North Dakota. He is especially interested in the great national farm problem to which question he has devoted much thought and time.

It is with great pleasure that we should be able to announce the engagement of such a speaker as Senator Nye. Holders of Lyceum Course tickets will have the privilege of hearing the Senator at no extra cost. Those who do not possess such tickets will pay an admission price of fifty cents. Open sale of tickets will be announced at a future date.

Intra-Murals

By Paul Cassel

Intra-mural competition closed yesterday as the Juniors defeated the Seniors in the championship determiner game. After a five minute extra period the score read 21 to 20 in favor of the Juniors.

The Freshmen, through an unusual display of dexterity claimed a win over the Sophomores by ending on the upper edge of a 19 to 13 score.

Having an equal standing of four wins and one loss, the two contenders displayed equal adroitness, and throughout the game there was never a large gap between the scores. The Juniors annexed the championship when Elmer Gleim succeeded in sinking an eleemosynary shot, given after the Seniors left the floor before the extra period.

Finals

was won by the Patton Trade School dribblers, who nosed out Elizabethtown High School by a narrow margin after an extra period had been played.

Officials from the four schools sat in session last week to make final preparations for the tournament, and hit upon the blind draw plan of determining the schedule. One-half hour before game time on Wednesday evening, the draw was made by Paul Grubb, president of the Rotary organization.

There is plenty of pre-game talk about this series of games, for enthusiasts from all four places are confident that their basketballs can carry away the laurels. One very interesting sidelight deals with the fact that Coaches Warren "Red" Angstadt, of the Traders, and Clyde Wenger, of the High School, are both erstwhile proteges of Ira Herr, the mentor here at the Hill, and with Coach Herr taking charge of the J-Vees in the series, this leaves only Major Phil Johnson of the Masonic Homes aggregation on the outside looking in.

Major Johnson, however, has plenty to beam about, because included in his line-up will be Jim Linton, who has seen a great deal of action on the Etown College five this year, and Charlie Speidel, flash Freshman who was previously a member of the College Junior Varsity. The addition of these two boys strengthens the Homes line-up considerably.

All other three teams have enjoyed excellent records this season, with the Jay-Vees coming out victorious in most of their contests, while Etown High staged a great second half rally under their new coach, Wenger, to come within a game of winning the championship honors in Section I of the County scholastic loop. Only a hard fought defeat by Rothsville kept them out of the top flight. Patton Trade, although not being a member of any league has been going at top speed all season, having suffered only two setbacks, and one of those at the none too minute hands of York High School.

For those who like to watch those brother battles being waged, there is the tangle of the two Garbers, Tom and Hennie, when the Jay-Vees and the High School clash. All in all, it looks like a real fight, so be on hand on the final night and you're sure to witness basketball sing a sweet swan song in the borough of Elizabethtown.

Collegiate Review

Asked whether they preferred men or women bosses, 520 women studied by a Colgate University psychologist, said they preferred men because women bosses let personal things creep into work, get angry over errors, are jealous, are efficiency slaves, find fault, and pay too much attention to details.

Students at Oklahoma A. and M. College can walk on dry steamlined sidewalks even on icy, slippery days. When college engineers designed the underground system of laying steam heating lines between buildings they were placed underneath some of the main interconnecting sidewalks. At one of its previous meetings the club formally elected Margaret Curry, Floy Meyer, and Maurice Rishel to the Senior Club. The initiation will take place sometime after the presentation of the play.

On February 2, the Club gave its second Chapel program of the year, a dramatization of the Book of Ruth. Grace Ernst played the part of Ruth; Mary Velter, Naomi; and Paul Hoffman, Booz. Other characters were Harold Saylor and Garland Hoover.

In the near future the club will entertain the entire school at a public meeting. Paul Cassel is chairman of the program committee.

The apprentices to the Junior Sock and Buskin, those who expressed an interest in dramatics, will be coached in a play by James Beahm and his assistants.

We Wage

Don. Royer Meets With I. R. C. Group

Mr. Donald Royer met with the I. R. C. Wednesday night to discuss some of the problems confronting peace-minded college youth today and to plan in particular for definite peace action on Elizabethtown's campus.

In his discussion with the I. R. C. group Mr. Royer called attention to certain trends in National policy which indicated an unmistakable drift toward war. He cited in particular the Naval Policy of the U. S. Obviously he stated, there was no danger of attack from any foreign power. Nevertheless big navy proponents would have Americans believe that conditions justify a fleet second to none. Peculiarly enough, Mr. Royer went on, most of the nation's armament is primarily designed for offensive use. According to propagandists every war we have waged has been fought in the name of defense.

Looking into the record however, we find that every foreign war in which the U. S. has been engaged was entered voluntarily.

Other trends which were inimical to peace were the plan for parallel action with Great Britain in the Pacific and the drift toward collective security with European democracies.

There were several things club members as students should do to curb the drift toward war. First, students as potential conscripts should protest through writing to their Senators and Congressmen the Big Navy Bill and such amendments as the Hill-Shepherd and May bills.

Second, they should deepen the convictions of others as well as their own on the necessity for Peace. Third, they could participate in the nation-wide student strike against war, which is to be placed on 2,000 college campuses this spring. This strike, assured, Mr. Royer, would not be directed against the college authorities but would be undertaken to convince politicians, militarists and the administration that American students would refuse to support another war into which they might drag the U. S.

After the discussion the President of the Club, Richard Shaull, announced plans for the arrival of two noted speakers on the campus. The first T. Z. Koo, an outstanding Chinese Christian leader, a traveling lecturer for the Student Christian Movement, is expected to come the 27th of April. Kirby Page, the second speaker is to arrive the 16th of May. He is an outstanding lecturer and peace advocate, and the author of many important books relating to the peace question.

Alumni Meet At Juniata

The alumni meetings for the current year got off to a good start on March 4, when the Juniata Valley chapter met for a dinner and reunion in the social rooms of the Bunkertown Church of the Brethren. 21 were present, 8 of whom are prospective students. Professor Rose and H. H. Nye '15, former professor at his alma mater, addressed the group. Mrs. J. A. Buffenmyer '07 served as toastmaster of the occasion. The following officers were elected: President, E. Esther Leister '27; Vice-President, Merrill Gingrich; Secretary-Treasurer, Ruth Buffenmyer.

Choir In Program At Mt. Joy

The Elizabethtown College Choir presented a half-hour program of sacred selections in the Mount Joy High School Auditorium on the morning of March 15, at 11:00. The program consisted of numbers selected from the choir's sacred program which has been given in various churches of the vicinity and which will be presented in about seven other churches during the remainder of March and throughout April. The choir was heartily welcomed to the high school and was shown the utmost courtesy during its short stay. Prof. E. G. Meyer directed the choir; the devotions were in charge of James Linton.

Renowned Pianist In Concert, Mar. 29

Harold Bauer, renowned pianist, will appear in the York High School auditorium on the evening of Mar. 29, 1938 at 8:15 p. m. This is one of the few remaining concerts of the Community Concert Associations of Lancaster, York, and Lebanon. Members of these Associations will be inspired by this great artist and are therefore urged to take advantage of this privilege.

Mr. Bauer is a veteran of the keyboard, having spent most of his life in concert work. Strangely enough, however, he did not enter the musical world as a pianist. At the age of ten he made his debut as a concert violinist, in which field he continued for nine years. At that time, he met Paderewski who was so greatly impressed with his ability, not as a violinist, but as a pianist, that he did the unorthodox thing of advising him to give up the violin and spend all of his time at the piano. From that time on he made ever greater strides as a pianist until at the present time he ranks with such titans of the keyboard as Rachmaninoff, Hofman, Paderewski, and Iturbi.

"How To Win & Influence Men"

By Beatrice Myers

"We are not born with beauty of soul and charm; we acquire them," Mrs. Weller told the girls of the Y. W. C. A. last Monday evening, March 21.

In her search after the qualities that make women attractive to men, Mrs. Weller questioned the men of the campus for an expression of the qualities they thought desirable in women. The consensus of opinion placed naturalness, grace, and charm on the top of the list.

"Men are inclined to look for mates with their minds, rather than their eyes, nowadays," Mrs. Weller stated. They don't want them "beautiful and dumb", but educated.

Mrs. Weller went on to explain that these qualities can be acquired by every girl, if she really wants them, and then gave examples of prominent American women, who gained in esteem because of their determination to be a "person" instead of a wallflower.

In speaking of grace, Mrs. Weller said, "grace knows no age." See HOW TO WIN, Page 4

Senator Nye Challenges The American People

"Penrod" Friday Night

With time drawing closer to Friday night, Miss Sheaffer is holding final rehearsals, whipping the cast into shape for "Penrod". The place will be the Auditorium-Gymnasium and the time will be 8:30.

"Penrod" is a rollicking four-act comedy, adapted from the "Penrod" books by Booth Tarkington. Penrod is a regular, active American boy, possesses enough ingenuity to carry out the tricks and pranks of ten boys his size.

Most of the action centers about Penrod's (Helen Duder) frantic efforts to evade taking part in a chivalric pageant, and how he disrupts the proceedings by disturbing a hornet's nest.

The movies have a great effect on Penrod's imagination and he, as leader of his gang, plans to do some "detectif" work by tracking down a horse-thief, to which position they elevate Mr. Herman Dadeo, a suitor of Margaret, Penrod's sister. The "ottomatic" which Penrod possesses, plays a prominent part in the chase.

Mrs. Schofield played by Mildred Miller has a bit of trouble controlling Penrod, seeing that her daughter has the proper environment, and remembering where all of Mr. Schofield's ties and collar buttons are kept.

Romantic complications arise from the rivalry between Margaret's two suitors, Bob and Mr. Dade.

Penrod has two interesting playmates, two negro boys, Herman and Verman. Poor tounge-tied Verman is ridiculously funny because of his unintelligible speaking, which Herman interprets. Another of Penrod's playmates is his mongrel dog, who leads a miserable existence at the hands of Penrod.

??? "We Choose Peace" - F.D.R.

(NNS)

If we face the choice of profits or peace, the nation will answer—must answer: "We choose peace." It is the duty of all of us to encourage such a body of public opinion in this country that the answer will be clear and for all practical purposes unanimous. —Franklin D. Roosevelt.

View Film In Chapel

The student body of Elizabethtown College was favored recently with two visual educational programs in the chapel assembly.

On March 17 a film entitled "Let's Go American" was shown by the Visual Education Department of the school. The theme emphasized the part that machines make more jobs in contradiction to the popular belief that machines destroy jobs.

On March 21, Mrs. Reber, Art instructor at the college, showed a number of slides relative to various art types in architecture and painting. The great masters of the world of art with their masterpieces were shown on the screen.

Addresses Large Assembly On Inevitability Of Another War

Debaters Return From Week's Trip

By Grace Wenger

The debating teams returned to college on March 11, after a week's trip with only one defeat. Carl Herr and Robert Eshleman, affirmative debaters, lost to Moravian College.

This same team debated Muhlenberg College on March 7, and the negative team met Upsala College, Tuesday, March 8, both non-decision debates.

On Wednesday evening James Beahm and Carl Herr debated Rutgers University over Radio Station WNEW, on the special question: Resolved, That the students of American Colleges and Universities should refuse to participate in any war on foreign soil.

In another non-decision debate Mr. Beahm and Mr. Bzura, the negative speakers, met Rider College. On March 10th the affirmative team debated Drexel Institute of Technology in Philadelphia.

The week-end trip came to an end with a radio broadcast of a debate between Drexel and our negative team over station WGAL, at Lancaster.

On Tuesday of last week the affirmative team won a two-to-one decision over St. Vincent's College in an Oregon debate held at the Patton Trade School. On Wednesday Mr. Bzura and Mr. Beahm engaged Franklin and Marshall debaters on an Oregon non-decision debate.

Among the debates remaining on the schedule are one with Susquehanna University on March 24, one with Massachusetts State on April 1st, and one with Lincoln on April 4. All these will be held on the Eton campus.

Alumni Council Holds Session

The Alumni Council met in Winter Session in connection with the recent Homecoming. The following were present: K. Ezra Bucher '32, Chairman; C. H. Royer '23, Vice-Chairman; R. K. Eby '26; D. L. Landis '05; Dr. Chas. E. Weaver '26 and L. D. Rose '11.

The Council decided to sponsor an Alumni Fund campaign during the month of April. The proceeds are to be divided between the indebtedness remaining on the gymnasium and the student loan fund.

Plan were also approved for the dinner, class reunions, and other activities for Alumni Day, May 28.

The following nominating committee was approved: John S. Pfautz '26, Harry A. Smith '35, Earl W. Seibert '31, D. L. Landis '05, L. D. Rose '11.

The Council also went on record as favoring a larger Board of Trustees. The committee to draft a resolution to the Board is as follows: Pres. R. W. Schlosser '11, D. L. Landis '05 and L. D. Rose '11.

"Is war inevitable? It is only as inevitable as you and I permit it to be," says Senator Nye. In his address to 750 people in the Auditorium Thursday night, the Honorable Gerald P. Nye discussed the possibilities of our entering a foreign war. "We are as near entering war tonight as we were thirty days before we actually entered Europe's war in 1917," was his startling statement.

However, he pointed out that today the American people are more strongly armed to prevent war than ever before, because of our intelligence. Today our resolve against war is stronger than the similar resolve in 1914 because it is based upon knowledge and facts. This resolve is not so much strengthened by the remembrance of the horrors and heartbreaks of our last war as by the expense on today's pocketbook. Always upon the heels of war come economic breakdown and decay. We must "pay the piper", when we enter "that expensive folly called war."

It is Mr. Nye's opinion that we should keep out of all foreign wars as long as we have no hope of winning the causes for which we strive. In looking at the principles for which we entered the World War, he concluded that every cause alleged at the time of our entry into the war is a lost cause. We did not win one cause—not one! Our intentions to assist the suffering Belgians, to destroy militarism, to end all wars, to make the world safe for democracy and to establish freedom of the seas have not been fulfilled. "If peace has lost her war," said the Senator, "there is no war worth fighting for. If we can't win peace by war, what is the use of winning a war?"

War is inevitable, Mr. Nye believes, as long as the American people keep the attitude that we can be more prosperous in war than in peace; it is inevitable as long as private profit-seeking corporations are responsible for selling armaments to other nations for profit; it is inevitable as long as a nation looks to leaders who have financial interests in war; it is inevitable as long as the mad armament race continues.

Senator Nye lays the responsibility of keeping out of war upon the American people. "If the American people will arm themselves with more of truth, more of intelligence, more of facts, more of a resolve to mind our own business and to keep See SENATOR NYE, Page 4

Did Nye Leave Any Answers

Well, What Is The Answer? That is the question many Etown students are asking after an intensive two day siege of peace thought and talk on the campus last week.

There were some answers—definitely!

First, we observe that the present administration at Washington is not primarily interested in keeping out of war, but rather is interested in quarantining "fascism".

Second, any conceivable war America might undertake will be for protection of trade and commercial interest; and therefore, we the youth have no share in it. We have a just cause in refusing to fight.

Third, we learned that we can with one million other students make dramatic through simultaneous action our firm opposition to refuse to support ANY war our government may plan to bring upon us. The occasion will be the Student Peace Strike of April 27.

The Etownian feels that once the strike is understood not to imply violence or opposition to the college administration; but a colorful mass technique of voicing students sincere opposition to war—the Student Peace Strike can be effective and should be supported by Elizabethtown College.

Keeping out of war depends upon us—We can no longer put faith in one man or a small group of men at Washington.

What About Chapel

Before we begin, this article is not in any way to be construed as expressing dissatisfaction with Chapel services. Our only purpose is to bring a few thoughts about an ideal chapel program.

There exists, then, in America a disease which has been called spectatoritis. The victims of this disease display inertia, detachment from ordinary affairs, and yet a certain willingness to criticize the proceedings which they would not lift a finger to help improve. The sickness is evident, presumably, in every student body and surely is not absent at Etown.

In a small college such as ours we have an excellent opportunity to have each student participate at least once a year in some chapel program. This would help cure the ailment and at the same time give the chronic kicker about chapel programs something to think about.

We realize it would possibly be painful to listen to some students falteringly have their say, but on the other hand the benefit to the individual would be inestimable, and we would be more sympathetic toward him, knowing that our own number may be called next. At the same time students would be more interested in chapel services because each would feel individually responsible for their success. Then compulsory attendance would be unnecessary and we would have an ideal chapel program, one which offers nothing to the victim of spectatoritis wanting merely to be entertained, but one in which every student takes active interest and active part because he wants to.

Of course compulsory attendance never can be the best solution in a democratic institution. Another thing to be considered is the purpose of the daily chapel program. It would be an interesting survey to determine just why students go to chapel, and how many would attend if it were not compulsory.

If the situation at Princeton is any indication of what happens in a democratic institution, voluntary attendance does not work so well either. At its last session, the graduating class of that school was asked, "Have you attended the University Chapel this year?" There were 301 "No" answers to 137 affirmative. The Princeton chapel cost $2,000,000.

What do YOU think about CHAPEL?

Ribbon Ramblings

By John Glass

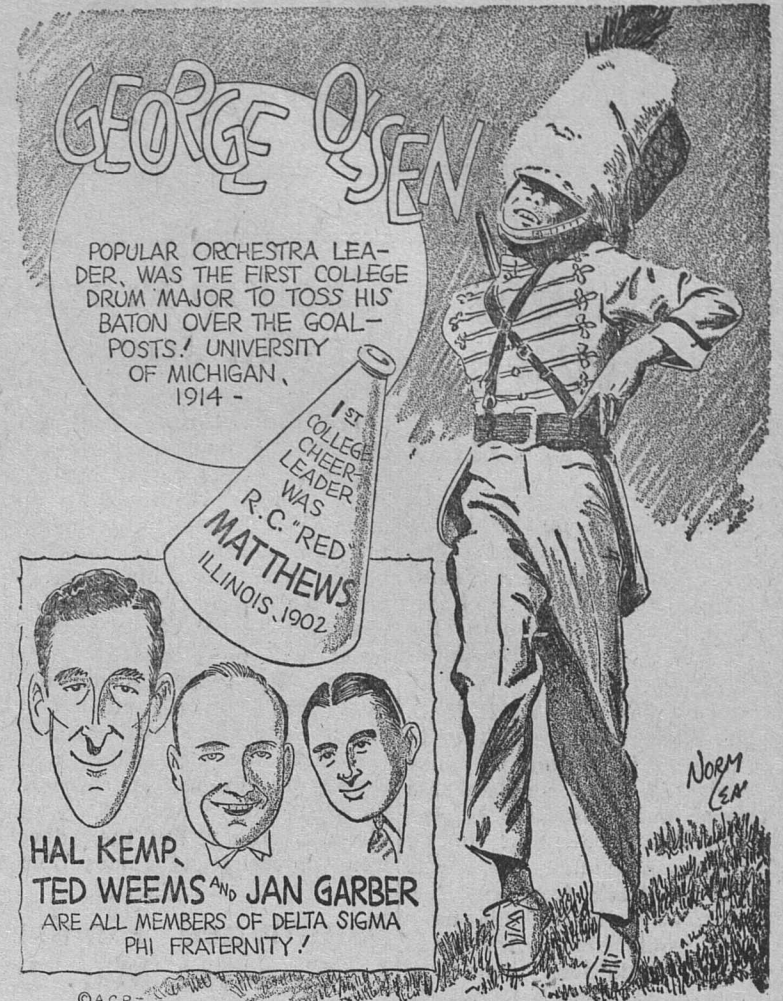

While war rages in Spain, Japan conquers China, and Hitler takes over Austria, every student should be awake to what is going on all about us.

Even upon the campus of Elizabethtown we perceive the peaceful penetration of a new atmosphere. Just what it is we do not know. And of what causes it we are also unaware. However of its presence we are unquestionably certain. When the last crystal of last weeks snow diffused itself into the air it seemed to liberate with it a new spirit, a new life.

Although this ethereal emanation was held dormant for several days by the rains which descended upon it, it finally triumphed and immediately burst forth in all its splendor. Immediately the sun shone, the birds sang, the buds burst from their prisons, and the wild geese returned from their winter habitat. From their beds the students were awakened by the rhythmic drumming of the flicker on the telephone pole. The breakfast tables overflowed with students. From every building they discharged upon the campus.

Who can help but agree with Herbert Lefever when he says, "Wonderful weather for baseball."

Campus Camera

Student Forum

Dear Editor:

In regard to the tobacco editorial in your last issue I would like to take the stand for the status quo.

First, we consider a spectacle as something unusual and in its context the word meant degrading. Is it unusual to see a person smoking? No! With the Irishman you always find his "piece of pipe". Is a person smoking near E-town campus a bad influence? No! We are not influenced by seeing one man smoking or by seeing a group of men smoking, because it is the usual. If a person walked downtown and saw no one smoking he would immediately notice the fact because it would be unusual.

Second, E-town College should not feel the necessity of providing a room for a few "pipe diners". It should not be necessary to hide a student because he smokes. In addition, a smoking room would probably increase the number of smokers on our campus, and I am sure the only person wanting more smokers is the person who is trying to "bum a tag."

Third, there is no necessity for a person to hide in order to take a smoke. This action would give the individual a sense of doing wrong which would create undesirable complexes.

The only change that might remedy the situation is to allow students the privilege of smoking on campus except in buildings. However, any good effects in appearances would be offset by a larger number of smokers. I repeat the status quo is most desirable.

A Student.

THE LAW OF THE SPIRITUAL ECHO

What I specify as the law of the spiritual echo is a principle of living which Christ persistently and consistently emphasized by teaching and living. In order to explain what I mean by this law I will take you to the life and experience of one of our foremost economists and statisticians today, Roger W. Babson. The use of this law enabled Fr. Babson to obtain from other individuals that which made his life a success. One day in his reading he discovered the law of action and reaction. Briefly stated the law is that for everything we do we get an equal reaction. If we boost others, others will boost us. If we "knock" others, others will "knock" us. It is the same principle expressed in the old saying, "every man is paid in his own coin." As soon as Mr. Babson actually believed the practicability of this law he began to be a success. Since that time he has grown by making others grow and has succeeded by making others succeed. It is not required of us to be dutiful merely for duty's sake. There is more underlying life than that. Seek the good of others if you yourself would be benefitted is a fit principle to pursue.

This then is the law of the spiritual echo with which every individual should be acquainted if he would be prepared to live with his fellow-men. Lacking it, there is lacking a technique for gaining friends; lacking it there is missing the opportunity to be a success in life. We must learn this principle that people will react to us in the manner that we act toward them.

In the world of nature there is a peculiar phenomenon. Perhaps those people who thought that heard fairy music in the forest, who saw haunted waterfalls, and who saw mermaids, may have been on the verge of the discovery of a great truth. A number of places have been discovered where an ugly, discordant noise will be echoed back in the softest melodious tones. No matter how harsh the sound, the echo is returned in music. This led me to state that Christianity in the life of the individual will transform the ugly, discordant acts executed against him into beautiful acts of loving service and sacrifice. And this is exactly the principle which Christ taught. "Ye have heard that it hath been said, An eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also." Furthermore, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."

This principle is practical, for it has worked in innumerable instances. Roger Babson was actually successful in nine case out of ten in which he applied the principle. It is the testimony of Christ that it is practical. The challenge for each individual is to dare to try it.

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

That fellow Jupit Pluvius threw a bomb of wet weather into Coach Ira Herr's well-laid baseball plans, and as a result the local athletes donned their rain-coats to wait out the siege of downpour . . . . The initial tussle of the season is slated for April 9, with Kutztown State Teachers' College, and that date will roll around before you know it . . . The basis for this year's attempt to extend that nine game win streak will naturally be the hurling corps . . . . Last year, though Rudisill did most of the tossing, "Red" Lander, George Raker, Sparky Leister, and Steve Sheekard were all available when needed . . . This year only Leister remains and all newcomers will be expected to buckle down to some real pitching in order for the mound staff to hold up its end of the win problem.

Our first prediction of the year came true when Gettysburg College won the Eastern Pennsylvania League title by leveling Franklin and Marshall recently . . . There is a fine basketball crew that deserves the plaudits of the sporting world . . . Incidentally, only one of the regular squad graduates.

Speaking of basketball teams, right here on the Hill we can boast of a real outfit of crowd-pleasers. . . . Practically all of the Etown contests were either nip and tuck thrillers or high scoring forays in which the Ghosts exhibited an uncanny shooting power. . . . Mention must be made of the way in which Coach Herr's sharpshooters smothered Gallaudet College . . . The score at the wind-up stood at 62 to 39, a margin of 23 points . . . And yet mighty St. Joseph College, with their full strength, found Gallaudet a tough opponent . . . This certainly points to the fact that a team composed of dead-shots can throw a scare into any fast company . . . Elizabethtown this year presented a combination which could drop all kinds of goals . . . For instance, Roy Rudisill rates with the best of them when it comes to making long set shots; Stan Disney caged seemingly wild, one-handed and two-handed shots all season with amazing regularity; Chick Baugher is a dead shot from that foul-line on his pivot thrust; and Rudisill, Linton and Sam Jones all claim foul-shooting ability.

All of which reminds us of the foul-shooting tournament, when Jones and Disney were twice tied and had to shot it out with quite a crowd looking on in expectation . . . Sam finally outlasted his opponent to win the close contest . . . That certainly was real pressure, more than that which accompanies most foul shots in a game.

About a month ago we noticed an item concerning a well-known mid-western basketball coach was forced, by the loss of a great many varsity players, to employ the first-string guards of his GIRLS team against another college . . . All varsity men please take notice . . . The remarkable success of Franklin and Marshall's wrestling team this year brings to mind the thought that a grappling squad right here on the Hill in the near future would be a desirable move.

MEDITATION

The sky is dark; the sun has just gone down.

The shadows creep Along the forest, o'er the hidden hill;

And in the humble homes of yonder town

The children sleep, And lights burn low and all is calm and still.

Would that the peace portrayed in yonder sight

Were in my life, And shining out into some troubled mind.

I'd help that soul to see the blessed light,

And all my strife Would be dissolved by greater joy I'd find.

Collegians Cop Rotary Title

By Dave Brandt

The Elizabethtown College Varsity nosed out the Masonic Homes five 22 to 20, on the college court, Monday, March 7, to win the Rotary Club trophy for 1938. Patton Trade School, defending champions, defeated Elizabethtown High School, 38 to 28, in the opener.

In earning the diadem, Coach Ira Herr's new champions of Elizabethtown were pressed to the very limit by an inspired band of ball hawks led by Jim Linton. The Masonic Homes team, which had previously eliminated the strong Patton Traders, featured two diminutive forwards in Stuart Turner and Wilbur Dinwiddie, who played like veterans throughout, displaying keen eyes for the basket and smooth floor work.

A furious rally brought the Homesters to within two points of evening matters, with young Turner throwing in three, quick twin-pointers, and this mighty mite was fouled just as the gun sounded. The crowd had milled onto the floor and pandemonium reigned as Turner toed the charity stripe for his two shots, but both went wild and the game was completed.

For the winners, brick-topped Nathan Meyer and Galen Jones stood out, with sharpshooting beneath the basket, and the whole team was exhibiting a fast passing and close guarding game, thus the low score. The score at half-time stood at 7 to 6, only three points being tallied in the second period.

Hal Saylor aggravated an ankle ailment in the second period and had to be carried from the floor. An examination, however, revealed no serious injury.

In the opening game of the evening, Coach A. Warren Angstadt's Trade School courtsters rolled up an early 10 to 3 lead at the quarter, advanced it to 21 to 11 at the half and then breezed through to an easy triumph, 38 to 28.

This game was fast, with quite a number of fouls being committed, as Etown High scored ten free tabs and Patton tallied eight. Two players, Rork of the winners, and Shiffer of the Wengerites, each dropped 5 fouls.

Patton started out with a bang, caging goals from various angles, while their opponents could not remove the lid from the basket until

Trim Gallau. In Final, 62-39

Gallaudet, at Etown in the final game of the season for the locals fell on the low side of a 62 to 39 score.

Rudisill, having been held to one field goal and two fouls in the first half, led in the scoring at the close by tallying a total of 20 points. Disney contributed 13 counters along with a goodly number from the others resulted in the highest scoring of the season.

The E-town five-man defense was functioning perfectly and the visitors found themselves thwarted in all their efforts to get within range.

Upon examining the records for the season, we find our team the victors in ten of the eighteen frays, and leading in the total score which is 683 as compared to the opponents 680.

As for individual scoring, Captain Roy Rudisill, playing guard, led by a large majority but did not quite reach the 200 mark. Norman Baugher ranks second in line with Stanley Disney third. The scoring is as follows:

	Fld. G.	Fl. G.	Totl.
Rudisill . . . . .	68	55	191
N. Baugher . . . . .	59	38	156
Disney . . . . .	53	23	129
Linton . . . . .	26	15	67
Souders . . . . .	27	7	61
S. Jones . . . . .	10	10	48
Coulson . . . . .	10	6	26
S. Baugher . . . . .	1	1	3
Heckler . . . . .	1	0	2
	264	155	683

the second half was under way. "Beany" Shirk, star guard, left the game on fouls in the second session, weakening the High's attack.

During the second half, Raffensperger's shooting and "Pork" Leicht's steady generalship kept the losers in the game, but the lead was too great to overtake.

Joe Carr and Turner led the victors' scoring parade with 12 and 10 points respectively. For Coach Wenger's passers, Shiffer registered 9 markers and Raffensberger located the net for eight.

Patton Trade finished the season with only three defeats. It was the fourth consecutive loss for the high school basketballers, who had risen to real heights earlier in the season.

Phantom Percentages

Taking into consideration all factors determining a successful season on the part of the team and the coach, we can well boast of the accomplishments.

In the last basketball game of the season Coach Herr's Galloping Ghostesses were trounced to the tune of 37-18, by the Swarthmore girls on Saturday afternoon.

The visitors took an early lead and the Etown lassies were never able to catch up with them, or even to make the game exciting.

The Religious Man

(An Approximate Paragraph)

The 'religious man' is the most obnoxious zoological specimen at large. He is a perky peacock as he struts abroad. He is a featherer of his own nest, a care-taker of number one, a blarer of his own trumpet, and a dog in the manger. Furthermore, he is self-righteous, unchristian, self-admiring, arrogant, self esteemed, egotistical, self-applauding vainglorious, self-confident, sanctimonious, self-satisfied, and supercilious as he mounts his high horse and proudly raises his saintly head. From this elevated position he looks down upon the low, ill-bred vulgar, vile, polluted, defiled, degenerate, despicable, uncivilized, heathenish, barbarians, who are rushing head-first into hell where they rightfully belong. This 'religious man' is a wolf in sheep's clothing, an ass in lion's skin, a whitened sepulcher full of dead men's bones, a goodly apple rotten at the heart, a villain with a smiling cheek, a man who finds it easier to be on his knees than to rise to good action, a saint abroad and a devil at home, a barren fig tree, and yea, I say unto you, a Pharisee of the Pharisees!

advised the development of a movement to establish self-confidence and naturalness. Skating and swimming are some of the means to attain grace and buoyant health. She stated, "Beauty at sixteen is not her own doing, but beauty at sixty is her soul's doings."

Men want naturalness, not affectation and artificiality. Mrs. Weller stressed the fact that men don't analyze clothes, unless in a case of overdressing. They like a general effect of "niceness". She spoke very favorably about the trend of naturalness in makeup, and that "Genuine domesticity is substantiated while glamor fades out," and that "Men don't want to marry flappers though they may flirt with them."

Concerning charm, Mrs. Weller impressed the meeting with the fact that they should try to please, and leave every one more satisfied and happy. To get people to like a person is half the battle, no matter what the girl is aiming to do.

Mrs. Weller surprised the girls by saying that youth is not the best time of life. She likened it to a tree. We admire the blossoms, but live on the fruit.

Mrs. Weller concluded her talk with the statement that men do desire the old-fashioned qualities which the girl "Dad" married possessed. She advocated that girls confide in "Dad" to learn what men desire and what qualities they admire in women, and closed, saying, "True love is the richest blessing—without which the richest girl is poor and the poorest girl is rich."

out of other people's wars, we have a better chance of keeping out of a foreign war."

In his answers to questions, Mr. Nye said that there is little danger of a war that is wished upon us. The chances of a war are 99 to 1 that any war which we enter will be one which we invite.

The measure which he recommends the American nation to take are legislation taking the profit out of war and out of preparation for war, and prohibiting the sale of American munitions to foreign countries; a Constitutional Amendment which gives the government power to draft property in wartime; and a Constitutional Amendment to let the question of entering war be answered by a popular referendum in which all voters of the country should participate. Mr. Nye believes that an overwhelming majority of citizens, probably 80 or 90 percent, would vote against entering a foreign war.

With respect to his recent visit to Japan, the Senator says that the people of Japan no more want war than we do, but they are more helpless.

FOUL SHOOTING CONTEST

Lena Brightbill succeeded in winning the foul shooting contest for girls for the second consecutive year, by sinking 16 out of 25 shots.

Sam Jones managed to zip the mesh 39 of 60 tries. Only he and Jim Linton qualified in the second round and required 10 extra tries to determine the winner.

For a reward Miss Brightbill and Mr. Jones will each receive a silver basketball. In order to receive a gold basketball, seventy-five percent of the shots must be made.

Curtis Artists Final Lyceum Attraction

By James Martin

On Wednesday, April 13, 1938, the Lyceum Committee will present its third and last number of the season when they will welcome to the campus the student-artists of the Curtis Institute of Music of Philadelphia. The artists are three in number: June Winters, coloratura soprano, Burnett Atkinson, flute, and Joseph Levine, piano. Miss Winters, a student at the Institute, has made numerous public appearances and has broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting Company network. Burnett Atkinson, a student at the Institute under William Kinkaid, first flutist of the Philadelphia Orchestra, has also been quite popular in recital work; he is from Ventura, California. Joseph Levine, whom we have had on the campus on several previous occasions, is a supplementary teacher in piano at the Institute. He is also a graduate student of Dr. Joseph Hofman and a student in conducting under Fritz Reiner. He made his first public appearance at the age of seven and has been popular in concert work ever since. Last spring, he acted as piano accompanist to Madam Rea Luboshutz on her concert tour abroad. A thoroughly enjoyable concert is promised. The program follows:

Chaconne (Bach-Busoni) Joseph Levine. Where the Bee Sucks (Arne), Christopher Robin (Frasier-Simson), Down in the Glenn (Warren), Midsummer (Worth), and Una voce poco fa from "The Barber of Seville" (Rossini), June Winters. Suite in B Minor (Bach) and Cantabile at presto (Enesco), Burnett Atkinson. Russian Nightingale (Albion-Lieblich), To One Who Passed Whistling Through the Night (Gibbs), La Flute Enchantee (Ravel), and Variations on a theme of Mozart (Adam), June Winters and Burnett Atkinson. Little White Donkey (Ibert) and La Valse (Ravel), Joseph Levine.

Candles Pledge Campus Leaders

On Thursday night, March 31, Dr. and Mrs. A. G. Breidenstine tendered a banquet to the revamped Candles organization, at their home.

During the meal, Richard Shaull '38, president, outlined the purpose of the organization and told how each pledge was selected. The purpose of the organization, Mr. Shaull stated, Scholarship and Leadership was the criteria upon which admission was based. Nine pledges were selected from the three upper classes: James Beahm, Norman Baugher, Aaron Herr, Luke Ebersole, Elmer Gleim, Luke Sauder, Henry Oberholtzer, Albert Bzura and Robert Adams.

In speaking of the organization, Mr. Shaull gave the motto as: "To make friends, be one," and outlined the purpose of the organization as it related itself to the problems on the campus.

As has been customary in the past, the Candles will hold their annual get-together banquet to perpetuate their friendships in the college dining hall, on the evening of April 30. Approximately seventy-candles, wives, friends, and pledges will attend the banquet, over which Kenneth Grosh will preside, in the Toastmaster's chair.

At 2 p. m. of the same day, there will be a baseball game with Moravian, to make the homecoming more enjoyable. Following this,

Penr'd Pleases Large Group March 25

The dramatic talent of the hill very commendably carried on the tradition of the Sock and Buskin in the production of "Penrod", on the evening of March 25, in the Auditorium-Gymnasium. The audience, though not so large, was very appreciative.

To pick out any "weak spots" in either cast or situation, would be a difficult task. Every part, without exception, was carried through "in character" from the opening appearance to the close. No one person "stole the show"; each performed his part with professional ease. The stage set was pretty and very appropriate; the thunder and lighting created real atmosphere. The play, on the whole, moved well and quite rapidly—even those hard seats didn't seem quite so hard!

Penrod was so delightfully the "bad little boy" that the audience entirely forgot that "he" was really Miss Duder. The facial expressions and especially the eyes of Penrod were interesting. "He" was teamed up with an equally delightful Sam, our own Sam Jones. The antics and imaginations of these two boys were typical of childhood and kept the audience in continuous gales of laughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Schofield were excellent parents. Mildred Miller, as the mother, put on the best performance of her college career. Paul Hoffman as the typical father was a very strong character. He showed real native ability in portraying a doting father over a successful son. It was his first and last appearance for the Sock and Buskin; we commend his performance.

Lois Brehm as sister Margaret, with her two amorous knights, played a very delightful and stimulating love game. Jimmy Beahm, moustache and all, was a real "city slicker". The love-sick Linton boy rated many a laugh and put beautiful shades of meaning into his lines.

Harold Bauer In Concert

Harold Bauer, "the perfect pianist", thrilled a large audience in the York High School auditorium on March 29, with his superb interpretation of the masters. Particularly outstanding was his masterful presentation of Beethoven's "Moonlight" Sonata and Debussy's "En-gulfed Cathedral". It was one of the series of Community Concerts that some of the students on the Hill have the privilege of hearing.

The next concert in the series will be the concert by Jose Iturbi, Spanish piano virtuoso, in the Lebanon High School auditorium on Thursday evening, April 7, 1937 at 8:15 p. m. Mr. Iturbi is known for his polished style of playing and for his smooth technique; his scales are said to have an almost ethereal perfection. He is also known as an orchestral conductor, having conducted the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra for a number of years. However, his fame has been gained largely through his talented presentations as a concert pianist.

Alumni Meet

The alumni, former students and friends of the Schuylkill Valley met on the evening of March 26, at Shartelsville. Norman F. Reber '30, chairman of the group, planned the meeting and served as master of ceremonies. Professor Rose and Dr. Breidenstine were present and addressed the group. Elwood I. Lentz '27, and D. H. Markey '23 also spoke. The following officers were elected: President, D. H. Markey '23; Vice-President, Elwood I. Lentz '37; Secretary-Treasurer, Catherine Reber.

Etonian Nears Completion

With the taking of group pictures by the official photographer, pictorially speaking the 38-39 edition of the ETONIAN is now complete, according to James Linton '38, editor.

Mr. Linton now plans to devote the entire time of his staff to the written work which will appear in the tome, and expects to have all write-ups completed in as short a time as possible.

Choir Entertains

On the afternoon of Friday, April 1, the A Cappella Choir presented a half hour program at the meeting of the local Rotary Club. The Rotary members showed the utmost hospitality and appreciation for the presentation. The selections sung were taken from the choir's program, which it has given in various churches during the past few months. Prof. E. G. Meyer, of the college faculty, directed the choir.

Debaters Best Mass. State Affirmative

One of the most outstanding debates of the season was held on the evening of April 1, when Mr. Beahm and Mr. Shaull won the inter-sectional debate from Massachusetts State College affirmative debating team. This was a critic judge decision, with Dr. Herbert Wing, Jr., of Dickinson College, rendering the decision.

Monday afternoon, March 21, Mr. Robert Eshleman and Carl Herr debated the team from Fairmount State Teachers College of West Virginia in the Mt. Joy High School auditorium, before the high school student body, in an Oregon style, non-decision debate. Messrs. Eshleman and Herr upheld the affirmative side of the NLRB question, and Fairmount upheld the negative angle.

In the evening of the same day, Albert Bzura and Richard Shaull took part in a round table discussion of the same question, while Mr. Eshleman and Mr. Herr journeyed to Immaculata College to debate the girl's negative team. The affirmative won a critic judge decision over the Catholic girls.

Y.W. Learns How To Act

"The thing to do at a luncheon" was the central theme of the Y. W. meeting on Monday night. The meeting was directed by Mabel Crone. Esther Brandt acted as hostess. The proper form for invitation, formal and informal, was shown by Grace Ernst. Ruth Wise demonstrated the right way to enter a room. Allegra Royer introduced Jane Strite to the hostess. The right and wrong way of arranging a table was shown by Mabel Crone. Florence Getz discussed briefly the proper and the improper time to prop elbows on the table. After these preliminary discussions, the correct and incorrect way to eat were demonstrated. Mary Velter and Ruth Heinaman showed the right and wrong way of unfolding a napkin; Lena Brightbill and Martha Velter, eating soup; Betty Forney and Peggy Ruth, eating a salad; Anna Price and Wenonah Wilhelm, drinking water; Lois Brehm and Frieda Shaull, cutting meat; Esther Moore and Arlene Miller, eating bread; and Evelyn Gonder and Anna Carper, drinking tea. Anna Sweitzer showed the position of the knife and fork at the end of the meal.

After these complete instructions, the girls were privileged to practice on salads and cinnamon toast which were served by members of the "Y".

Hi-Y Conference On Campus

The annual Spring Conference of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs of Dauphin, Lebanon, Lancaster and York counties will be held on the campus of Elizabethtown College, Saturday, April 9. The College Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are host and hostess of the event held under the direction of Harry C. Gintzer, resident secretary of the Associated South Central District of the State Y. M. C. A.

The conference sessions will open with a devotional program in the college chapel at 9:30 a. m. following the registration of delegates in the social room of the college administration building. The morning program will be devoted to inspirational talks and discussions of youth club work problems. At noon a luncheon will be served in the college dining hall at which time the college Christian associations will present a program.

Dr. R. W. Schlosser will address the conference on the subject, "A Prospectus of Life." Discussions following this address will be: 1. Discovering Self and Vocational Opportunities; 2. Weighed in the Scales—Education, Craftsmanship and Future Economics.

In the afternoon the district ping-pong and dart baseball tournaments will be run off at the Elizabethtown High School under the direction of Mr. Gintzer in cooperation with the Elizabethtown clubs. Delegates not See CONFERENCE, Page 2

Elizabethtown Schools Plan Cooperative May Day, May 19

At last Elizabethtown College is going to celebrate May Day in the traditional fashion. If tentative plans follow through, Thursday, May 19, will see the first May Day celebration on the Elizabethtown College campus.

This year's celebration will be a cooperative affair—with groups from the junior and senior high schools, the grade schools, the Masonic Homes, and the college participating.

Details of the program, not yet fully worked out, will follow the usual May Day programs, and will include a procession of the Courts. There will be two Courts, one Junior and one Senior Court. The Senior Court will include six College representatives and four senior high school representatives, while the Junior Court will be selected from the grade school and the junior high school classes.

Immediately after the procession, the crowning of the May Queen will take place. The manner of selection of the Queen is being determined by a Committee but it is certain that she will be from the college, and possibly be selected through popular vote with candidates restricted to the two upper classes.

After the crowning of the Queen, the various groups will present their respective performances. The grade school and junior high classes will perform first, and will present two or three national folk designs. The Masonic Homes boys and girls groups will perform drills, marches, and some calisthenics and other physical activities. As yet the high school has not decided on a definite program, but will undoubtedly conform to other performances. As a finale, the college will put on a dramatic sketch, coupled with a minuet and appropriate dances.

The dances will be under the direction of Miss Margaret Miller '38, and the dramatic sketch will be under the direction of Miss Mildred Miller '38, which Miss Sheaffer, Dean of Women, will have general supervision of dancing and dramatics. Music for the occasion will be supplied by a town orchestra.

Thanks!

As all of us probably know by this time, a change in menu has overtaken us in the college dining room. We will not say at this time whether a change was necessary, but we will say this: I, the boarding students as a whole approve, please say 'so; if not, let us know. The columns of this paper are always open to honest and just criticism. On behalf of the person in charge of the menu, if any student feels he has a suggestion for the menu, please make your recommendations known.

And to lead off, we have a few criticisms to make, pro and con. It has come to our attention that several students felt like staging a walkout when the ruling was made known that each table would be allowed but two plates of bread. May we point out to those students that this is the customary practice in the majority of college dining rooms?

Naturally, we are not wholly satisfied with the provender provided, and our beef concerns the limitation of two pitchers of milk for breakfast. This is bad enough, but it makes matters even worse when one table cannot get the milk left at another table, as occasionally happens. Can't something be done about this?

Whether or not something is done we would like to go on record that the meals served in the colleg dining room are far above the average of similar colleges. Previously we have made this statement privately, but now we make it publicly: "We never appreciated the meals served in the dining hall until we visited a number of colleges and compared notes."

Why?

"The children of Spain are hungry and dirty" was the import of Dan West's speech in chapel on Tuesday, April 5. However, he stated, they are not all in that condition, and some have always been thus, regardless of the internal strife raging in Spain today.

Mr. West, representing the historic peace churches, has recently returned from an eight months stay in Spain, where he helped administer relief. He pointed out the cruel paradox of war wherein the armies are adequately fed and equipped while the women and children starve to death.

Three things of which Mr. West is certain are these: the forces are not the same as when the war began; the participants on both sides do not know what it is all about; the war will not settle any of the difficulties or problems which brought it on.

While the Loyalists have in their favor an elected government which aimed to correct the ancient wrongs of the church, General Franco's Insurgents can calm their conscience by saying that the elected government did not govern, and that the Republicans themselves took arms against the legally constituted government less than a decade ago.

Why are we rehashing this, you ask? Our reasons are several. First of all, War is futile. As we said, neither side can ultimately gain anything. The only possibility of gain lies with outsiders—Germany or Italy.

Second—War does not pay. How can the cruelties necessarily perpetrated by war on the women and children be remedied? Spain will pay for this, in years to come, through a stunted and dwarfed culture.

Third—the futility and utter uselessness of this war should prove to be an object lesson to the World-at-Large in preventing the inception of a new war.

"ABE" says--

THE NEW PATRIOTISM

On April 6, 1938, was observed in the United States a day known as "Army Day". This day is in commemoration of the entrance of the States into the World War, and also for the purpose of displaying OUR mighty military prowess. This is the type of patriotism which makes much of the flag. It expresses itself in bursts of song and on occasions calls for the belt and the gun and the bagpipes. It says, "I'm to fight the foe for Roosevelt and his nation." One of its favorite symbols is a stalwart soldier bidding his wife and child a fond farewell. Carlyle would call this a "weak-eyed, maudlin, sensibility."

True patriotism is not marked by the roll of stirring drums, or the steady tread of marching feet, or the unfurling of flags, or the volley from a cannon's muzzle. It can not be the true patriotism because the end of these is death. The only death true patriotism knows is the self-sacrifice of citizens for a more noble and worthy cause than that of war.

Patriotism is one of the profound and primary emotions of the individual soul. It is not merely love of country. In its essence, it means our consciousness of the existence of other groups like ourselves, our feeling that we belong to this group, that all that means most to us in life and in eternity is bound up in this community or group of which we are members. Patriotism takes us out of our limited selves and binds us body and soul to our fellow-men. There is, then, a bond of union between brethren, however distant; there is a sympathy existing between the virtuous, however separated; there is a heaven-born instinct by which the associates of the heart become at once acquainted, and see as though by magic in the face of strangers the features of friends.

The new patriotism will be enriched under the leadership of God. Thus, it demands that we strive to make every other nation happier, and more prosperous. True love for our neighboring nations insists that we give self-sacrificing and seek the benefits, protection, blessings, and welfare for them. People with a genuine spirit of cooperation and with an understanding of the purpose and responsibility of life will not seek to destroy one another.

Miss Page Hamilton Morrisette of Lynchburg, Va., became the bride of Paul S. Lentz, February 18. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Russell Cartwright Stroup, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Lynchburg, in the parlor of his home. After the ceremony a reception was held in the manse, and which the officiating clergymen and his mother received the 70 guests who witnessed the wedding. The bride is a graduate of the E. C. Glass High School of Lynchburg and attended Virginia Commercial College. She held the position of statistical clerk for the Craddock-Terry Shoe Company previous to her marriage. The happy couple are located at Fredericksburg, where the groom is employed.

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

News from the Moravian College front reveals that the Bethlehemites, who along with Elizabethtown, are members of the new Pennsylvania Conference, will send a very young team on the field when they meet the Ghosts this year . . . Ray Ross, veteran hurler who was expected to be the ace of the team, is ineligible, and the entire remainder of the Moravian pitching staff is made up of Sophomores and Freshmen . . . Coach Gillespie may have to form an entire new infield, but his outfield is composed mainly of veterans, and the catchers are also young.

There's an old saying among baseball faithful, to wit, "Once a Dodger, always a Dodger" . . . We seem to have a Brooklyn Dodger right here in our midst on College Hill, in the person of Theodore Sheckare '41, of Bainbridge . . . As a little enlightenment for some, let us explain that for some reason, any player wearing the uniform of the Brooklyn baseball club suddenly takes on a Dodger complex, and begins doing "batty" things on the ball field—Babe Herman is the outstanding example . . . Well, now Etown has its own Babe Herman in Comrade Sheckart . . . In a Physical Ed. soft ball tilt last week, Ted rapped out a base hit and got safely to first . . . The ball came in wild from the outfield, and Sheckart seemingly lost his usually normal sense of direction and rushed pell mell across the diamond from first to third, completely high-hatting second base . . . The only explanation we can give for this is that Ted knew the fielders would play the ball to second and did not expect him at third—well, he was right in the latter part at least, they did not expect him at third. We realize that a fourteen game schedule such as Etown will play this year is tough on a team, but we would still like to see Etown and Millersville State Teachers meet on the baseball field . . . This would be a natural, and officials at the schools would do well by getting together on it—sort of a county championship game . . . There's a lot of talk about just such a game going the rounds, and students at both schools would welcome the move with open pocketbooks . . . Think it over, gentlemen.

Hopes To Continue Winning Streak

By Dave Brandt

With the opening game of the season literally a stone's throw away, the 1938 edition of Elizabethtown diamonders are rapidly rounding into shape with a man-sized objective in mind—that of maintaining a ten game winning streak.

Last season, after a 12 to 5 upset at the hands of Juniata College in the curtain raiser, the Etownians hit their smooth stride, and took over all their remaining opponents, avenging their lone defeat with a ten-inning conquest over Slugger Jenkins & Company on the local field a few weeks later. Newspapers in this district were so minded to term the Elizabethtown College nine the "Wonder Team", and this appellation is one which the present outfit will be scrapping to hold.

There will be a number of new or semi-new physiognomies in the Phantoms lineup when they cross bats with the invading Kutztown Teachers on Saturday, April 9, on the Hill diamond. Missing will be loquacious Shelley Miller, the erstwhile captain and four year man who fitted in so smoothly at the initial corner; the gangling form of Wilbur "Bud" Weaver will no more be seen in those circus catches which typified his playing in the center pasture; lackadaisical Red Lander is with us no more, and with him have gone the two other hurlers, George Raker and Ray Sheckard; Garth Gochbauer, last year's Freshman right fielder, led the team at the bat, and his willow is sure to be missed.

However, for all that which we have lost, we have gained as much. Mr. Miller's slot at first base is being covered in grand fashion by Nathan Myer, who seems to have found his batting eye, and is just as fine a fielder as ever. Tam Baugher's return to school this year practically solved the one outfield problem, and out of the ranks of the first year men steps Stan Disney to fill in either in center field or on the pitching mound as the situation demands. Southpaw Curt Day is the other addition to the hurling corps, and with that left-handed delivery or his, he seems to be just what the doctor ordered for the Ghosts.

There are no doubts about the senior partners of the Blue and Gray battery, for the announcement, "Rudisill will pitch and Saylor will catch" drives fear into the heart of the most nerveless opponent. Rudisill is much the better for experience, and still possesses that marvelous control which is the prime requisite for a young pitcher, while his batterymate, Saylor, can be counted on to work in his usual steady manner.

Meyer is the only new member of the infield, for John Espenshade, Captain Ruby Seagrist and Herb Lefever played together at second, short, and third, respectively all last season, and have been working like the proverbial clockwork in this year's early practice sessions. A complete revival in the batting form of the infielders is looked for, after the shortage in base knocks in '37. Coach Herr is at present building up a "pony infield", which consists of Lefty Lloyd Bentz at first, Emory Stauffer at second, and Dale Smith at practically any position in the inner cordon.

Baugher and Disney have already been mentioned in the outfield, but there are others who also bear plenty of mention. Elmer Geim is, of course, a reliable holdover from last year, when he patrolled left field and provided some healthy walloping—Abe, in fact, was the only member of the Ghost's cast to slam a round-tripper all season. Sam Jones has seen quite a good deal of action since first enrolling at Etown, and this may be his year for a regular berth. Then, too, there are Mooch Cassel, the fleet-footed Junior whose fly-snagging may earn him a post in the garden. Lester Manbeck, the converted Freshman backstop Dixie Walker, a good judge of fly balls, and a host of other hopefuls.

It is upon these athletes that Elizabethtown pins her hopes of the Pennsylvania Conference championship, in the first year of the Conference's existence. First loop competition for the Galloping Ghosts will be on April 21, when they stack up against the Moravian hitters. The first home league game is also with the Bethlehem collegians on April 30.

Tennis Men Held Indoors

The Etown College tennis team has not as yet got much practice out of doors, partly due to inclement weather, and partly to the condition of the courts, which had to be gone over by the prospective racqueteers.

Jimmie Martin, Jim Linton, Norman "Chick" Baugher, Tommy Garber, are all on hand from last year, and this gives Coach Herr a good nucleus round which to build. Bob Keller is one Frosh who shows a lot of energy at least in his consistent workouts in the gym. Once the boys get out in the sunlight a lot more will be revealed about their chances for the season.

Second Youth Conference At Harrisburg; Parent's Day Banquet On Campus April 29

The Second Youth Conference of Pennsylvania will be held in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania from April 22-24, 1938. The Y. M. C. A. will be represented by two delegates to be chosen in the immediate future.

Miss Margaret Slattery, known to thousands for her stirring addresses and her books, will bring inspiration and driving force to a group of young people seeking to take Jesus seriously.

Kirby Page, whose books are known to every wide-awake leader, will bring the closing address of the Conference on the theme, "Taking Jesus Seriously."

Five well-known and favorite leaders will bring the opening addresses in the five conference sections. Clarence W. Cranford, Pastor of Logan Baptist Church, Philadelphia, will discuss, "I Believe"; "Jesus and the Making of the Home", will be presented by Roy E. Dickerson of the Order of De Molay, and author of "So Youth May Know"; "For Christ and the Church," will be the theme of Frank

D. Getty of the Presbyterian Board; "Is My Community Christian?" is the subject of Dr. Jerome C. Davis author of "Capitalism and Its Culture." Other prominent leaders will direct various group discussions.

On April 29, the Y. M. C. A. will sponsor a Parent's Day Banquet in the Alpha Hall dining room. Parents of the members of the Y. M. C. A. will be invited to attend. Dr. J. I. Baugher, supervising principal of the Hershey Schools, will address the group.

On May 16, a joint "Y" meeting will be held in the auditorium-gymnasium, Kirby Page will address the audience. The public will be invited to attend.

recently pledged students will go through with the final initiation rites. Following the banquet, which will begin at 6:30 there will be a short business meeting in the Social Room.

Penrod

Luke Ebersole and Maurice Rishel, alias Herman and Verman, added color. Luke could really pass for a negro, don't you think? (No offense, please!) Rishel's tongue-tied jibberish sent many home with sore sides.

Miss Noll tells us that "Della" was her first performance as an Irish-woman. We hope that it won't be her last! And then the laziness of Jarje seemed almost too natural—eh what, Mr. Cassel?

Special mention must be made of the scene where Penrod told the minister (nice dignity, Mr. Hoover) the story of the bad little boy. The costumes were clever and the hornet-slapping contest a riot. It was so real that we, in the audience, were waiting to hear the buzz of the insects around our own heads! Little Marjory was as sweet as a picture—you are as dear a little "little girl", Miss Curry, as a little "big girl". Mary Velter's sickening goodness as the perfect little gentleman, Georgie Bassett, was effective.

Mr. Saylor as the crook, Tim, played a surprisingly nice role while Helen Myers and Albert did the dotting parent act well.

To be sure—we have missed his majesty, the Duke! It was unintentional, I assure you, and we commend him most heartily for his excellent stage presence and resonant voice.

"Penrod" afforded its audience a thoroughly delightful evening!

Alumni Hold Head Positions

The Class of 1930 can boast of a quartet of successful graduates each one in his peculiar field of endeavor.

I. Wayne Keller is moving right up with the Armstrong Cork Co. During the last year he was in charge of the Pittsburgh office of company and will soon be given another promotion.

Ellis E. Reber has entered the field of business as proprietor of the County Line Service Station at Pottstown. Since October he serves patrons with the stuff that propels motor cars.

Rev. C. F. Jenkins is in his second year as pastor of the Second Baptist Church of Columbus, Ohio. Within the last year his church with the aid of the WPA recreation department has established a community center. The program as outlined includes recreation for small children, girls' and boys' clubs, handcraft, woodwork, photography, and a branch library, books being supplied by the Traveling Library Department of the State Library. Dramatics has been introduced recently and plans are being made for the production of a play. The Rev. Jenkins is the direct sponsor of the community project and has the honor of being pastor of one of the best churches in the State of Ohio.

Library Receives Alumnus' Thesis

The library has recently received a copy of "Agricultural Education for Adolescents in Pennsylvania," a dissertation submitted by Henry G. Bucher '28 to the Faculty of Temple University last year in partial fulfillment for the degree of Doctor of Education. The dissertation presents the subject in its historical, legal and modern aspects and contains copious tables and figures to sustain the conclusions arrived at by the author.

New Periodicals In Library

With the renewal of periodicals at the beginning of the year the library added two of a distinctly scholarly type.

The American Sociological Review is sponsored by some of the leading sociologists of the country. It is published bi-monthly and is the official organ of the American Sociological Society. Back numbers have been secured by the library to complete the file.

The American Political Science Review is issued by the American Political Science Association. Organized in 1903, the Association is a society of men and women interested in the investigation of governmental affairs and public opinion. The Association, numbering about two thousand persons in all countries, has no platform or program. It is the organ of no party or institution. Persons of widely different views are numbered in its membership. The only qualification is a permanent interest in scientific study and dispassionate discussion of government and of international relations.

The above periodicals are not intended for class use by freshmen and sophomores. They are rather intended to at least partly supply the great need of research material for upperclassmen.

26 volumes of World's Work have been added. Volume 2 is lacking to complete the file of this periodical.

Again -- No May Day

Tennyson, at one time or other wrote, "Men may come, and men may go, but I go on forever." Similarly, May Days may come and May Days may go, but we take no notice.

Once again the plans for May Day have dropped with a resounding thud. The conventional type of May Day seems not to suit the tastes of the supporters of Elizabethtown College. At a recent meeting of the Board of Trustees, they again reaffirmed their positions in disallowing a May Day with the conventional dances attached. All well and good.

The Administration and the Board of Trustees are in no-wise opposed to a May Day, but such a May Day as the omission of dances would necessitate would take a longer period of preparation than the Student Senate feels that it and the student

Trustees Hold Spring Meeting

The regular spring meeting of the Board of Trustees was held at the College on Tuesday, April 19, with all members present except two.

The Board voted to send a query to the Eastern and Southern Districts of Pennsylvania asking them to authorize their Mission Boards to pay one hundred dollars a year toward the tuition of ministers of the Church of the Brethren from their respective districts. The policy of the College for the coming year will be to grant a scholarship of one hundred dollars a year toward the tuition of all ministers needing financial assistance in securing a college education. It the Districts take favorable action all ministers of the Church of the Brethren will receive free tuition provided they are in need of such aid.

Mr. Rufus K. Eby of the class of 1926, and a member of the faculty of the Hershey High School was selected as an additional student solicitor for the summer of 1938. He will devote as much time as is deemed necessary by the Administrative Committee.

A committee of the Board of Trustees was also appointed to study the advisability of securing a Financial Secretary to devote his time to the larger financial program of the College.

The Board also voted to bring a query to the Eastern and Southern Districts of Pennsylvania asking that the Board of Trustees be increased from fourteen to twenty-four. The new plan proposes that in addition to the present Board eight more be elected by the Board at large and one more to be elected by the Alumni Association. The President of the College is also to be a member of the Board Ex-officio without any vote. The term of all trustees elected either by the Districts or by the Alumni shall be three years.

The queries referred to will be presented as items of business in the District Meeting of Eastern Pennsylvania which will assemble in the Springville Congregation near Ephrata on April 28.

Chemistry Student Injures Hand

At 9:45 on Tuesday morning Dick Shaul informed his chapel audience of a strike in the colleges of Eastern U. S. on Wednesday, in protest to the war tendencies of the national government, yet he obscured all reasons why Elizabethtown would not participate. However by mid-day the campus was enlightened for within its very midst there was one Herman (TNT) Leister who was secretly operating in league with Dupont. It appears that for quite some season he had successfully veiled a formula for which the munitions mogul had offered a fanciful five figure fee. Yet within a brief 10 minutes his prolonged attempt at secrecy were completely shattered.

The cause: An apparent insignificant "spark".

The immediate results: A scared Jim Rishel. A more scared Dale Smith. A pallid-panned Herman Leister.

Students Visit Franklin Inst.

Dr. Hill, Dr. Howell, and Roy Pfaltzgraff, president of the Sigma Zeta Science Club, led twenty-nine interested students through the Fels Planetarium and the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, on Saturday, April 23.

A prominent feature of the journey was the privilege of observing an interpretation of the Easter season in the Planetarium. "Easter .. The Awakening" commemorated the Resurrection, which is coincident with spring, marking the re-awakening of life which has been dormant during the winter.

"There is an astronomical background to Easter, because its date is set in accordance with definite rules of the calendar. The Earth travels in its orbit around the sun and the inclination of the earth's axis causing the succession of the seasons, and the moon's passage around the earth, producing the various phases, all play an important part in fixing the date of Easter," and it was a discussion of these principles which formed the first part of the Easter Planetarium demonstration.

Then the story of Easter was dramatically related in the second part of the program. This dramatic story was accompanied by artistic musical and lighting effects in addition to specially selected transcribed readings.

The members of the group were privileged to observe the various museum exhibits and planetarium techniques. The DuPont Company demonstrated special action exhibits by motion pictures entitled "Better Things For Better Living Through Chemistry."

Debaters Close Season

On Monday evening, April 11, the debating season closed with Mr. Robert Eshleman and Mr. Carl Herr dropping a decision to the strong Lincoln University negro debaters.

They debated on the National Labor Relations Board question.

The season as a whole was quite successful, with the Elizabethtown debaters conducting themselves nobly through a season of twenty-four debates and meeting such teams as Saint Francis College, Franklin & Marshall College, Upsala College, Muhlenberg College, Rider College, Saint Vincent College, Fairmont State Teachers College (W. Va.), Villanova College, Immaculata College, Massachusetts State College, Susquehanna University, and others. Besides debating before neighboring High School and civic clubs, the debaters engaged in several radio duels with Ursinus College, Drexel Institute of Technology, and Rutgers University.

Throughout the season two questions were debated: Resolved, That the National Labor Relations Board should be empowered to enforce arbitration of all industrial disputes; and, Resolved, That students of American Colleges and Universities should refuse to participate in any war on foreign soil.

The teams lost but five decisions during the season and hold victories over such schools at Lebanon Valley College, Saint Vincent College, Immaculata College, Susquehanna University, and others, including a victory in an inter-sectional debate with Massachusetts State College.

The debaters were guided through the season by Professor G. R. Saylor, coach. The argumentation experts were Carl G. Herr, who also acted as debate manager during the season, James Beahm, Albert Bzura, M. Richard Shaul, and Robert Eshleman.

Aside from their activities on the campus these men took a week's tour through eastern Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, and returned with an enviable debate record as well as a volume of personal experiences and thrills.

Will Attend Convention

Miss Rebekah Sheaffer, Dean of Women and Professor of English and Literature will attend a convention of delegates of the Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held in Pittsburgh, May 4, 5, and 6.

Miss Sheaffer, by virtue of her office as President of the County Federation of Women's Clubs, will be the Lancaster county delegate.

The Lancaster Federation includes a total of fourteen women's organizations, chief among which are the Business and Professional Women's clubs, the Farm Women's Society, the Y. W. C. A. of Lancaster, The Railway Mail Clerk's Association the Quota Club, the W. C. T. U. and other similar organizations.

Assigned Pastorate

At the closing session of the Evangelical Congregational Church Conference in Allentown on Monday night, Rev. George L. Herting, an E-town Sophomore, was assigned the pastorate of the Reich's Church, Maytown.

Mr. Harting was licensed about a year ago and since then has been preaching regularly in various churches of the district.

President Speaks At High Schools

On April 20, Dr. Schlosser delivered an address at the Manheim Township High School in connection with the induction of six students into the National Honor Society.

He also addressed the Lancaster County Chapter of the Ursinus Alumni Association of which he is a member on April 2. His general theme was "The Quest of Youth."

Dr. Schlosser conducted a Bible Institute in the Indian Creek congregation in Montgomery County on April 23rd and 24th.

He is planning to attend the District Meeting of Eastern Pennsylvania, near Ephrata. Several queries concerning the College will be taken up in the business session.

Students Select Officers For '39

During the past few weeks and the few weeks to come, the various organizations on the campus have elected or will elect their officers for the next school year.

The newly elected president of the Student Association is Sam Jones '39. Other nominees in the field were Albert Bzura and Harold Saylor.

Election of Athletic Association officers, which took place last Wednesday, gave the presidency to Harold Saylor and the secretaryship to Lois Brehm. These also ran: for president, Garland Hoover, Floyd Gutshall, and Paul Cassel; for secretary, Lena Brightbill.

The members of the Etownian staff are selected in somewhat a different manner from that in other organizations. Instead of elections by the student body, the Board of Control appoints the ones to fill each position, and the student body formally approves and accepts the nominations.

On April 22 the following officers were chosen on the new editorial staff to begin functioning next fall: Editor, Aaron B. Herr; Associate Editor, Elmer Q. Gleim; News Editor, Grace Wenger; Features, Albert F. Bzura.

New appointees to the business staff are: Business Manager, Herman Leister; Assistant, Arthur Kulp; Advertising Manager, Thomas Garber.

The positions of Sports Editor and Circulation Manager are yet to be filled.

Lyceum Gives Final Number

On April 13, the Lyceum committee presented as its last program of the season the student-artists of the Curtis Institute of Music of Philadelphia. The artists were June Winters, coloratura soprano; Burnett Atkinson, flutist; and Joseph Levine, pianist. The concert which they presented was well received and enjoyed by everyone present.

Miss Winters displayed her delightful coloratura voice in such numbers as "Midsummer" by Worth "Where the Bee Sucks" by Arne, and the difficult but lovely aria "Una voce poco fa" from "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini. Mr. Atkinson delighted the audience with his rendition of Bach's "Suite in B Minor" and "Cantabile et presto" by Enesco after which the three artists joined forces to present a group of trio numbers. Mr. Levine, pupil of Josef Hofman and frequent visitor to the Hill, displayed his brilliant technique and masterful ability in Bach-Busoni's "Chaconne" and Ravel's "La valse". After his concluding number, Mr. Levine graciously responded with the encore "Malaguena" by Lecuona at the request of "the nice boy who lifted the piano lid."

Choir Gives "Bartered Bride" May 13

By James Martin

The colorful comic opera, "The Bartered Bride" by Bedrich Smetana will be presented by the Elizabethtown College A Cappella Choir in the Auditorium-Gymnasium on the evening of Friday, May 13, 1938. The production is in charge of Professor E. G. Meyer and will be directed by him. Mrs. Meyer will be the accompanist.

The scene is laid in a Bohemian village. Kezal, the village marriage-broker, has been offered a sum of money by Micha, a villager, if he succeeds in arranging the marriage of Vashek, Micha's son, to Marie, the belle of the village. However, Marie loves Jenik and he returns her love, although Jenik is a newcomer to the village. Seeking to remove this obstacle, Kezal offers Jenik three hundred gold pieces if he will sign a paper saying that Marie shall be given to Vashek. Jenik accepts the money, but insists that the wording of the paper be changed to give Marie "to Micha's son". This is done and the paper is signed. Jenik then receives the ridicule of the villagers because he has bartered his loved one. However, Jenik then steps forward and discloses himself as Micha's son of a former marriage, and claims his right to Marie's hand. Kezal realizes his mistake, and gives up in defeat Micha gives Marie and Jenik his blessings.

The leading roles of Marie and Jenik will be taken by Floy Myer and Robert Adams. The supporting cast will include James Buffen-

APOLOGY

We feel that we owe an apology to the student body and especially to the administration and the Board of Trustees, in printing information in our last issue, relative to May Day, as if it had been approved by the Board of Trustees and the Administration. Such was not the case; hence our humble apologies.

body have time to produce at this late date. Again, all well and good.

Then why doesn't the Student Senate make plans for an acceptable May Day? For three years, now, we have blindly gone ahead and made plans which were vetoed by the administration.

Why can't we plan a May Day program which deletes dancing entirely. A pageant, a procession, certain physical drills and calisthenics and other items for a gala day. Since "dancing" does not agree with the powers that be, why not recognize that fact and make plans accordingly. Early in the school year is the time to begin—not the last two weeks of March or the beginning of April.

In order to alleviate this somewhat painful condition arising from the yearly dropping of May Day plans, we'll take the bull by the horns and speak to the Student Senate directly and say what we think will help matters.

1. Start plans for a May Day early in the school year.
2. Make such plans that will meet with the approval of the Board of Trustees and the administration.

We are not blaming any specific member of the Student Senate and say that she or he is responsible for not having a May Day, this year but we do say that, on the whole, the planning this year was noticeably lacking in drive and initiative.

Perhaps we did err in printing a story of tentative plans—plans which did not bear the stamp of approval of the Administration; but we hope that this was not construed as presumptuousness or imprudence on our part. We did not print the story because we wanted to revolutionize. We printed it simply as a news article which would be of interest to the general student body, because we received it as such. If we erred, we humbly apologize.

SPRING FEVER?

Well, John P. and Suzy Q. Student, only a month to go. One more month and this school year will be a memory.

It seems that as the end approaches work tends to pile up faster. Deadlines pop up at the most unexpected times and places.

And at the same time the environment changes to become less conducive to working. Nature calls us outdoors with an irresistible voice, "Up, up and quit your books."

This last month, under such conditions, will be for many students a mad race against time. And Grandpa Time is relentless. So are the professors. The result will be work done poorly or not at all. Students who find themselves in this position would favor a moratorium, or cancellation of back assignments, just as the European nations would like to wipe out their war debts to the United States.

But we fear we have been too pessimistic again. Of course nothing of the kind described above exists at Etown. We always have our lessons up to the minute. Pardon us, we merely wanted to tell you how the students in other schools are sometimes caught between the millstones of circumstances.

Seriously, let's keep up the good work we've been doing, fight to the finish, and "in due season we shall reap, if we faint not."

Idiosyncrasies and Irrelevancies

Contributions to this column will be welcome. All contributions must be signed and placed on the desk of the Editor, Room 247.

The Fourth Dimension ???

Grace Wenger: Mr. Kohler, can you paraphrase these lines? "How I love thee? Let me count the ways I love thee to the breadth and depth and height."

Mr. Kohler: Yes I can do it. "I love you in the 3 dimensions."

*****

Dr. Weller: Is falling in love in the spring an instinct?

Miss Snodgrass: I don't know whether it's an instinct, but I do know it's a reflection.

(Note: This seems to be a reflection on Miss Snodgrass' roommate.)

*****

And who was the guy who said a sociologist couldn't be an angel—why, Dr. Weller was recently seen with a halo around his head in a general sociology class.

Glass In His Hair

Speaking of halos, ask Mr. Booz about the blue light which was seen around his head the other evening. It seems he was trying to entertain the boys in John Glass' room when his head accidentally struck the light bulb.

Abstract to Concrete

Apparently Miss Wilhelm's mind was in a state of abstraction when when she jumped out of the row boat for the concrete wall. Fortunately she was rescued from disaster by the strong arms of a certain third baseman.

*****

As Mr. Disney gracefully danced to the tune of the Shartlesville Hotel victrola, he received much applause from the on-lookers. After one of his most successful canterers, Mr. Espenshade, thrilled with the performance, told the coach to throw him a penny. The coach, touched by the occasion, and filled with the spirit of the philanthropist, graciously tossed him the coin. Then Mr. Espenshade was heard to say: "You know, Coach, there is only one animal that throws a 'scent'."

"ABE" says--

In a recent discussion with a prominent M. D., I was impressed with his rationality in matters pertaining to early rising and late retiring as they effect the health of the individual. History proves to us that of one of the degeneracies of our time, late rising is a prominent one. For the full use of our highest powers we must maintain a regular and conservative time for retiring for the preservation of our health.

At school students are forced to rise early in order that they may be regularly on time to their early morning classes. If such an obligation is placed upon a student, there should be equally binding on the student the obligation to retire not later than ten P. M. Franklin said, "He who rises late may trot all day, and not have overtaken his business at night." Dean Swift avers, "that he never knew any man come to greatness and eminence who lay in bed of a morning." Early rising for the preparation of lessons is better than late retiring in preparation of those same materials.

Buffon gives us the history of his writings in a few words. "In my youth, I was very fond of sleep; it robbed me of a great deal of my time; but my poor Joseph (his servant) was of great service in enabling me to overcome it. I promised to give Joseph a coin every time that he would make me get up at six. Next morning, he did not fail to wake me and torment me; but he received only abuse. The next day after, he did the same with no better success; and I was obliged to confess at noon that I had lost my time. I told him that he did not know how to manage his business, he ought to think of the promise, and not to mind my threats. The day following, he employed force; I begged for indulgence—I bade him begone—I stormed—but Joseph persisted. I was therefore obliged to comply; and he was rewarded every day for the abuse which he suffered at the moment when I awoke, with thanks and a coin, which he received about an hour after. Yes, I am indebted to poor Joseph for ten or a dozen volumes of my works."

ALONG THE Sport Trail

By Dave Brandt

Coming down the stretch of the school year, let's take a look around us and pay a little attention to the major leagues . . . . At this writing, two one-hit ball games have already been pitched with that young luminary of the Cleveland Indians, Bob Feller, who looks like one of the greatest hurlers ever to pitch his tent around the big show, limiting St. Louis to a scratch hit by his ex-batterymate, Billy Sullivan, while Prince Hal Schumacher, the Giants' big moundsman, blanked the tough Brooklyn crew with a single blow . . . . Speaking of pitching, the Chicago Cubs seem to have finally swung a successful deal in purchasing Dizzy Dean from the Cards for a small fortune and three poor but honest ball players . . . . Baseball experts were skeptical about Diz's salary swing, but the Great One soon abolished all doubt with a four hit extravaganza against his old teammates, St. Louis.

While the Deans, Dimaggios, Gehrigs, Fellers, et al, are getting all the praise and noise, on the front line, we have a little beef on our chest that we've been wanting to get rid of for some years now . . . . We're thinking about the potentially great ball players who get into some big league farm system at an early age, then are called to the big time by their bosses higher up, and sit out their usefulness in the shadows of the dug-out . . . . It isn't hard to give a few examples of our

After eleven straight victories, Elizabethtown's baseball streak has vanished with the Spring Breezes . . . . Juniata's Lefty Rohrer fanned twenty men, let our Ghosts down with two hits, and sent them galloping home on the short end of a 3 to 0 defeat . . . . The only way to grab that Conference crown from the hands of Moravian and Susquehanna is to play at top form, and there's no time like the present to snap out of that slump and abbreviate it before it starts to get the lads down.

Neglected Club—the Yankees alone "un-developed" Sammy Byrd, Cedric Durst, Myril Hoag, who plays now and then but will never be what he could have been, a star for some other club . . . . The Cubs have finally passed on Tucker Stainback to the Cards, but he's liable to get the same treatment from Frisch's clan . . . . The Chicago White Sox are getting Larry Rosen-thal off to a start in the same direction, and ditto for Roy Weatherly at Cleveland . . . . Jojo White is Detroit's Public Bench-warmer No. 1.

Many players, now regulars with big league clubs, narrowly escaped this fate by being traded . . . . Outstanding examples are Dixie Walker of the Tigers and Ernie Koy of the Dodgers, whom Kind fate rescued from the Clutches of Solitary Confinement with the Yankees . . . . We wish big league managers would be more kindly disposed to players of this type, whom they may not need, but who could catch on with practically any other club in the pastime . . . . Jorgens could have been a great catcher with the Athletics, and so could Ray Hayworth, but both are entering the dusk of their baseball careers, getting nowhere fast with clubs whose owners are unconscious that their chattels are being victimized by a Baseball that in some ways can be cold and cruel.

Juniata Noses Out Nine 3-0; Rohrer Shines

Lefty Rohrer's long portside flipper was in miracle-like form on Saturday, April 23, and the star hurler for the Juniata Indians cut the Galloping Ghosts of Elizabethtown College down to a walk and handed them a 3 to 0 setback on Juniata's home field. Rohrer allowed the Phantoms only two hits, which were singles by Ruby Seagrist and Herb Lefever, and rang up no less than twenty strikeouts.

Coach Ira Herr sent Rob Roy Rudisill to the peak and the Wrightsville product tossed a winning ball game in a losing cause. Although he allowed ten base knocks, Rudy kept them well scattered except in the second and seventh innings, when the Juniata macemen pushed their three counters across the pentagon.

Both hurers showed a tendency to be wild, Rudisill granting five passes, while Rohrer gave up an even half dozen. The errors were evenly distributed, with both teams committing two. Seagrist and Espenshade were the local offenders, while Geiser and Catcher Jenkins chipped in with Juniata's.

Three men led the Indians' hitting attack, Grega Goodale, and Leopold each getting a pair. One of Grega's was a two-bagger, while Goodale smote the biggest hit of the affair, a triple.

The Elizabethtown stickmen had ample opportunity to score, for there were no less than ten left on base what with a variety that included two (2) hits, six walks, two errors by Juniata, and a couple of hit batsmen, but the old punch wasn't there at the right time and Rohrer eased through to the win.

Herrmen In Stalemate At Md.

In the opening game of the season the college nine almost received a setback. Journeying to Maryland State Teachers' College on April 12, the best they could get was a 6-6 break.

During the first inning the Etown lads scored two runs, brought in by three-base hits by Saylor and Gleim respectively.

By the end of the seventh the Marylanders had pushed forward to a 6-4 lead, and were ready to quit on account of the gathering darkness. However they were persuaded to play another inning, which cost them the victory.

With two men on base, Seedy Seagrist landed a two-bagger, and the game was saved. Pitchers for the Etowners were Day, Disney, and Rudisill.

Tennis Men Bow Twice

Tuesday afternoon, April 26, Elizabethtown College opened court activities for the season when they journeyed to Lebanon Valley to take on the Valley netmen. Etown took a salty defeat, resting on the short end of a 7-2 score. Jim Linton and Bob Keller furnished the locals with victories, taking their singles matches by the score of 6-3, 6-4 and 6-2, 9-11, 6-2. Keller and Linton occupied the No. 5 and 6 positions respectively.

Thursday afternoon the local claymen trekked to Juniata to take on the Indians. Five racketeers represented Etown, Garber, Baugher, Linton, Risser and Coulson. The final score was 4-3 in favor of Juniata.

Moravian Tops E-town, 3-2

By Slug and Butch

Jupiter Pluvius combined his efforts with those of Moravian on Saturday, and when the reek of combat had risen, they had succeeded in shattering a record of two years standing by a 3-2 score.

Not since 1935 had the Phantoms finished the ninth frame overshadowed by an adverse score, and, too, no serious threat was visualized in a chartered Bethlehem bus that rolled on the campus at noon.

Yet Moravian had its own ideas. As early as the second inning it had pushed two runs across the pay station. The Ghosts narrowed the advantage in the fourth and rose to even terms in the sixth. The parity was short-lived for, come the seventh, Moravian went ahead on a single and double.

The lower half of the ninth saw hopes catapulted skyward. With one retired, Smith singled to center, Rudisill teased a single to right but Baugher ended proceedings by rapping into a rapid-fire double play.

Red Meyer was officially credited with four trips to the plate, two runs and no hits. Three faux pas from the left side of the infield explain the singularity.

From the fifth to the eighth frame Rudy averaged 2 strike outs per inning. He forced eleven batsmen to collect ozone in his nine inning mound tenure.

Bad footing conditions allowed several drives to go as hits . . . . The Phantoms were outit seven to twelve . . . . No Annie Oakleys were issued by either pitcher.

Y. W. Plans Pageant For Mothers

On Monday evening, May 2, Mrs. A. G. Breidenstine will speak to the girls at their regular meeting.

Plans are now being made for the annual Mothers' and Daughters' banquet to be held Saturday, May 7. In the afternoon the girls will present a pageant depicting the stages of a girls' life from babyhood to grandmother. Following this pageant given in the "hollow" of the campus, punch and pretzels will be served. At the banquet in the evening Mrs. Austin Fellanbaum of Lancaster, will be the guest speaker. There are to be several musical numbers at the program in the evening.

Alumni Raise School Funds

Completion of an organization to conduct a fund-raising campaign among the alumni was recently effected. Class agents for each of the classes beginning with the Class of 1903 and including 1937 have contacted the members of their classes. Returns are being received daily by the Alumni Secretary. The proceeds will be equally allocated between the indebtedness on the alumni gymnasium and the alumni student loan fund.

A Cappella Choir Concludes Season

The Elizabethtown College A-Cappella Choir completed its annual series of religious programs in the various churches of the vicinity on Sunday, April 24, 1938, with a program in the Church of the Brethren of York, Pa. The theme this year was "Lord, Speak To Me That I May Speak" and the program consisted of fifteen numbers. Besides rendering this program in fourteen churches throughout eastern Pennsylvania and Maryland, the choir has appeared at the Mount Joy High School, the Elizabethtown Rotary Club, and the College chapel service.

Much credit for a successful season goes to Professor E. G. Meyer, director of the Choir. Without his untiring effort and patient guidance, the Choir would surely have failed. Also, as the officers of the Choir have done their part to make the season a successful one. Floy Myer, the secretary, made the arrangements with the various churches and drew up the year's schedule. All financial matters and transportation facilities were in charge of James Linton, treasurer. James Martin, president of the organization, took charge of the actual programs in the churches.

Wherever it has gone, the choir has met with the welcome and approval of the churches and other organizations whose guests they were. Next year, with two invitations already received, the choir anticipates an even more successful season.

Mothers Enjoy Y. W. Outdoor Pageant, May 17

The hollow on the west side campus became the setting for the Y. W. C. A. outdoor pageant on Saturday afternoon May 7. Mildred Miller was coach, stage manager, announcer, and curtain all in one. The pageant in which the girls participated showed a girl's life from babyhood to old age. Weronah Wilhelm as the nurse introduced the infant age. Then a merry group representing the grade school children played games and listened to a short story by Mabel Crone. A giggling group portrayed a set of high school girls quite overcome by their first love. College days depicted an evening of informal college songs. At this point love entered a more serious stage when Mildred Snodgrass accepted Lorraine Miller's proposal of marriage.

The outdoor wedding scene with Betty Forney, the lovely bride of Jane Strite, was charming. To the wedding strains by Wagner on the organ, the procession with flower girl, Kathleen Baugher; the maid-of-honor, Lena Brightbill; the colorful-gowned bridesmaids, and the dark-haired bride proceeded up the aisle. During the ceremony Mary Moore sang "I Love You Truly".

Esther Brandt as a mother listening to her children, little Patsy Hill and Clair Garman say their evening prayers captivated all hearts. The next scene was an afternoon tea with Beverly Noll as hostess. In the last one old age crept on. The grandmothers Grace Wenger, Anna Carper, and Beatrice Myers knitted and thought of the past as Peggy Miller, Mary Moore, and Floy Myer sang "Silver Threads Among the Gray." At the close of the pageant the girls served refreshments for the mothers.

In the evening at seven o'clock a total of 119 mothers and daughters assembled in the college dining room for the banquet. During the evening Margaret Miller, the toastmistress, introduced her own mother, Mrs. Ernst, Mrs. Carper, Mrs. Oberholtzer, Miss Sheaffer, and Mrs. Wenger. At various stages of the banquet Margaret Miller led group singing. Miriam Carper played violin and piano solos, Catherine and Marie Oberholtzer played piano duets, and Floy Myer sang.

The Y was fortunate enough to have as the speaker Mrs. Anna Fellenbaum of Lancaster, who has a kindergarten school. She spoke of the relations of mothers and daughters in a sane and practical way. She cited various cases of mothers and daughters she had observed. Mrs. Fellenbaum inspired the women to be better mothers and daughters through reasonableness and not emotionalism.

Seconday Students Receive Positions

Up to the present time, two secondary education students have received contracts to teach for the coming year.

James Linton, graduating Magna Cum Laude, has been engaged as teacher of History and Latin in the Lebanon High School. Among his numerous activities on the campus, Mr. Linton is editor of the present edition of the yearbook; vice-president of the Student Senate, and a member of the Sock and Buskin, dramatic club.

Mr. Sauder has received a position teaching Commercial subjects, at an annual salary of $1200, in the West York High School, and will also fill the position of Coach of Athletics. Mr. Sauder distinguished himself as president of the Commercialians and president of the Athletic Association, as well as being recently elected to the Candles honorary organization on the Hill.

Seniors To Enter Professional Schools

Several of the Seniors have already enrolled in various professional schools which they plan to enter next fall.

Roy Pfaltzgraff will be the first Etown graduate to enter the medical school of Temple University. William Sheaffer has registered as a student in Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia. Carl Herr will also be a pioneer inasmuch as he will be the first Etown man to enter the law school of Dickinson College.

Sam Geyer, a Junior, is contemplating entering Hahnemann Medical College in the fall, but may decide to complete his work for his degree at Etown first.

Kirby Page Challenges Audience

"What contribution has Christianity to make to the solution of our economic problems?" is the question Dr. Kirby Page asked and gave an answer to in a regular "Town Hall" discussion in the Auditorium on Monday night, May 16.

Dr. Page, a nationally known lecturer and social evangelist, is the author on books on peace, religion, and other world problems—among them Living Triumphantly, The Personality of Jesus, and Must We Go To War?

At the beginning of his address Dr. Page raised the question as to the amount of money to which any one man should be entitled. The traditional American answer is that each man is entitled to all he can get honestly, with a very elastic definition of honesty.

This free-for-all competition has led to the concentration of economic privilege in the hands of a few, and in social conflict. Since a large number of American families receive incomes too low to provide them a decent standard of living, there has been a drastic reduction of industry's ability to sell. This in turn has resulted in a vast supply of idle machinery, idle men, and idle money. This is the sick condition in which America finds herself today.

Dean Performs Wedding Ceremony

On Saturday, April 30, a double wedding was solemnized at the home of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Baugher. Dean Baugher performed the ceremony. The couples united in marriage were Harvey William Krall and Nora Naomi Binner, of near Lebanon, and David D. Forry and Helen B. Balsbaugh, of Lebanon and Myerstown.

Opera Well Received

By James Martin

On the evening of Friday, May 13, 1938, the Elizabethtown College A Cappella Choir presented "The Bartered Bride," a comic opera by Bedrich Smetana. Professor E. G. Meyer, head of the Music Department of the college, was in charge of the production. Miss Rebekah Sheaffer, instructor in English, was in charge of the dramatization, and Mrs. E. G. Meyer was the accompanist. The leading roles were taken by Floy Myer and Robert Adams, with James Buffenmyer, James Linton, Mary Moore, John Speidel, Grace Frantz, and Robert Forney in the supporting cast. The opera was well received by an audience of about four hundred people, including many former students who welcomed an opportunity to return to the campus. Gifts were presented to Professor and Mrs. Meyer and Miss Sheaffer by the choir out of appreciation for the work and time they have spent in making the opera the success that it was.

The story, laid in Bohemia, tells of the difficulties which arise to thwart the love of Marie and Jenik, the leading characters. The climax comes when Jenik apparently betrays Marie by singing away his claims to her hand for three hundred gold pieces. The villagers join in renouncing his act as traitorous and advise Marie to give her love to another. She is on the point of doing this when a most startling discovery is made.

Smetana the composer of the opera holds a most unique position in music. As one of the greatest Bohemian composers, his acclaim is wide-spread. He is frequently compared to Mozart because of his precocity. Music lovers are bound to enjoy his masterpiece, "The Bartered Bride".

Dr. John W. Withers To Speak At Commencement

Honor Student Announces Engagement

Miss Grace Ernst, who will graduate with the honor of Magna Cum Laude on Monday, has become engaged to Hernley Madeira, former student of Elizabethtown College.

Miss Ernst is convalescing from a recent appendicitis operation. She has served as President of the Women's Student Council, Vice-President of the Sock and Buskin dramatic club, and secretary of the Senior Class.

Miss Ernst is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Ernst, Chambersburg. Mr. Madeira is the son of Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Madeira, Elizabethtown. Mr. Madeira plans to enter business in Chambersburg in June.

Juniors Fete Seniors

On Saturday evening, May 21, the Juniors feted the Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior banquet which was held in the college dining room. Professor Saylor, adviser to the Juniors, served as toastmaster, and Dr. Musick was the principal speaker. Other speakers were President R. W. Schlosser, Dean A. C. Baugher, Dr. O. G. Baker, a visitor; and the class presidents, Harold Saylor and Luke Sauder.

Miss Floy Myer sang several selections and Lois Brehm and Paul Cassel presented a vocal duet.

Rural Life Conference

The Committee on Rural Life at Elizabethtown College, Forrest Weller, R. W. Schlosser, and A. C. Baugher, held a conference on the subject of Rural Life at the College on May 21, from 12:30 to 5:15.

The leader of the conference was Dr. O. G. Baker, senior Agricultural Economist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. Baker has been in the Department for twenty-five years, has received his doctorate from the University of Wisconsin, and recently was awarded an honorary degree from the University of Gottingen.

Dr. Baker gave a lecture at each of the two sessions held in the afternoon. The study, which is being conducted for the General Board of See CONFERENCE—Page 2

Thirty-Six Seniors To Receive Degrees

The thirty-sixth annual graduation ceremonies for the graduating class of Elizabethtown College will begin Sunday evening, when Dr. R. W. Schlosser, president of the College will deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the Washington Street Church of the Brethren.

Conferring of Degrees will take place in the College Auditorium gymnasium, on Monday morning, at 10 a. m. Commencement activities will open on Friday evening, with a joint voice and piano recital by music students of the college, in the Auditorium-gymnasium, at 8 p. m.

Saturday will be Alumni Day, with a business meeting scheduled for the morning and a banquet feting the present graduating class in the evening, at 5:30, in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Dr. John W. Withers, Dean of the School of Education, will deliver the principal address on Monday morning. James Linton, Magna Cum Laude, will give the valedictorian address and Mildred Miller, Cum Laude, will give the salutatorian address.

Dr. Withers, who, at the age of seventy plans to retire on September 1, has devoted his entire adult life in the field of education. A native of West Virginia, he taught in the country schools of that state three years, after which he served two years as principal of the Kentucky Normal School. From there he went to the National Normal University, where he served as dean of the preparatory school and teacher of college mathematics, then as vice-president, and finally four years as president of the University.

After twelve years as president of Harris Teachers College, St. Louis, Dr. Withers became superintendent of Schools in that city. From there he went to New York University in 1921.

After seventeen years of service as head of the School of Education, Dean Withers is planning to retire from his deanship of the New York University School of Education on September 1. During his deanship the enrollment of the School, which was the first of its kind established as part of an American University, has grown from the 141 students in 1921, when he was appointed, to more than 8,000 now in attendance. Seventeen years ago the few students were largely New York teachers taking courses on a part-time basis; today the student body represents every state in the Union and a score of foreign countries as well. It has been estimated that some 100,000 men and women have been enrolled during his administration.

Receives Medal For Shorthand

Miss Virjean Campbell '40, was recently honored by receiving a silver medal awarded by the Gregg Publishing Company, for taking shorthand dictation at a sustained speed of 140 words a minute for a period of five minutes and transcribing with an accuracy of not less than 95 per cent. Miss Campbell is taking shorthand under Miss Bowman.

According to Miss Bowman, it is the second time in the history of the school that a student has received a medal for writing at the above speed. In the entire transcription, Miss Campbell transcribed the dictation with a total of 19 errors, giving her an accuracy rating of 97.29 per cent.

HOW MUCH DID YOU RECEIVE?

And so we come to the end of another year. When we think or say the word "end", we are tempted to think what have we to show for the time spent in school? What have we received?

There are three things to be obtained in a school. The first thing is knowledge, and while we need to keep balanced, we should let nothing interfere with our getting that for which we are spending our time and money. If we give our lessons first place, and allow the requisite time for them, we should be able to do this. How much knowledge did you get this past year?

The second thing to be gained is the personal character enrichment which goes on unconsciously where many students and teachers live in close contact. We meet many of noble character whose fine qualities we admire, and we can never say, "I wish I could be like that," and be quite the same afterwards. There is the negative aspect, too. When we meet someone with one of our faults very well developed, we get a glimpse of ourselves that makes us redouble our zest in getting rid of that fault. In the development of the character we covet, it is important that we take adverse criticism with an open mind. If after considering it carefully, we can see how it was merited, we can thereby improve ourselves, and if we cannot, the process of self-examination has not hurt us any. How much have you gained through such experience this past year?

Then we have the pleasure of social intercourse with the students in the dormitory, the dining room, and at social affairs. Mingling with the many, we have the opportunity to form those close friendships which make life so pleasant. We shall better realize in the years to come when we are scattered, how valuable these are. How well have you taken advantage of these opportunities?

MAY I HAVE YOUR ———?

At last comes the ETOWNIAN, and we take up autography. The year-book arrived just in time, for certain of the fellows were becoming so badly afflicted with the autograph-seeking mania that they were having their friends autograph hats, pictures, baseballs, and anything else with a few square inches of blank white surface.

Our only regret is that they actually did arrive before Commencement; now we have nothing to kick about. Lacking that, all that remains is for us to congratulate the Etownian staff on their fine piece of work. It really is a thing to be proud of.

Now that you've seen the book, you who haven't yet ordered your copy will surely want one. A limited supply of extra copies has been printed for those who want to see what they are getting. If you hurry you can still buy a copy, the price is three dollars, while they last.

Idiosyncrasies and Irrelevancies

Contributions to this column will be welcome. All contributions must be signed and placed on the desk of the Editor, Room 247.

"After two years", quoth Manbeck, "I finally have a batting average." Yes, indeed, boys; a good one, too—.500.

And while we're thinking about it, if you ever see the name, "Foster Beckman MacDuff" in a baseball lineup, you'll know its him, seeking to avoid publicity.

*****

Then there was that group of law-abiding Etown students who wrote out a traffic ticket and tagged a patrolman's motorcycle for being too near a fireplug, in Mt. Joy.

*****

Believe it or not, but Allegra Royer proved that she can eat six salads at one sitting.

*****

Embarrassing moment: Joe Heckler (assisted by Johnny Espenshade) lamenting out loud the lousy showing he made in an Accounting test, not knowing the Doc was but a few feet away puttering around his car. (P. S. John knew.)

*****

Time for action: Lester Risser was hunting a lighted cigarette in his car—the story goes—but to no avail. However, he got results when he accidentally put his hand in his coat pocket.

*****

Dale Smith — what'dweverdo'—thouthim—was the bright lad who yelled out a distance of fourteen feet, fourteen inches at the field meet. Incidentally, Dale, if your middle name was Irvin, how would you spell it?

*****

Whatever made Reidenbough walk into the door as he was leaving the dining room the other morning?

*****

Things I want to see: Maurice Rishel preaching. He says he did, and can produce programs to prove it.

*****

Some men smile at dawn
But the man worthwhile
Is the one who can smile
When his two front teeth are gone.

*****

"I don't mind," said the professor, "If I see a student fidget toward the end of the hour. I don't mind seeing him take out his watch and look at it. But when he takes out his watch, stares at it, puts it to his ear and shakes it—that gets me!"
—Any Professor.

*****

They'll do anything to get out of class! John Espenshade sent a message to Mrs. Wenger that he had broken his leg, and couldn't attend the last class of the semester. Mrs. Wenger, sympathetic soul, sent a bouquet of dandelions, etc., with a note expressing hope that John would be sufficiently recovered to take the test the next day.

Alumni Hold Final Meeting

The final alumni meeting for the year was sponsored in the Philadelphia area at the Jeffersonville Inn on Saturday evening, May 14. The group had met at the same place last year. Seventeen alumni, former students and friends were in attendance. LeRoy P. Rosenberger '31, served as master of ceremonies.

Professor L. D. Rose '11, Alumni Secretary, was present and addressed the group. Professor G. R. Saylor '26 presented a humorous reading.

The Scholarship Committee, authorized by the group last year, presented a preliminary report. The committee was instructed to continue its study of the project.

The group selected Friday, Apr. 21, 1939, as the tentative date for the next meeting.

The following officers were elected: President, W. W. Eshelman '30; Vice-President, Franklin K. Cassel '35; Secretary-Treasurer, Carrie W. Ellis.

Alumnitems

Elwood I. Lentz '31, has located as Chemist and Assistant to the Superintendent of the Allegheny Chemical Corporation at Womelsdorf. Since entering the employ of the corporation he has been notified of his second salary increase. Mr. and Mrs. Lentz with Elwood Jr. are presently located at 243 West High St., Womelsdorf, where the latch string is always on the outside to their many Etown friends.

ATTEND BANQUET

Mrs. Wenger and Mildred Miller represented Elizabethtown College at a banquet in the interests of elementary education sponsored by the Primary Club of Millersville State Teachers' College, on May 3.

Elections

Norman Baugher, Hershey, Pa., was elected president of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year on May 4, in the College Chapel. Mr. Baugher served as treasurer of the organization for the past year, and has also taken an active part in religious programs on the hill. The supporting officers, elected at the same time, are: Vice-President, Luke Ebersole; secretary, Robert Adams; treasurer, Merle Heckler. The members of the Cabinet are: Robert Eshelman, Ammon Wenger, and Elmer Gleim.

On Monday evening, May 9, at the regular meeting of the Student Volunteers, the following officers were elected: President, Elmer Gleim; vice-president, Grace Wenger; corresponding secretary, Beatrice Myers; recording secretary, Leah Godfrey; treasurer, Mark Weaver. After the election, movies showing the Church of the Brethren at Work were shown in the College Chapel.

Robert Adams was elected president of the Zeta Sigma Pi organization, at the regular meeting held on the evening of May 26. He will be assisted by Jean Hershey, who will fill the secretary's post.

On Tuesday, May 3, 1938, the A Cappella Choir elected the following officers: Luke Ebersole, president; Anna Carper, secretary; Mark Weaver, treasurer.

In conjunction with his numerous other duties on the Hill, Aaron Herr was elected president of the Candles, honorary organization on the campus. Robert Adams was elected secretary-treasurer. Mr. Herr is also editor of the Etownian, for the coming year.

Herman Leister, erstwhile Dupont employee, was elected Master Scientist, to lead the Sigma Zeta science group. Ralph Duncan and Henry Oberholtzer will serve in the capacity of vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

At a recent meeting of the Sophomore Class Grace Wenger was designated as editor-in-chief of the '40-'41 edition of the Etownian. The Business Manager will be Curtis Gerhart.

The Class of '39 elected Aaron Herr and Harold Saylor to head the Men's Student Council, from the Senior Class. Herbert Leffever and Merle Heckler from the Junior Class, and Lowell Reidenbough from the Sophomore Class, of next year, will be the other members of the Council.

On the Women's Student Council Lois Brehm, Marion Bardell, Lena Brightbill, Beatrice Myers, and Winonah Wilhelm will dispense justice to all.

For the fourth consecutive year Harold Saylor will head the destinies of the Class of '39. He will be helped by Sam Jones, vice-president; Esther Brandt, secretary; and Ammon Wenger, treasurer.

Nine Tramples Redskins, 6-1

After a four inning pitching duel between Rose of Juniata and Stan Disney, the Frolicking Phantoms got to Mr. Rose and slapped him for four runs and the ball game. In plain, ordinary words, the Elizabethtown College stickmen avenged a 2 to 0 setback by downing Juniata College, 6 to 1, on May 17, at Elizabethtown.

Young Disney was in rare form, limiting the hard-hitting Indian crew to a mere half-dozen sprinkled base drives and holding them scoreless after a one-run splurge in the first inning. Meanwhile the big bats of his teammates sounded noisily, driving out nine hits off pitcher Rose.

Johnny Espenshade, promoted to the fourth spot in the batting order, put two hits on exhibit, as did Sam Jones, while Hal Saylor contributed a circuit clout and "Ruby" Seagrist added a double to his collection.

The invaders broke the scoring ice by pushing across a run in the opening canto, before Disney found his stride. Lead-off man Danny Geiser and Leopold had been retired when the veteran fly-chaser, Heverly, launched the attack with a stream-lined single to left field that Tam Baugher booted. Heverly continued on to second. First-sacker Goodale then blasted a tremendous fly ball in front of the distant tennis courts for a double that chased the first run in.

This lead was good until the fourth, when Etown came to life and shoved the tying tally over the pentagon. Two were again down when "Long Jack" Espenshade pushed a one-bagger into left. Heverly spilled Red Myers's smash after a short run and the blow went for a double, Espenshade stopping at third. Enter Mr. Rose with a brilliant piece of strategy. He passed Herb Lefever intentionally, only to lose his control and also walk the next batter, Sam Jones, forcing across the tying run. Dale Smith fanned to end the uprising.

Rose went for a ride in the fifth, when Disney and Baugher hit safely and scampered home on Seagrist's timely double. Hay Saylor followed with a four-base wallop to left-center for two more runs. Red Meyer dragged home the final counter on a hit by Jones in the eighth.

Although he was defeated, the Juniata hurler, Rose, proved to be a sweet fielder, and provided quite a few thrills for the crowd with his perfect handling of seven difficult chances. Disney accepted five without a slip.

Ghosts Haunt Maryland

Five runs in the first two innings paved the way out for Curt Day to land his first victory of the 1938 season and Elizabethtown College to avenge a previous 6 to 6 tie, as the Galloping Ghosts went on to capture a 14 to 4 decision over Maryland State Teachers on the Hill field, May 11.

Day, Freshman left hander who was previously shelled from the mound by the same Maryland team on their Towson diamond, had plenty on the ball as he coasted thru behind a sixteen hit barrage, scattering seven hits and fanning five southerners.

Seagrist and Jones paced the heavy hitting attack with three hits apiece. Seedy hit a double and two singles, while all of Jones' bingles were one baggers. Three players collected two apiece, and Dixie Walker was the only member of the starting cast to draw the collar. Bennett, Maryland third sacker, provided the premium clout of the day when he walloped a home run. Herb Lefever spanked a triple, while five doubles were fashioned during the long afternoon.

The Teachers got the jump at the start, scoring the first run of the ball game when Day passed the first batter to face him in the game, and a passed ball, infield out, and an error by Red Myer cooperated to let the runner break the ice. The Phantoms lost no time in getting back into the game when they scored twice in their half. Tam Baugher opened with a single off Cox's first pitch. Seagrist drove a liner through short that got away from the Maryland centerfielder and rolled almost to the gym as both runners crossed the plate.

Dixie Walker was in centerfield instead of Elmer Gleim, and Dale Smith and Emery Stauer also broke in before the pastime was complete. Smith chipped in with a hit in his only trip to the rubber.

The game was very loosely played, with seven Maryland slips and three Etown errors going down in the records. Stottemeyer, visiting shortstop, contributed no less than four errors to the Elizabethtown cause. Maryland outfielders proved adept judges of fly balls, and several times saved pitcher Cox from more embarrassment by hard running-catches of long drives.

Bison Barrage Beats Etown

A seven run blast in the fourth inning proved fatal to Coach Ira Herr's Galloping Ghosts, as the Bucknell Bisons continued their withering attack throughout the "game" to cop an easy 11 to 0 victory.

A lad named Buzas, who plays a lot of third base, combined his batting and fielding stickwork to make the nine innings miserable for the Phantoms. Comrade Buzas hammered out a double and three singles in five appearances at the dish, while accepting eleven chances afield with nary a slip. He pocketed three put-outs and registered eight assists.

Bowman, the Bucknell pitcher, could have won throwing them in underhanded, what with his mates combing the offerings of two Elizabethtown chuckers for fourteen safeties, but he chose to bear down, and in so doing neglected to give the Ghosts a run. The Lewisburg ace scattered a paltry half-dozen base knocks, while passing three and fanning only two.

Roy Rudisill started for the locals, but after slipping through three shutout innings, the black-haired one suddenly discovered that it was not his day, and wound up somewhere in the vicinity of the Gymnasium under the visiting battering-ram. Rudy gave up seven bingles and walked one before tossing the toga around left-handed Curt Day. Day plodded through the remaining fog, also giving up seven smacks and free-ticketing three.

"Long John" Espenshade was the only Hillian to successfully solve Bowman's offerings, coming through with a brace of singles to uphold the clean-up department of the batting order. Baugher, Saylor, Jones, and Pinch-Hitter Les Manbeck split the other quartet equally. Manbeck's blow came in the ninth, when he swung for Disney.

Afield, the Ambling Apparitions were particularly offensive, with a party named Disney cast in the role of Public Enemy No. 1. Stan committed no less than four miscues, while roaming the distant pastures of center and right fields. Captain Seagrist chipped in with the amazing number of three, and all told there were nine slips. Buzas and Rusin, of Bucknell, were both outstanding, accepting eleven chances apiece faultlessly.

Susquehanna

Four runs in the eighth inning gave the Galloping Ghosts of Etown College a 10 to 8 conquest over their traditional rivals, Susquehanna University, on Wednesday, May 8, at Selingsgrove.

In a wide-open tilt in which the lead changed no less than four times, nine errors were committed and twenty-three base hits were fashioned, the Herr-men moved into a tie with the fast-traveling Moravians for first place in the Pennsylvania Conference.

Roy Rudisill scaled the peak for the Phantoms and was in good form until the seventh inning, when the Crusaders broke a 2-2 tie by scoring four times. The big right-hander granted thirteen hits in gaining a narrow decision over Hauf.

The Blue and Gray stickmen slammed out a grand total of ten hits, four of which were bagged by catcher Hal Saylor. Saylor to date the leading batsman on the squad, included all singles in his quartet. No other Phantom boasted of more than one hit. Dale Smith, who replaced Baugher in left field and carried home three runs, featured with a tripple.

For Susquehanna, Helt, was the leading hitter, getting a home run and two singles. Three of his mates connected for two apiece and every member of the Selingsgrove cast hit safely at least once.

Susquehanna opened the run parade by pushing two runs across the plate in the first inning. Elizabethtown tallied twice in the fifth to stalemate the proceedings. Both crews crashed through with four runs in the seventh, but the Ghosts clinched the decision with a shower of safeties to score four times in the eighth. Susquehanna fought back with a pair in their half, but eventually succumbed.

Afield, Ruby Seagrist featured for the Etownians, accepting eight chances, including an unassisted double play. Lefever at third was also brilliant.

Etown Blanks Susquehanna

The sturdy right arm of lanky Roy Rudisill proved too much for the Susquehanna baseball team Friday, and they went down to a 6 to 0 defeat. "Rudy" held the invaders to three scattered hits, and allowed no runner to advance farther than second base.

The game was featured by a fourth inning rally which netted five runs. Another run was added in the eighth.

The opposition seemed helpless before the superb hurling of Rudisill, and no fewer than eleven of them went down on strikes. "Rudy" also showed excellent control as he did not issue any base on balls.

Captain Reu Seagrist led the assault on the enemy pitcher by clouting two doubles and a single in the three official trips to the plate.

The victory moved Elizabethtown into a tie with Moravian for the conference title.

But Dr. Page is not without a solution for the ills which he analyzed. The plan which he offers is a new property system, the chief feature of which is collective ownership of the giant industries and producers' property in order that there may be an increase in private consumers' property. By socialization of banks, railroads, utilities, and similar institutions, each individual will be able to buy more food, clothes, and other necessities of life.

The steps necessary to bringing about Dr. Page's plans are these: 1. Change the public mind to want a new property system; 2. Elect an administration that wants a new system; 3. Pass appropriate legislation authorizing the buying out by the Government of giant industries from private owners for socialization; 4. Make appropriate payment, by the transfer of securities.

Dr. Page's presence here was made possible through joint sponsorship by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A.

Bucknell

The Galloping Ghosts of Elizabethtown College apparently were not "livin' good" on Saturday, May 7, as they were shut out, 3 to 0, by a lad named Livengood who hurls for Bucknell.

Livengood limited the futile Phantoms to six scattered singles and fanned five in outpitching Rob Roy Rudisill, who permitted eight safeties and also fanned five.

Red Myer and Rudisill led the Elizabethtown bat wavers with two hits apiece, while Johnny Espenshade and Herb Lefever split the other two.

For the Bisons, George Kiick, erstwhile Ephrata High School luminary, who caught Livengood's offerings, clouted a triple and a single and scored once. Lane, Lewisburg left gardener, clouted a home run and a single.

The Bisons scored one run in the third, added another in the fourth, and sent across their final marker in the seventh round, while nine Elizabethtown runners were being isolated on the highways.

The gast was fast, requiring only an hour and forty minutes to play. Four errors marred the pastiming, three by Bucknell infielders and one by Elizabethtown.
